Probe Is Proposed Of Boxing

One Senator Asks To Abolish Sport

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Legislature was poised today to launch a two-pronged investigation of professional boxing in the wake of Benny (Kid) Paret's near - fatal injury in a welterweight championship bout.

A resolution to create a joint legislative committee to investigate boxing in New York State was endorsed today by the powerful Republican leaders of the Legislature, Senator Walter J. Mahoney and Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino.

The resolution was submitted as Paret lay critically injured in a New York City hospital after a 12th round knockout Saturday by challenger Emile Griffith.

Aim of Committee

The committee would determine whether adequate measures were being taken:

1. To protect the safety of boxers.

2. To prevent domination of boxing by "racketeers, gamblers, convicted felons, and other unsavory elements."

The Legislature would appropriate $25,000 for the inquiry. The resolution appeared assured of passage.

Slightly Improved

Paret's condition was reported "very slightly," improved at Roosevelt Hospital. He has been unconscious since the fight.

The leaders, in a joint statement, said:

"The Paret case ...is but the latest in a series of tragedies in which too many young men have been killed or severely injured while participated in a match sanctioned and controlled by an official agency of New York State.

"These incidents invariably lead to demands that boxing be outlawed."

Would Abolish Sport

Sen. Thomas J. Mackell, D-Queens, introduced a bill last night to abolish the sport and termed boxing an "unwholesome, revolting and harmful profession."

Earlier, the Assembly approved and sent to the Senate a plan for a welfare fund, raised by an assessment on all fighting and wrestling exhibitions in the state, for needy boxers and wrestlers.

Mahoney and Carlino said:

"Revelations of racket-domination for years have cast a cloud over the entire sport (of boxing), if that is what it may be called.

"We believe that it is incumbent on the Legislature to make a thorough-going investigation of all aspects of boxing....

"If it should be outlawed, then we must not hesitate to take the necessary steps....if it is to be continued but legislation is required to to protect the participants, then we must move swiftly to enact any necessary laws."

The committee would present its legislative recommendations to the leaders by Dec. 15, and would report to the Legislature by March 31, 1963.

Will List, Group Problems

CC to Start Program On Area Development

Plans of action worked out after several meetings by the Community Development Committee of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce were announced today.

The function of this committee, as announced, is to delve into the many problems confronting the orderly development of the entire Kingston area. It plans to list and group problems into various categories, such as natural resources, industrial development, commercial development, comprehensive planning, housing, urban renewal and modernizing local governments.

The committee hopes to mobilize a broad cross section of community leadership in each of the categories and through frank objective discussions with these community leaders develop the best possible solutions to major problems involved.

Taking Broad Approach

In making this announcement today, Chamber President Sam Pepper stated, "It is important to note that this committee is taking a broad approach to the problems involved, extending over boundaries of political subdivisions, and keeping any and all possible solutions in mind whether or not changes in legislation would be required. As the possible solutions are reached," Pepper continued, "the committee will present them to the board of directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and the board will decide on how far to press for actual achievement of the various solutions and refer each specific portion to a standing or special committee for execution."

The first category of problems to be undertaken will be the commercial development in the uptown business area. Wednesday evening, April 4, a group of key civic and business leaders have been invited to a round table discussion on the many problems confronting this area.

Some Problems Listed

Some of the problems that will be discussed at the meeting April 4:

1. Effect of shopping centers, local and distant on the uptown shopping area.
2. Parking and traffic.
3. Urban renewal and its possible effect.
4. Private enterprise re-development.
5. Effect of strip and spot commercial development.
6. Zoning and land use.
7. How can commercial development be promoted and controlled?
8. How can businessmen improve service and public relations?

The next category to be discussed will be the industrial development of the Kingston area. It is hoped by the Community Development Committee that these discussions will result in a course of coordinated community action that will pave the way for a rapid and orderly development of the entire Kingston area. Area representatives working on each category will be invited to participate.

Members of Committee

Pepper also announced that the Community Development Committee, appointed by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce about two months ago, consists of Christus J. Larios, chairman, William J. C. Buddenhagen, Howard A. Lewis, Thomas J. Liguore and Harold W. O'Connor. He pointed out that the board of directors is very optimistic about the beneficial results of this broad but intensive approach to the many problems facing the growing and changing Kingston Area.

Newburgh Plans 4 Parking Lots; Cost $610,000

An estimate of $610,000 for the acquisition and redevelopment of four new parking lots in the City of Newburgh has been approved by the Newburgh City Council.

Location of the four proposed parking lots and their estimated acquisition and development costs are as follows:

Some Tenants Object

A lot between Van Ness and First Streets, acquision $8,500, development $63,500; a lot on the northerly side of Van Ness Street west of Prospect Street, $58,000 for acquisition, $74,000 for development; a lot between Chambers and Landers Streets, $150,000 for acquisition, $74,000 for development; a lot between Chambers and Landers Streets, $150,000 for acquision, $82,000 for development; a lot on the southerly side of Ann Street between William and Mill Streets, acquisition $97,000 and development $78,000.

At a recent public hearing, Corporation Counsel Lawrence Herbst said there has been resistance by some property owners in the Chambers-Landers proposed lot area.

Contracts in July

City Manager Joseph McD. Mitchell said he hoped to have construction contracts let on the parking lots by July.

City Engineer William G. McEvilly estimates $313,000 as the total cost of acquisition and $297,500 as the estimated cost of development of the four lots.

The city corporation counsel said eviction notices had been served seven tenants requiring them to move by April 1. He noted that he expects to go into condemnation proceedings with one piece of property in the Chambers-Landers block.

Herbst stated that there are tenants in all buildings in the proposed parking lot areas.

Three Are Named for Industry

To Catalogue City In Expansion Move

Mayor John J. Schwenk today announced appointment of a three-man Industrial Development Committee.

Harry C. Kapreilian, of 261 Flatbush Avenue, president of the Charles Ramsey Corp., was named chairman and the other members are William K. Darling, of 97 Fair Street, president of the H. F. King Corp and Hugh R. Elwyn, of 335 Pearl Street, attorney and special city judge.

To List Facilities

The committee, the mayor said, is to be responsible for "cataloguing Kingston's land resources and available existing facilities for industrial relocation, for developing a program through which the city's attributes can be brought to the attention of companies planning relocation and expansion, and for following up all leads with firms known to be seeking plant sites or facilities."

All are members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and are active in community affairs. Kapreilian has served on the Lions Club Exposition Committee and as president of the Twaalfskill Club. Attorney Elwyn is president of the Ulster County Bar Association and heads the local library board. Darling has served as assistant cashier and assistant vice-president of The National Ulster County Bank of Kingston and as auditor of The State of New York National Bank.

College Effort Wins Lions' Top Award for Kalish

Presentation of "The Achievement Award" to Richard M. Kalish highlighted the regular weekly meeting Tuesday of Kingston Lions Club. The award plaque was presented by President Stephen McGrath who stated that it was in recognition of the extensive effort which Kalish had expended over several years in promoting the cause of The Ulster County Community College.

McGrath noted that the award represented the highest service award in Lionism and that Kalish deserved it for his indefatigable efforts in helping to secure the establishment of the college.

Leads Hospital Drive

Veteran Lions Club members noted that the standing ovation, which lasted several minutes, was one of the most spontaneous and enthusiastic given by the membership to one of its own members. The observation was also made that Kalish, who has long been identified with efforts of a community betterment nature, is currently leading the building fund drive of The Kingston Hospital.

NEW YORK (AP)—The strike-bound Fifth Avenue Coach Lines Inc. has abandoned plans to run some of its buses with non-union drivers.

A company spokesman said one reason for the decision was a threat of union violence.

The announcement was made Tuesday after 2,000 pickets of the Transport Workers Union and 500 policemen had been at or near the company's main garage on West 132nd Street for hours.

Terrorism Still Goes On

France Masses 60,000 For Algiers Outbreak

ALGIERS (AP) — The French massed 60,000 troops in Algiers today to bring the city's 300,000 defiant European settlers under control.

Reinforcements rolled in from the countryside to guard against any new outbreak by the Secret Army Organization fighting to sabotage the cease-fire agreement between France and the Algerian nationalist rebels. Armored cars and halftracks patrolled the streets of the Algerian capital.

Cause Is Hard Hit

The Secret Army Organization is known as the OAS.

The settlers' cause appeared hard hit by the heavy army fire into a crowd of European demonstrators Monday in which 45 Europeans were killed and 120 wounded in the heart of the city.

"We are so stunned we cannot think of any reaction," said one secret army agent.

Secret army terrorism continued unabated, nevertheless. By midnight Tuesday the day's toll fo. all Algeria stood at 17 dead and 88 wounded, all Moslems except two of the dead.

Another Officer Seized

In Oran, French troops killed a young European on a motor scooter who they said had just slain a Moslem. Authorities in Oran also announced the arrest of former Lt. Cmdr. Pierre Guillaume, a sector chief of the secret army and the only navy man convicted of participation in the general's revolt in Algiers last April. He was flown to Paris to join his former secret army chief, ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, who was seized Sunday night in Oran.

The French army command said an investigation of Monday's shooting showed that before the troops opened fire on the crowd of demonstrators, troops at four points in the heart of the city were fired on by snipers.

As reinforcements rolled into Algiers from the countryside, the French authorities disclosed the list of three Europeans and nine Moslems, headed by Abderrahmane Fares, a Moslem Socialist, who will administer Algeria until the self-determination vote in three to six months.

One of the chief tasks for the provisional government will be to prepare and supervise the referendum, backed by a largely Moslem "local force" of some 60,000 men.

U.S. Approves Oral Vaccine to Fight Off Polio

WASHINGTON (AP) — Children, and adults, too—will soon be able to get protection against all forms of polio by the spoon as well as by the needle.

The way was cleared Tuesday when the government approved production of Type III oral polio vaccine for general use—the last of the series of vaccines given by mouth needed for protection against all three kinds of polio.

Two Effective Weapons

"We now have two effective vaccine weapons to fight this disease: the killed vaccine developed by Dr. Albert Salk and the live oral vaccine prepared from strains developed by Dr. Albert Sabin," said U.S. Surgeon General Luther L. Terry.

He called it "another step forward toward final conquest of paralytic polio."

Types I and II of the oral vaccine were licensed last year by the Public Health Service but were not recommended for general use because without Type III they did not offer what health officials call complete protection. Persons using the oral vaccine would have to take all three types.

Two Licensed

Licenses for manufacture of Type III were issued Tuesday to two manufacturers—Pfizer, Ltd., of Sandwich, England, and Lederle Laboratories of Pearl River, N.Y.

The Salk vaccine—injected by needle—protects against all three strains.

Hague, Jakarta Talks Break Down

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Dutch warships and troops rushed toward West New Guinea today to counter stepped-up Indonesian infiltration of the disputed territory.

The Dutch government dispatched four warships and airborne troops after receiving word of increased military activity in the area following a breakdown in U.S.-sponsored negotiations between the Hague and Jakarta.

1,200 Troops Start Out

The Dutch began airlifting an estimated 1,200 troops to New Guinea in DC8 airliners chartered from KLM, the Dutch airline. A planeload of 138 marines left Amsterdam today, and airport circles said one of KLM's two daily flights to New York had been cancelled for the next nine days to accommodate the airlift.

A DC8 transport left the Caribbean island of Curacao Tuesday night with a 70-man unit. Sources said at least six other planes ferrying troops from Amsterdam to New Guinea were to make stopovers at Curacao in the next few days.

Travel as Tourists

The planes, carrying the troops as tourists in civilian dress, are flying to New Guinea via Lima, Peru, and the French Pacific island of Tahiti. Japan protested when Dutch troops in civilian dress were flown to New Guinea earlier via Tokyo.

Also ordered to New Guinea were the destroyers Limburg and Gronigen and the submarines Zeeleeuw and Dolfijn, which visited the Caribbean last month and then moved to the Pacific Coast to be on the ready.

Premier Jan de Quay told the lower house of Parliament the reinforcements were being sent because of Indonesia's "uninterrupted and continued threats and aggressive acts" and to protect the lives and property of inhabitants of the territory, the only part of the Netherlands East Indies which the Dutch retained when they gave Indonesia independence in 1949.

Two Sides Deny Steel Accord Is Ruled Imminent

PITTSBURGH (AP) —Top-level steel negotiators say they are continuing "exploratory discussions" on a new contract for 430,000 basic steelworkers.

In the meantime, both sides denied published reports that a settlement was imminent.

Following the 10th day of meetings since the talks resumed March 14, David J. McDonald, United Steelworkers president, said reports of a near agreement "are false."

McDonald said telegrams to this effect were sent to USW locals.

R. Conrad Cooper, vice president of U.S. Steel Corp. and the chief negotiator for the 11 steel companies, also issued a denial.

However, reliable sources in Washington told The Associated Press that the negotiators were "only a fraction of a cent apart" and that a settlement was possible in a few days.

The current steel agreement expires June 30.

Licensing Chiropractors Urged; Adding 658 Police

By MICHAEL KEATING

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Senate Republicans were in a quandary today over chiropractors.

A decision on a bill to license chiropractors was one of several that faced legislators as they headed toward adjournment Thursday or Friday.

Several hundred chiropractors filled Capitol corridors Tuesday to lobby for their measure. They were encouraged by action of a Senate committee, which unexpectedly reported a chiropractor-licensing bill out for a vote.

The senators, however, were reluctant to approve the bill unless they had some assurance it also would be passed by the Assembly. The word from the Assembly was that the measure ...d little if any chance of success there.

It is opposed by the state health commissioner. He contends that use of x-rays by chiropractors, which would be possible under the bill, would menance the health of New Yorkers.

Chiropractors want the licensing —and the regulation that would go with it—because it would give official recognition to their work and establish educational standards for their profession.

Meanwhile, there was this other action on bills:

Argentine Troops Stop Short of Coup In Plan to Overthrow Defiant Leader

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Combat-ready troops carried out the first stages of a plan to overthrow defiant President Arturo Frondizi today, but stopped just short of an outright coup.

Military units occupied Government House in Santa Rosa, capital of La Pampa Province.

Other units in battle dress rushed to guard positions at communications and other nerve centers in Buenos Aires and key provincial cities.

Troops at Government House, who Tuesday changed from their red, blue and gold uniforms for battle fatigues, stationed themselves just outside Frondizi's office for the first time in the 11-day crisis. These guards carried submachine guns.

Grim and gaunt from the 11 days of crisis, Frondizi drove to his office from his suburban home. He smiled wanly as reporters asked him for comment but remained silent.

The military occupation of radio stations, central telephone offices and public works plants obviously was a move to thwart any disturbance and to be in a position for a military takeover of the nation if it is ordered by the army, navy and air chiefs.

Military sources said the combined armed forces at a predawn session decided to put into action plans for the forceful ouster of the embattled president after he again rejected their demands that he quit.

But at midmorning there was a sudden halt in the plans, apparently to give Frondizi one more chance to resign.

As the situation grew more tense, Interior Minister Hugo Vaca Narvaja told newsmen "calm prevails throughout the nation, at least externally."

The minister said that if any measures had been adopted in the armed forces "they have not found expression outside the barracks."

The military occupation of such places as telephone exchanges, he said, was a "precaution to avoid the possibility of attacks against communication centers."

Reports from garrison cities in the interior said all was quiet at those places.

Shortly after midnight, Frondizi again refused the demand of the military chiefs that he resign, and said his decision was "final and irreversible."

Defense Minister Rodolfo Mar-

The French army command said an investigation of Monday's shooting showed that before the troops opened fire on the crowd of demonstrators, troops at four points in the heart of the city were fired on by snipers.

As reinforcements rolled into Algiers from the countryside, the French authorities disclosed the list of three Europeans and nine Moslems, headed by Abderrahmane Fares, a Moslem Socialist, who will administer Algeria until the self-determination vote in three to six months.

One of the chief tasks for the provisional government will be to prepare and supervise the referendum, backed by a largely Moslem "local force" of some 60,000 men.

U.S. Approves Oral Vaccine to Fight Off Polio

WASHINGTON (AP) — Children, and adults, too—will soon be able to get protection against all forms of polio by the spoon as well as by the needle.

The way was cleared Tuesday when the government approved production of Type III oral polio vaccine for general use—the last of the series of vaccines given by mouth needed for protection against all three kinds of polio.

Two Effective Weapons

"We now have two effective vaccine weapons to fight this disease: the killed vaccine developed by Dr. Albert Salk and the live oral vaccine prepared from strains developed by Dr. Albert Sabin," said U.S. Surgeon General Luther L. Terry.

He called it "another step forward toward final conquest of paralytic polio."

Types I and II of the oral vaccine were licensed last year by the Public Health Service but were not recommended for general use because without Type III they did not offer what health officials call complete protection. Persons using the oral vaccine would have to take all three types.

Two Licensed

Licenses for manufacture of Type III were issued Tuesday to two manufacturers—Pfizer, Ltd., of Sandwich, England, and Lederle Laboratories of Pearl River, N.Y.

The Salk vaccine—injected by needle—protects against all three strains.

Hague, Jakarta Talks Break Down

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Dutch warships and troops rushed toward West New Guinea today to counter stepped-up Indonesian infiltration of the disputed territory.

The Dutch government dispatched four warships and airborne troops after receiving word of increased military activity in the area following a breakdown in U.S.-sponsored negotiations between the Hague and Jakarta.

1,200 Troops Start Out

The Dutch began airlifting an estimated 1,200 troops to New Guinea in DC8 airliners chartered from KLM, the Dutch airline. A planeload of 138 marines left Amsterdam today, and airport circles said one of KLM's two daily flights to New York had been cancelled for the next nine days to accommodate the airlift.

A DC8 transport left the Caribbean island of Curacao Tuesday night with a 70-man unit. Sources said at least six other planes ferrying troops from Amsterdam to New Guinea were to make stopovers at Curacao in the next few days.

Travel as Tourists

The planes, carrying the troops as tourists in civilian dress, are flying to New Guinea via Lima, Peru, and the French Pacific island of Tahiti. Japan protested when Dutch troops in civilian dress were flown to New Guinea earlier via Tokyo.

Also ordered to New Guinea were the destroyers Limburg and Gronigen and the submarines Zeeleeuw and Dolfijn, which visited the Caribbean last month and then moved to the Pacific Coast to be on the ready.

Premier Jan de Quay told the lower house of Parliament the reinforcements were being sent because of Indonesia's "uninterrupted and continued threats and aggressive acts" and to protect the lives and property of inhabitants of the territory, the only part of the Netherlands East Indies which the Dutch retained when they gave Indonesia independence in 1949.

Two Sides Deny Steel Accord Is Ruled Imminent

PITTSBURGH (AP) —Top-level steel negotiators say they are continuing "exploratory discussions" on a new contract for 430,000 basic steelworkers.

In the meantime, both sides denied published reports that a settlement was imminent.

Following the 10th day of meetings since the talks resumed March 14, David J. McDonald, United Steelworkers president, said reports of a near agreement "are false."

McDonald said telegrams to this effect were sent to USW locals.

R. Conrad Cooper, vice president of U.S. Steel Corp. and the chief negotiator for the 11 steel companies, also issued a denial.

However, reliable sources in Washington told The Associated Press that the negotiators were "only a fraction of a cent apart" and that a settlement was possible in a few days.

The current steel agreement expires June 30.

Licensing Chiropractors Urged; Adding 658 Police

By MICHAEL KEATING

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Senate Republicans were in a quandary today over chiropractors.

A decision on a bill to license chiropractors was one of several that faced legislators as they headed toward adjournment Thursday or Friday.

Several hundred chiropractors filled Capitol corridors Tuesday to lobby for their measure. They were encouraged by action of a Senate committee, which unexpectedly reported a chiropractor-licensing bill out for a vote.

The senators, however, were reluctant to approve the bill unless they had some assurance it also would be passed by the Assembly. The word from the Assembly was that the measure ...d little if any chance of success there.

It is opposed by the state health commissioner. He contends that use of x-rays by chiropractors, which would be possible under the bill, would menace the health of New Yorkers.

Chiropractors want the licensing —and the regulation that would go with it—because it would give official recognition to their work and establish educational standards for their profession.

Meanwhile, there was this other action on bills:

Argentine Troops Stop Short of Coup In Plan to Overthrow Defiant Leader

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Combat-ready troops carried out the first stages of a plan to overthrow defiant President Arturo Frondizi today, but stopped just short of an outright coup.

Military units occupied Government House in Santa Rosa, capital of La Pampa Province.

Other units in battle dress rushed to guard positions at communications and other nerve centers in Buenos Aires and key provincial cities.

Troops at Government House, who Tuesday changed from their red, blue and gold uniforms for battle fatigues, stationed themselves just outside Frondizi's office for the first time in the 11-day crisis. These guards carried submachine guns.

Grim and gaunt from the 11 days of crisis, Frondizi drove to his office from his suburban home. He smiled wanly as reporters asked him for comment but remained silent.

The military occupation of radio stations, central telephone offices and public works plants obviously was a move to thwart any disturbance and to be in a position for a military takeover of the nation if it is ordered by the army, navy and air chiefs.

Military sources said the combined armed forces at a predawn session decided to put into action plans for the forceful ouster of the embattled president after he again rejected their demands that he quit.

But at midmorning there was a sudden halt in the plans, apparently to give Frondizi one more chance to resign.

As the situation grew more tense, Interior Minister Hugo Vaca Narvaja told newsmen "calm prevails throughout the nation, at least externally."

The minister said that if any measures had been adopted in the armed forces "they have not found expression outside the barracks."

The military occupation of such places as telephone exchanges, he said, was a "precaution to avoid the possibility of attacks against communication centers."

Reports from garrison cities in the interior said all was quiet at those places.

Shortly after midnight, Frondizi again refused the demand of the military chiefs that he resign, and said his decision was "final and irreversible."

Defense Minister Rodolfo Mar-

To Be Hundreds of Miles Aloft

Antimissile Testing Seems Logical Thing

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nuclear blasts from devices hurled several hundred miles aloft, to test out theories about antimissile techniques, probably will be included in the U.S. series of tests over the Pacific scheduled to start late next month.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, without giving details about altitudes or other factors, says such tests would help in the search for a defense against an enemy ballistic missile attack.

President Kennedy announced March 2 the United States would resume nuclear testing in the atmosphere unless the Soviet Union agreed before then to a foolproof test ban agreement.

McNamara's Reply

During a hearing by a House Appropriations subcommittee, the transcript of which was made public Tuesday night, McNamara was asked if atomic explosions were needed to test the Zeus antimissile system.

He replied: "The explosion of nuclear weapons in the atmosphere under properly controlled and planned conditions will add to our knowledge of nuclear effects, the effect of one nuclear explosion on another nuclear weapon; the effect of nuclear explosions on radars and other electronic devices, all of which can be of value conceivably in the development of anti-ICBM systems."

This was as far as McNamara's published remarks went in discussing what would be sought in the Pacific test series as related to antimissiles development.

Reference to 3 Facets

However, McNamara appeared to be referring to three facets in the anti-ICBM study:

1. The radar effect—A nuclear explosion, particularly one of high force, can produce an ionized cloud. This cloud can cut off the penetration of radar waves essential in tracking missiles and directing anti-missiles.

2. Electro-magnetic effect — Some of this effect on guidance and other instruments might operate in the air, although the primary effect probably would be on the ground. An enemy missile exploding on the ground or up to several thousand feet above it could cripple cable and control systems temporarily, even though the blast and heat of the explosion left them physically undamaged.

3. The effect of one nuclear explosion on another—This seems to point to several possibilities. One is the idea that a neutron flux, produced by nuclear explosion, would neutralize and render impotent the warhead of an enemy missile.

More Testing Needed

McNamara repeated in his testimony what he has said before —that there are serious questions as to the practicality of Zeus, and for that reason the Defense Department refuses to permit the Army to go into production of some component of the Zeus until the system can be tested thoroughly. About $1 billion has been invested in the project.

McNamara said that the Zeus test, in which the antimissile will be fired up from Kwajelein Island against Atlas missiles to be launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., would be a "very important milestone" in development of the system.

Otsego Auto Mishap Fatal to Two Girls

EDMESTON, N.Y. (AP) — Two girls on their way to a school play rehearsal were killed Tuesday night when an automobile skidded and overturned on a dirt road near this Otsego County community.

The dead were Judith Ann Loomis, 17, of Edmeston, daughter of Otsego County Judge Frederick W. Loomis, and Joan Carolyn Barrell, 17, of West Edmeston.

Three boys in the car were injured slightly, troopers said.

Polished, Not Stolen

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Herbert S. Brewer reported to police that his automobile had been stolen.

The car was returned several hours later—washed and polished. A service-station operator said he had taken Brewer's car by mistake, instead of one owned by a customer who wanted his vehicle cleaned.

BENEATH THE LEDGE—Doctors look upward at the sixth-floor ledge from which Mrs. Florence Reed Dillon fell. Custodian Grabs Child in Fall From 2nd Floor

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—Michael Cahill, school custodian, sprinted across a street and caught 2-year-old Fred Speciali as the child fell from a second-floor window.

The white-haired Cahill didn't bother to mention the incident. But about 100 excited pupils in the school yard saw the rescue and told teachers at Roosevelt Elementary School.

Fred, who apparently had climbed out the window and was hanging by his fingertips when his scream attracted Cahill, also took the adventure in stride.

An hour later, the child played happily on the sidewalk.

Don't Send Cash To Pay Tax Is Director Caution

Don't send cash through the mail to pay your 1961 Federal income tax. It may be lost or misdelivered in route and you may have to pay again, James A. O'Hara, local district director of Internal Revenue, cautioned taxpayers today.

Use a check or a money order, the district director advised. He said this type of payment affords protection in that taxpayers may order stoppayment in event of loss or misdelivery.

To make doubly sure that your check or money order is delivered properly, make it payable to "Internal Revenue Service." Mail it, together with the return, to your local district director of internal revenue, O'Hara said.

"Please do not mail your Federal income tax return to the New York State Department of Taxation," he added. "This will only delay the processing of your return. It could result in additional interest and penalties for late filing."

McNamara's Reply

During a hearing by a House Appropriations subcommittee, the transcript of which was made public Tuesday night, McNamara was asked if atomic explosions were needed to test the Zeus antimissile system.

He replied: "The explosion of nuclear weapons in the atmosphere under properly controlled and planned conditions will add to our knowledge of nuclear effects, the effect of one nuclear explosion on another nuclear weapon; the effect of nuclear explosions on radars and other electronic devices, all of which can be of value conceivably in the development of anti-ICBM systems."

This was as far as McNamara's published remarks went in discussing what would be sought in the Pacific test series as related to antimissiles development.

Reference to 3 Facets

However, McNamara appeared to be referring to three facets in the anti-ICBM study:

1. The radar effect—A nuclear explosion, particularly one of high force, can produce an ionized cloud. This cloud can cut off the penetration of radar waves essential in tracking missiles and directing anti-missiles.

2. Electro-magnetic effect — Some of this effect on guidance and other instruments might operate in the air, although the primary effect probably would be on the ground. An enemy missile exploding on the ground or up to several thousand feet above it could cripple cable and control systems temporarily, even though the blast and heat of the explosion left them physically undamaged.

3. The effect of one nuclear explosion on another—This seems to point to several possibilities. One is the idea that a neutron flux, produced by nuclear explosion, would neutralize and render impotent the warhead of an enemy missile.

More Testing Needed

McNamara repeated in his testimony what he has said before —that there are serious questions as to the practicality of Zeus, and for that reason the Defense Department refuses to permit the Army to go into production of some component of the Zeus until the system can be tested thoroughly. About $1 billion has been invested in the project.

McNamara said that the Zeus test, in which the antimissile will be fired up from Kwajelein Island against Atlas missiles to be launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., would be a "very important milestone" in development of the system.

Otsego Auto Mishap Fatal to Two Girls

EDMESTON, N.Y. (AP) — Two girls on their way to a school play rehearsal were killed Tuesday night when an automobile skidded and overturned on a dirt road near this Otsego County community.

The dead were Judith Ann Loomis, 17, of Edmeston, daughter of Otsego County Judge Frederick W. Loomis, and Joan Carolyn Barrell, 17, of West Edmeston.

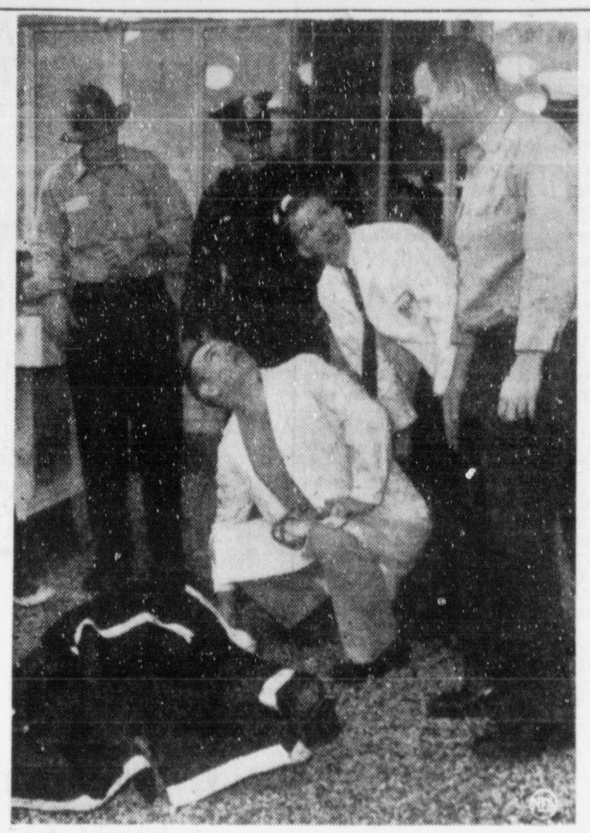

Three boys in the car were injured slightly, troopers said.

Polished, Not Stolen

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Herbert S. Brewer reported to police that his automobile had been stolen.

The car was returned several hours later—washed and polished. A service-station operator said he had taken Brewer's car by mistake, instead of one owned by a customer who wanted his vehicle cleaned.

Don't Send Cash To Pay Tax Is Director Caution

Don't send cash through the mail to pay your 1961 Federal income tax. It may be lost or misdelivered in route and you may have to pay again, James A. O'Hara, local district director of Internal Revenue, cautioned taxpayers today.

Use a check or a money order, the district director advised. He said this type of payment affords protection in that taxpayers may order stoppayment in event of loss or misdelivery.

To make doubly sure that your check or money order is delivered properly, make it payable to "Internal Revenue Service." Mail it, together with the return, to your local district director of internal revenue, O'Hara said.

"Please do not mail your Federal income tax return to the New York State Department of Taxation," he added. "This will only delay the processing of your return. It could result in additional interest and penalties for late filing."

Custodian Grabs Child in Fall From 2nd Floor

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—Michael Cahill, school custodian, sprinted across a street and caught 2-year-old Fred Speciali as the child fell from a second-floor window.

The white-haired Cahill didn't bother to mention the incident. But about 100 excited pupils in the school yard saw the rescue and told teachers at Roosevelt Elementary School.

Fred, who apparently had climbed out the window and was hanging by his fingertips when his scream attracted Cahill, also took the adventure in stride.

An hour later, the child played happily on the sidewalk.

HOUSING PHENOMENON

A curious phenomenon is observable in the housing construction industry. Although the population of the United States is steadily rising, the building of single-family houses is going down. It has been going down, both proportionately and in actual numbers, for several years.

The peak of single-family housing starts was reached, in fact, as long ago as 1950. In that year, a million and a half such dwelling units were started. Last year the comparable figure was 940,000, and it may sink even lower in 1962.

There are several reasons for this trend, the most apparent of them being that the boom in housing construction since the end of World War II has supplied a big share of the demand. Another reason is that land prices, rising much faster than most other prices, have kept a lot of prospective house buyers from taking the plunge. Whereas the cost of the site for the average house amounted to but 12 per cent of the total price of buying a house in 1950, by 1961 the percentage had risen to 17.1.

This does not mean that families are camping out instead of buying houses. It does mean that proportionately more of them are living in multiple dwellings. Apartment construction has risen swiftly as single-family house construction has declined. All of which illustrates, once again, how economic factors tend to bring about significant changes in our patterns of living.

RUBBISH AND FIRE

The large amount of rubbish being placed out for collection here indicates that local housewives are in earnest about Spring Clean-Up plans. This is a very smart thing to do for it is the clean home that seldom burns.

Every twelve minutes a home in this nation is destroyed by a fire starting in rubbish, according to National Fire Protection Association records.

With the onset of cold weather, several areas became a catch-all for every kind of clutter. The attic or storage closet, the basement and the garage corner were handy places to push things out of sight. These accumulations are the breeding places for fire.

Put rubbish on the run everywhere in your home. Clear out the stacks of newspapers and magazines, discarded clothing, rags, paint cans—every bit of combustible material. About 550,000 U. S. homes are hit by fire each year and over 6,000 persons—30 per cent of them children—die in fires started in rubbish.

Now is the time to start the annual clean-up in and around your home and keep it up throughout the year. It is one of the smartest things you can do to keep your home and family safe from fire.

Farmers in Czechoslovakia are promised social security if they meet production quotas. Over here production quotas aren't met, they're overwhelmed.

A FEELING IN THE AIR

This is the time of year, especially in northern climes, when the human spirit reaches a low ebb. We have endured the vicissitudes of winter—shortened days, storms, hazardous driving, curtailed outdoor activities. Now we are ready for a change. We long to get out in our yards again—to the garden and the patio—and eventually to the woods and beaches.

Well, the vernal equinox has duly arrived, but where is spring? Storms in the north, unseasonable cold all over the nation, gales and tidal waves in the East—all are evidence that spring does not come by the calendar.

Still, isn't the sun a little warmer (when it does shine)? Isn't the air a trifle balmier (when the north wind isn't blowing)? Isn't there a certain feeling, under all the lingering signs of winter, that spring is almost here?

We say yes. We may be wrong—but time is on our side.

SHAREHOLDERS AND TAXES

President Kennedy desires the United States to accelerate its rate of growth. Under the capitalist system, which is our way of life even with the current modifications, it is not possible for our industry to grow or to replace obsolescent machinery or equipment except by private means. The alternative is a Socialist state.

For many years, Benjamin Javits, the elder brother of the New York State Senator, has been seeking for a method of meeting the problem of the receding confidence of investors in the growth of American industry. I have for many years watched Benjamin Javits' growth from one who believed originally in what I regarded as a fascistic approach to the problem of industrial reorganization to one who now takes a strictly capitalistic attitude. He has organized the "United Shareowners of America, Inc.," which is designed to recognize the capitalist, that is, the person who has invested his surplus possessions in the growth and development of the American economic structure.

The principal goals of the United Shareowners of America are stated to be:

"1. Eliminating double taxation on corporate dividends.

2. Taxing corporate earnings at the same rate as individual income.

3. Revamping the presently unclear and contradictory anti-trust laws.

4. Eliminating the unnecessary governmental controls."

That the tax system in the United States defeats the possibility for growth and for active competition in world markets is obvious from the continuing flight of capital, which in reality means the transfer of jobs from the American worker to workers in foreign lands. Should this trend continue, it could create a crisis from unemployment which is already the principal social problem of our time. The most hateful day of the year for most Americans is April 15, a day of an outrageous impoverishment. It is not only the corporation that suffers, but every person, from the smallest wage earner to the collector of the largest dividends, wonders what he is working for.

Also a moral degradation sets in as the hard-working and honest person discovers that benefits go to the marginal operator, the discoverer of gimmicks, the fellow who manages to get his money over to Switzerland or some such country. For a while, other countries, particularly Panama, competed with Switzerland for this dishonorable tax-haven business, but no place is quite as safe as Switzerland.

It is not envy that is aroused; rather it is wonder that the tax structure is not revised to protect Americans and the method of collecting taxes is not humanized. At present it is so brutal that the decent, honest citizen lives in terror of the tax-collector who has become the most disliked of public officials, although he is quite innocent, for he only obeys a very wicked, unscientific law which benefits the crook and penalizes the loyal and obedient citizen.

Benjamin Javits and his group are then performing a useful service by beating the drums for a restudy and a revision of our tax system. Similarly, the so-called anti-trust laws no longer fit our problems. They are antiquated even with such revisions as were made in the Clayton Act and some decisions of the Supreme Court. The purpose of the anti-trust laws is to protect the American economic system from the perils of monopoly and cartelization. But alien monopoly industries compete with American industries and European cartels operate in this country unhampered.

In fact, the NRA was an attempt during the Roosevelt Administration to organize the entire American industry into a group of cartels and then to associate these cartels with labor unions not unlike the Italian syndicates arranged by Mussolini. Such a program was first proposed to Herbert Hoover who turned it down as unconstitutional. The NRA is now forgotten and many companies who abided by President Roosevelt's economic assumptions found themselves in anti-trust suits.

At any rate, this subject requires restudy and an adaptation of it to modern needs and conditions. It is important for the small businessman to continue to exist, for out of his efforts grows big business. It is important to protect industries once started which require sustenance and strength until they are acquired by group-industries.

This brings up the intervening danger of the inheritance tax which is making the family business non-feasible. In a word, there is much to do if the capitalist system is not to be permitted to fail.

Arthritis Used to Cover Multitude of Other Ills

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The word "arthritis" is just about the most misused and abused term in the medical dictionary. It means inflammation of a joint. But it's used with reference to anything and everything that happens to a joint or to any nearby structure.

Let's first consider the true forms of arthritis to which the word is correctly applied. There's infectious arthritis as for example when the inflammation is caused by tubercle bacilli. Then there are the allergic forms of arthritis such as rheumatic fever that follows a streptococcal infection in a child who is hypersensitive to the poison secreted by the bug.

And there's rheumatoid arthritis that bears many resemblances to rheumatic fever except that it's more apt to occur in adolescents and adults.

And finally for present purposes there's gout that is of chemical origin and, in the last analysis, due to deposits of urate crystals in a joint.

All are forms of arthritis, to be sure, but how different in their causation and, of course, in their treatment.

Now let's take the many conditions to which the term arthritis is incorrectly applied. Well, first off, there is what's called muscular rheumatism or fibromyositis. In England, this is the commonest cause for disability. It's an inflammation to be sure. But it does not involve the joint. It's the structure around the joint that is inflamed.

Then there's another commonly observed condition in which the joints became all gnarled like the limbs of an apple tree. It's usually called degenerative arthritis or arthritis deformans. And the gnarls you see on the hands are called Heberden's nodes.

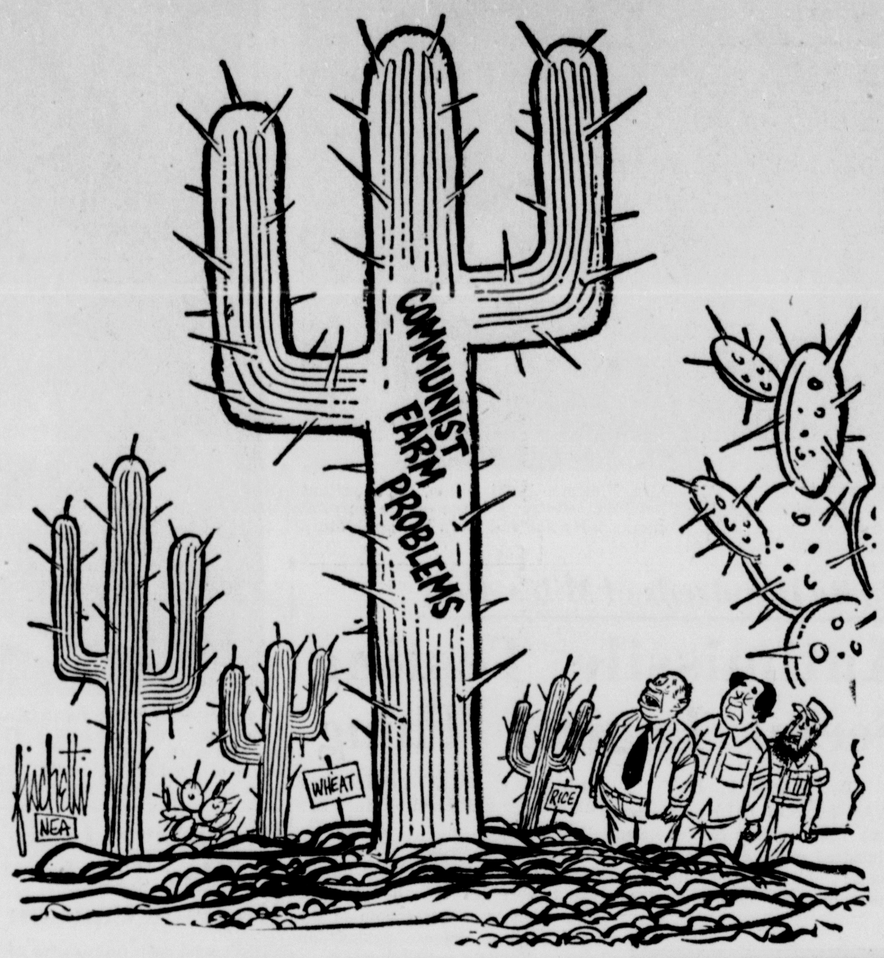

Well, arthritis deformans, degenerative arthritis and Heberden's nodes involve the joints all right. But they are not inflammatory. Hence they are more correctly called "arthroses." And, since they are characterized by a heaping up of the joint tissues, they are best labeled "hypertrophic arthroses."

Just so you don't think I'm playing a word game with you, let me tell you the practical importance of this misuse of language.

Unless your doctor knows the exact nature of the trouble with or around your joint, he can't possibly treat you properly.

What prevents or relieves rheumatic fever won't help gout or muscular rheumatism. What helps gout won't be effective in rheumatic fever or a hypertrophic arthrosis. And an injection that gives prompt relief to a localized attack of muscular rheumatism in the shoulder, say, won't prove very helpful if the shoulder inflammation is due to rheumatic fever or gout. In fact, it could be harmful.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Who gets hurt — and how much—by tariff reductions if Congress approves President Kennedy's trade expansion plan is a subject of much speculation.

Official estimates are that 800 United States firms may be injured by import competition over the next five years, with 90,000 American workers displaced who'll require job retraining. This is many times the rate of injury reported since the end of World War II under the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

From 1947 through 1960 there were 100 applications for relief filed by U.S. business. Tariff Commission recommended relief for 35 industries, and various presidents approved 13 of these. If there were 10 companies in each industry, 130 firms were affected—an average of 10 a year.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR statistics indicate 28,000 workers may have been displaced as a result in the 35 affected industries. This would be an average of 2,150 for each of the 13 years.

These past figures contrast pretty sharply with the average of 160 firms expected to be affected in each of the next five years, with 18,000 workers displaced annually.

Undersecretary of Commerce Edward Gudeman told the House Ways and Means Committee that the adjustment assistance costs under a new relief plan of President Kennedy's trade program might average $37 million a year.

Of this, $24 million would go to injured business firms in the form of loans from a $100 million revolving fund. This would be to help them modernize plants or get into new lines of business. Also, $3 million in technical assistance would be available to these firms. And $10 million a year would be spent to retrain their workers.

This would mean that the average firm injured by competitive imports might expect a loan of $150,000, plus about $20,000 in technical assistance. This is in line with Small Business Administration experience in helping firms modernize.

The cost of retraining a worker would average $550. This is in line with Area Redevelopment Assistance experience.

ON ONLY one point, however, are administration estimates of tariff reduction effects said to be accurate. This is on the list of 26 trade classifications in which the United States and the European Economic Community — the six Common Market countries and five other possible members — control 80 per cent of free world trade. For these products it is proposed that tariffs be greatly reduced or eliminated:

MANUFACTURERS: Aircraft, photographic supplies, motor and other road vehicles, railway vehicles, musical instruments, agricultural, electric, industrial, office and power generating machinery.

MATERIAL: Coal, furs, shortening, glass, paints, cosmetics, sugar products, nonalcoholic beverages, leather goods, organic chemicals, plastics, insecticides, rubber goods and tobacco products.

In 15 of these classifications, U.S. exports in 1961 were $2.1 billion against imports of $1.2 billion. But how many companies in any of these lines of business or any other lines of business will be among the 800 firms now estimated as likely to be hurt by further tariff cuts, nobody really knows.

If an industry or an individual company claims injury from import competition, the President may raise tariff rates or delegate to various agencies the handling of adjustment assistance. In the latter case, a specific plan of adjustment must be submitted to the government with proof that the damages is caused by the tariff, not by bad management.

If Commerce, Labor, Agriculture or Small Business Administration find the adjustment plan feasible, they will approve loans, technical assistance and retraining. No plan, no aid.

Kennedy Grand Strategy For Khrushchev to Read

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Nikita S. Khrushchev reads everything that President Kennedy says, and vice versa. It may be taken for granted, therefore, that the Soviet Premier will analyze carefully a brief statement which the President gave to Stewart Alsop, who made it the theme of a long article he wrote for the current issue of "The Saturday Evening Post." The article itself is entitled "Kennedy's Grand Strategy," and the President is quoted as having said:

"I don't think most Americans realize the way the situation has changed. I don't think many people really understand the change. As late as 1954 the balance in air power, in the nuclear weapons, was all on our side. The change began about 1958 or 1959, with the missiles. Now we have got to realize that both sides have these annihilating weapons, and that changes the problem. Of course in some circumstances we must be prepared to use the nuclear weapon at the start, come what may—a clear attack on Western Europe, for example. But what is important is that if you use these weapons you have to control their use. What you need is control, flexibility, a choice."

There follows an explanation of alternative courses that might be pursued by the President. While presumably based on Mr. Kennedy's ideas, it is presented as Mr. Alsop's own analysis. He gives, for instance, this outline of Mr. Kennedy's "Grand Strategy":

"The aim now is to convince Khrushchev on one point, and leave him uncertain on another. This country must maintain a sufficient margin of superiority in nuclear striking power so that Khrushchev will be certain that, if he strikes first, he will receive a devastating counterblow. But Khrushchev must not be certain that, where its vital interests are threatened, the United States will never strike first. As Kennedy says, 'in some circumstances we might have to take the initiative.' In these ways Khrushchev is to continue to be convinced that 'global thermonuclear war' is something to avoid."

Renewal of Policy

Reporters who asked at the White House on Tuesday for amplification of this were told that it was merely a restatement of the policy of the previous administrations—namely, that if conventional forces became engaged in war, the United States would not hesitate to be the first to use nuclear weapons so as to prevent Soviet forces from overrunning Europe.

President Kennedy is, therefore represented as believing that conventional forces must be increased, that nuclear striking power must be maintained at a high level, and that there must be flexibility in American policy if a real crisis builds up. This also is not too different from the policy of the Eisenhower administration. In fact, the White House statement says the real change in American policy is "in the strengthening of our defensive alternatives to nuclear warfare."

Thus, there is a bigger emphasis now on conventional forces, such as larger ground armies, and also on the training of guerrilla forces for American expeditions such as now are operating in South Viet Nam. But, in the main, the United States today is depending on its nuclear strength as a deterrent power. Indeed, the American people have been assured by high officials only this week that the talk during the last Presidential campaign about a "missile gap" was largely exaggerated and that America is already sufficiently powerful to make the Russians realize that a nuclear war would be suicidal.

The Alsop article does indicate clearly that the President has a full appreciation of the world-wide nature of the Communist threat and hopes in various ways to hold it in check, as, for instance, by judicious use of foreign aid and by showing firmness in situations like that which has arisen in Berlin.

What is surprising, however, is that, in discussing alternative policies, nowhere in the same article on "Grand Strategy" is there any mention of what the President intends to do in the "cold war" about using two powerful forces—the economic boycott and a direct appeal to the peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

Mr. Kennedy is described as vitally interested in seeing European economic strength developed through the Common Market, and it may be that later on the economic boycott will come up for consideration. But it is unfortunate that the leverage which the free world has today is not being used in the diplomatic relations of the West with the Communist-bloc countries.

It is unfortunate, too, that the United States does not utilize the power of moral force to reach the peoples of the countries where Communist oppression prevails. For if there is anything obvious today, it is that there is little chance of world peace as long as autocracy exists in the Soviet Union and the people there can be victims of a sudden and arbitrary mishandling of nuclear power by the dictatorship in Moscow.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Just received an interesting letter from Miss Pauline Hommell, historian and author of Tea Cup Tales, which is now in its second edition, as dealers are clamoring for it. It is one of the nicest gifts to give. Thanks to Miss Hommell she sent me a first edition when it came out.

About her second book she writes: "My new book, 'Class Dismissed!' will appear in late April, I think. It is folklore of a different kind, it covers my 45 years of teaching. It is mostly about the boys and girls I have taught. For in that number of years, I've taught many boys and girls from all walks of life. I've taught people who have become famous and those who have become criminals. It's sad, but that last is true. . . ."

Miss Pauline Hommell further writes: "My father's story is one of a series I am doing for the 'Star' about the famous old 120th. The boys of this area who fought in that century old Civil War." Miss Hommell sent her envelope with a Project Mercury stamp which I appreciate also. I received another Project Mercury stamp with "First day of issue, Feb. 20th, 1962, Cape Canaveral" stamped on it from another historian and author, Capt. Andrew S. Hickey, USN (ret) whose book "The Story of Kingston" is well known, and to which I ofter refer. The mention in this column of the "periauger" ferryboat era which started "the Vanderbilts and Their Fortunes" a book by Edwin P. Hoyt, is similar to the Hudson River one up this way, by us, which is described by Captain Hickey in his book. Books mentioned in this column, as a rule can be found in our Kingston City Library.

On page 67 it says in part in "Story of Kingston," . . . "In the reign of Queen Anne, Governor George Clinton issued a charter Aug. 5, 1752, to Moses Cantine of Esopus and Abraham Kip of Rhinebeck, to operate a 'periauger,' propelled by 'arm strong motor' or sail, if the wind was sufficient. Kip had been ferrying people across the river as early as 1680 in a row boat. In 1790 the Elmendorf family bought the route and introduced a 'horse boat' and later steam." You can find that and more in Captain Hickey's book. History is without an end, so if you read "The Vanderbilts and Their Fortunes" it touches us in transportation and Hudson River travel. If you read "The World of Carnegie Hall" by Richard Schickel, it touches our Kingston City Library, for which building Carnegie paid some $30,000.

History is full of trends, and wars in between. We had our Hudson River sails and sloops, then came the Daylines, and came our Kingston Point Park, and trolley cars, first with horse power and then with electricity.

Across waters, came the Indians with canoes, then came Indian "dugouts" from logs, then the periauger, and then the horse ferry and then steam, now the bridges takes care of over the water travel summer and winter. The covered wagon and horse is gone, trains are going, and buses are running, now its jets instead of ocean liners.

Stores have changed because of refrigeration and automobiles. Then came packaged meats and other foods, and now even the big markets seem to be leaning back to custom cuts, and individual personal sale in foods like salads and cold cuts. It is spinning faster and faster, with no one knowing what trends will be in tomorrow. Shopping has certainly changed hereabouts in the last couple of months.

HOUSING PHENOMENON

A curious phenomenon is observable in the housing construction industry. Although the population of the United States is steadily rising, the building of single-family houses is going down. It has been going down, both proportionately and in actual numbers, for several years.

The peak of single-family housing starts was reached, in fact, as long ago as 1950. In that year, a million and a half such dwelling units were started. Last year the comparable figure was 940,000, and it may sink even lower in 1962.

There are several reasons for this trend, the most apparent of them being that the boom in housing construction since the end of World War II has supplied a big share of the demand. Another reason is that land prices, rising much faster than most other prices, have kept a lot of prospective house buyers from taking the plunge. Whereas the cost of the site for the average house amounted to but 12 per cent of the total price of buying a house in 1950, by 1961 the percentage had risen to 17.1.

This does not mean that families are camping out instead of buying houses. It does mean that proportionately more of them are living in multiple dwellings. Apartment construction has risen swiftly as single-family house construction has declined. All of which illustrates, once again, how economic factors tend to bypass about significant changes in our patterns of living.

RUBBISH AND FIRE

The large amount of rubbish being placed out for collection here indicates that local housewives are in earnest about Spring Clean-Up plans. This is a very smart thing to do for it is the clean home that seldom burns.

Every twelve minutes a home in this nation is destroyed by a fire starting in rubbish, according to National Fire Protection Association records.

With the onset of cold weather, several areas became a catch-all for every kind of clutter. The attic or storage closet, the basement and the garage corner were handy places to push things out of sight. These accumulations are the breeding places for fire.

Put rubbish on the run everywhere in your home. Clear out the stacks of newspapers and magazines, discarded clothing, rags, paint cans—every bit of combustible material. About 550,000 U. S. homes are hit by fire each year and over 6,000 persons—30 per cent of them children—die in fires started in rubbish.

Now is the time to start the annual clean-up in and around your home and keep it up throughout the year. It is one of the smartest things you can do to keep your home and family safe from fire.

Farmers in Czechoslovakia are promised social security if they meet production quotas. Over here production quotas aren't met, they're overwhelmed.

A FEELING IN THE AIR

This is the time of year, especially in northern climes, when the human spirit reaches a low ebb. We have endured the vicissitudes of winter—shortened days, storms, hazardous driving, curtailed outdoor activities. Now we are ready for a change. We long to get out in our yards again—to the garden and the patio—and eventually to the woods and beaches.

Well, the vernal equinox has duly arrived, but where is spring? Storms in the north, unseasonable cold all over the nation, gales and tidal waves in the East—all are evidence that spring does not come by the calendar.

Still, isn't the sun a little warmer (when it does shine)? Isn't the air a trifle balmier (when the north wind isn't blowing)? Isn't there a certain feeling, under all the lingering signs of winter, that spring is almost here?

We say yes. We may be wrong—but time is on our side.

SHAREHOLDERS AND TAXES

President Kennedy desires the United States to accelerate its rate of growth. Under the capitalist system, which is our way of life even with the current modifications, it is not possible for our industry to grow or to replace obsolescent machinery or equipment except by private means. The alternative is a Socialist state.

For many years, Benjamin Javits, the elder brother of the New York State Senator, has been seeking for a method of meeting the problem of the receding confidence of investors in the growth of American industry. I have for many years watched Benjamin Javits' growth from one who believed originally in the welfare state and fascistic approach to the problem of industrial reorganization to one who now takes a strictly capitalistic attitude. He has organized the "United Shareowners of America, Inc.," which is designed to recognize the capitalist, that is, the person who has invested his surplus possessions in the growth and development of the American economic system.

The principal goals of the United Shareowners of America are stated to be:

"1. Eliminating double taxation on corporate dividends.

"2. Taxing corporate earnings at the same rate as individual income.

"3. Revamping the presently unclear and contradictory anti-trust laws.

"4. Eliminating the unnecessary governmental controls."

That the tax system in the United States defeats the possibility for growth and for active competition in world markets is obvious from the continuing flight of capital, which in reality means the loss of jobs from the American worker to workers in foreign lands. Should this trend continue, it would create a crisis from unemployment which is already the principal social problem of our time. The most hateful day of the year for most citizens of the U. S. is April 15, a day of an outrageous impoverishment. It is not only the corporation that suffers, but every person, from the smallest wage earner to the collector of the largest dividends, wonders what he is working for.

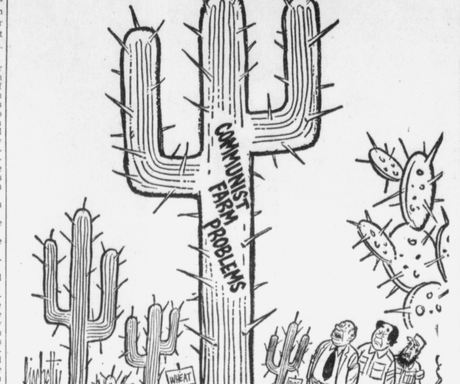

Also a moral degradation sets in as the hardworking and honest person discovers that benefits go to the marginal operator, the discoverer of gimmicks, the fellow who manages to get his money over to Switzerland or some such country. For a while, other countries, particularly Panama, competed with Switzerland for this dishonorable tax-haven business, but no place is quite as safe as Switzerland.

It is not envy that is aroused; rather it is wonder that the tax structure is not revised to protect Americans and the method of collecting taxes is not humanized. At present it is so brutal that the decent, honest citizen lives in terror of the tax-collector while the racketeer and the unlisted of public officials, although he is quite innocent, for he only obeys a very wicked, unscientific law which benefits the crook and penalizes the loyal and obedient citizen.

Benjamin Javits and his group are then performing a useful service by beating the drums for a restudy and a revision of our tax system. Similarly, the so-called anti-trust laws no longer fit our problems. They are antiquated even with such revisions as were made in the Clayton Act and some decisions of the Supreme Court. The purpose of the anti-trust laws is to protect the American economic system from the perils of monopoly and cartelization. But alien monopolistic industries combine with American industries and European cartels operate in this country unhampered.

In fact, the NRA was an attempt during the Roosevelt Administration to organize the entire American industry into a group of cartels and, to assuage these cartels with labor unions not unlike the Italian syndicates arranged by Mussolini. Such a program was first proposed to Herbert Hoover who turned it down as unconstitutional. The NRA is now forgotten and many companies who aided by President Roosevelt's economic assumptions found themselves in anti-trust suits.

At any rate, this subject requires restudy and an adaptation of it to modern needs and conditions. It is important for the small business-man to continue to exist, for out of his efforts grows big business. It is important to protect industries once started which require sustenance and assistance in their infancy, for only through industry and through the encouragement of invention and through the application of science to industry can we maintain our high standard of living.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Who gets hurt — and how much—by tariff reductions if Congress approves President Kennedy's trade expansion plan is a subject of much speculation.

Official estimates are that 800 United States firms may be injured by import competition over the next five years, with 90,000 American workers displaced who'd require job retraining. This is many times the rate of injury reported since the end of World War II under the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

From 1947 through 1960 there were 100 applications for relief filed by U.S. business. Tariff Commission recommended relief for 38 industries, and various presidents approved 13 of these. If there were 50 companies in each industry, 138 firms were affected—an average of 10 a year.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR statistics indicate 28,000 workers would have been displaced as a result in the 35 affected industries. This would be an average of 2,150 for each of the 13 years.

These past figures contrast pretty sharply with the average of 160 firms expected to be affected in each of the next five years, with 18,000 workers displaced annually.

Undersecretary of Commerce Edward Gudeman told the House Ways and Means Committee that the adjustment assistance costs under a new relief plan of President Kennedy's trade program might average $37 million a year.

Of this, $24 million would go to injured business firms in the form of loans from a $100 million revolving fund. This would be to help them modernize plants or get into new lines of business. Also, $3 million would be earmarked to be available to these firms. And $10 million a year would be spent to retrain their workers.

This would mean that the average firm injured by competitive imports might expect a loan of $150,000, plus about $20,000 in technical assistance. This is in line with Small Business Administration experience in helping firms modernize.

The cost of retraining a worker would average $500. This is in line with Area Redevelopment Assistance experience.

ON ONLY one point, however, are administration estimates of tariff reduction effects said to be accurate. This is on the list of 26 trade classifications in which the United States and the European Economic Community — the six Common Market countries and five associate members — control 80 per cent of free world trade. For these products it is proposed that tariffs be greatly reduced or eliminated.

MANUFACTURERS: Aircraft, photographic supplies, motor and other road vehicles, railway vehicles, musical instruments, agricultural, electric, industrial, office and power generating machinery.

MATERIAL: Coal, furs, shortening, glass, paints, cosmetics, sugar products, nonalcoholic beverages, leather goods, organic chemicals, plastics, insecticides, rubber goods and tobacco products.

In 15 of these classifications, U.S. exports in 1961 were $2.1 billion against imports of $1.2 billion. But how many companies in any of these lines of business or any other lines of business will be among the 800 firms now estimated as likely to be hurt by further tariff cuts, nobody really knows.

If an industry or an individual company claims injury from import competition, the President may raise tariff rates or delegate to various agencies the handling of the adjustment assistance. In the latter case, a specific plan of adjustment must be submitted to the government with proof that the damages is caused by the tariff, not by bad management.

If Commerce, Labor, Agriculture or Small Business Administration finding the adjustment plan feasible, they will approve loans, technical assistance and retraining. No plan, no aid.

Arthritis Used to Cover Multitude of Other Ills

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The word "arthritis" is just about the most misused and abused term in the medical dictionary. It means inflammation of a joint. But it's used with reference to anything and everything that happens to ache or to any nearby structure.

Let's first consider the true forms of arthritis to which the word is correctly applied. There's infectious arthritis as for example when the inflammation is caused by tubercle bacilli. Then there are the allergic forms of arthritis such as rheumatic fever which follows a streptococcal infection in a child who is hypersensitive to the poison secreted by the bug.

And there's rheumatoid arthritis that bears many resemblances to rheumatic fever except that it's more apt to occur in adolescents and adults.

And finally for present purposes there's gout that is of chemical origin and, in the last analysis, due to deposits of urate crystals in a joint.

All are forms of arthritis, to be sure, but how different in their causation and, of course, in their treatment.

Now let's take the many conditions to which the term arthritis is incorrectly applied. Well, first of all, there is what's called muscular rheumatism or fibromyositis. In England, this is the commonest cause for disability. It's an inflammation to be sure. But it does not involve the joint. It's the structure around the joint that is inflamed.

Then there's another commonly observed condition in which the joints became all gnarled like the limbs of an apple tree. It's usually called degenerative arthritis or arthritis deformans. And the gnarls you see on the hands are called Heberden's nodes.

Well, arthritis deformans, degenerative arthritis and Heberden's nodes involve the joints all right. But they are not inflammatory. Hence they are more correctly called "arthroses." And, since they are characterized by a heaping up of the joint tissues, they are best labeled "hypertrophic arthroses."

Just so you don't think I'm playing a word game with you, let me tell you the practical importance of this misuse of language.

Unless your doctor knows the exact nature of the trouble with or around your joint, he can't possibly treat you properly.

What prevents or relieves rheumatic fever won't help gout or muscular rheumatism. What helps gout won't be effective in rheumatic fever or a hypertrophic arthrosis. And an injection that gives prompt relief to a localized attack of muscular rheumatism in the shoulder, say, won't prove very helpful if the shoulder inflammation is due to rheumatic fever or gout. In fact, it could be harmful.

Kennedy Grand Strategy For Khrushchev to Read

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Nikita S. Khrushchev reads everything that President Kennedy says, and vice versa. It may be taken for granted, therefore, that the Soviet Premier will analyze carefully a brief statement which the President gave to Stewart Alsop, who made it the theme of a long article he wrote for the current issue of "The Saturday Evening Post." The article itself is entitled "Kennedy's Grand Strategy," and the President is quoted as having said:

"I don't think most Americans realize the way the situation has changed. I don't think many people really understand the change. As late as 1954 the balance in air power, in the nuclear weapons, was all on our side. The change began about 1958 or 1959, with the missiles. Even now we've got to realize that both sides have these annihilating weapons, and that changes the problem. Of course in some circumstances we must be prepared to use the nuclear weapon at the start, come what may—a clear attack on Western Europe, for example. But what is important is that if you use these weapons you may have to control their use. What you need is control, flexibility, a choice."

There follows an explanation of alternative courses that might be pursued by the United States. While presumably based on Mr. Kennedy's ideas, it is presented as Mr. Alsop's own analysis. He gives, for instance, this outline of Mr. Kennedy's "Grand Strategy":

"The first move is to convince Khrushchev on one point, and leave him unconvinced on another. This country must maintain a sufficient margin of superiority in nuclear strength to be certain that Khrushchev will be certain that, if he strikes first, he will receive a crippling retaliatory blow which Khrushchev must not be certain that, where its vital interests are threatened, the United States will never strike first. As Kennedy says, 'in some circumstances we must be ready to take the initiative.' In these ways Khrushchev is to continue to be convinced that 'global thermonuclear war' is something to avoid.

Renewal of Policy

Reporters who asked at the White House on Tuesday for amplification of this were told that there was merely a restatement of the policy of the previous administrations—namely, that if conventional forces became engaged in war, the United States would not hesitate to be the first to use nuclear weapons so as to prevent Soviet forces from overrunning Europe.

President Kennedy is, therefore, represented as believing that conventional forces must be increased, that nuclear striking power must be maintained at a high level, and that there must be flexibility in American policy if a real crisis builds up. This also is not too different from the policy of the Eisenhower administration. In fact, the White House statement says the real change in American policy is "in the strengthening of our defensive alternatives to nuclear war-fare."

Thus, there is a bigger emphasis now on conventional forces, such as larger ground armies, and also on the training of guerrilla forces for American expeditions such as now are operating in South Viet Nam. But, in the main, the United States is depending on its nuclear strength as a deterrent power. Indeed, the American people were assured by high officials only this week that the talk during the last Presidential campaign about a "missile gap" was largely exaggerated and that America is already sufficiently advanced to make the Russians realize that a nuclear war would be suicidal.

The Alsop article does indicate clearly that the President has a full appreciation of the world-wide nature of the Communist threat and hopes in various ways to "box it in" check it, for instance, by judicious use of foreign aid and by showing firmness in such situations like that which has arisen in Berlin.

What is surprising, however, is that, in discussing American policies, nowhere in the same article in the "Grand Strategy" is there any mention of what the President intends to do in the field of psychological and powerful forces—the economic boycott and a direct appeal to the peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

Mr. Kennedy is described as vitally interested in seeing European peace and prosperity developed through the Common Market. He knows that long before which the free world has today is not being used in the diplomatic negotiations that are going with the Communist-bloc countries.

It is unfortunate, too, that the United States does not utilize the power of moral force to reach the peoples of the countries where Communist oppression prevails. For if there is anything obvious today, it is that there is little chance of world peace as long as autocracy exists in the Soviet Union and the people there can be victims of a propaganda campaign misleading of nuclear power by the dictatorship in Moscow.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Just received an interesting letter from Miss Pauline Hommell, historian and author of Tea Talks, which is now in its second edition, as dealers are clamoring for it. It is one of the nicest gifts to give. Thanks to Miss Hommell she sent me a facts about Tea to hand out.

About her second book she writes: "My new book, 'Class Dismissed!' will appear in late April. The book is written on a different kind, it covers my 45 years of teaching. It is mostly about the boys and girls I have taught here. I am doing for the 'Star' about the famous old Class of 1906 boys of this area who fought in that century old Civil War." Miss Hommell sent her envelope with a Project Mercury stamp which I appreciate also. I received another Project Mercury stamp with Alsop's copy of issue, Feb. 20th, 1962. Cape Canaveral" stamped on it from Washington Post and author, Capt. Andrew S. Hickey, USN (ret) whose book "The Story of Mercury" is well known, and to which I refer refer. The mention in this column of the "personal" storybook era which started "the Vanderbilts and Their Fortunes" a book by Edwin P. Hoyt, is similar to the Hudson River one up this way, by us, which is described by Captain Hickey in his book. Books mentioned in this column, as a rule can be found in our Kingston City Library.

On page 67 it says in part in "Story of Kingston," . . . "In the reign of Queen Anne, Governor George Clinton issued a charter

Aug. 5, 1752, to Moses Cantine of Esopus and Abraham Rip of Rhinebeck to operate a ferry-boat, 'propelled by 'arm strong motor' or sail, if the wind was favorable.' . . . Two days later people across the river as early as 1680 in a row boat . . . In 1760 the Elsworth family bought the route and introduced a "horse boat and later steam." You can find that and more in Captain Hickey's book. History is worth while and, to us if you read "The Vanderbilts and Their Fortunes" it touches us in transportation and Hudson River travel. If you read "The World of Carnegie Hall" by Richard Schickel, it touches our Kingston City Library, for which building Carnegie gave $50,000.

History is full of trends, and wars in between. We had our Hudson River sails and sloops, then came the Daylines, and came our Kingston Point Park, and trolley cars, first with horse power and then with electricity.

Across waters, came the Indian with canoes, then came Indian "dugouts" from logs, then the periauger, and then the ferry-boat and then steamers, the bridges takes care of over the water travel summer and winter. The covered wagon and horse is gone, trains are going, and buses are running, now its jets instead of ocean liners.

Stores have changed because of refrigeration and automobiles. Even name packages of meats and other foods, and now even the big markets seem to be leaning in the direction of a delicatessen, a regional personal sale in foods like salads and cold cuts. It is spinning faster and faster with no one knowing what trends will be in tomorrow. Shopping has certainly changed hereabouts in the last couple of months.

Cancer Crusade Workers Named For Woodstock

A local task force of men and women will be part of a nationwide army of more than 2,000,000 volunteers participating in the annual April Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society, Town of Woodstock co-chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. James Monroe Langendyke Sr. of Glasco Turnpike said today.

Starting April 1, volunteers of the Ulster County Unit of the American Cancer Society will call on friends and neighbors with the double-barrelled objective of saving lives now as well as in the future, the chairmen announced.

The Woodstock township goal of $800 is part of $35,000 designated as the county objective.

Every resident in the community can cooperate in this venture by heeding the advice in the life-saving educational literature which volunteers will distribute when they call for contributions, the chairmen said.

Half of all cancer victims who will be detected this year can be cured if their cancers are detected and treated in time. Top immediate objective is to help save these lives, an estimated 280,000 men, women and children," the chairmen declared.

BOCES Gets High Praise at OCS

The Board of Cooperative Educational Services is a valuable asset to the quality of education in the Onteora Central Schools system, District Principal George R. Sullivan said today.

Benefits by BOCES, he added, include part-time teachers and professional personnel, a growing curriculum resource center, a vocational training program and an in-service workshop program for teachers.

Over the past years, colleges, technical schools and business have placed higher requirements on the high school graduate who wishes to enter one of their fields, he said. This in turn has helped to increase the variety of courses and services which the public school of today must provide. For many schools this creates a serious problem.

What can a school do which may need the services of a specialized teacher or therapist for only one or two days a week? Fifteen years ago most schools had ten answers to the problem: (1) hire the person full time and find him other duties to fill out the week or (2) get along as well as possible without providing this service to the students.

Going Since 1955

In 1955 this problem was solved for seven Ulster County systems in Ulster County, when the present Board of Cooperative Educational Services of Ulster County was created. Onteora Central, Ellenville Central, Rondout Valley Central, New Paltz Central, Highland Central, Marlboro Central and Wallkill Central shared the expenses and services of the board. BOCES is not a separately organized center to which the seven schools subscribe for service. On the contrary, its administration is closely tied with that of the participating schools.

This type of service is not new to education in New York State. Cooperative boards were first made possible by the enactment of the Intermediate district law of 1948. The purpose of these Boards is to provide teachers on a shared basis in the smaller schools of a given area and also to provide the specialized needs of the larger central schools.

In the smaller one, two and three room rural schools, it would not be practical to hire the services of a full-time art, music, or physical education teacher. However, by the cooperative action of several districts together the services of these specialists can be provided on a shared basis. This is where the Board of Cooperative Educational Services makes a valuable contribution to the educational needs of area schools, Dr. Sullivan said.

Answer Queries On Operation Of Blood Bank

So many questions have been asked about the organization of the Woodstock Township Blood Bank and the manner in which it will be conducted that the Woodstock Public Health Nurse Committee thinks it advisable to answer those most frequently asked.

Some of these questions, says Amy Smallen, are:

Q. Who is sponsoring the Woodstock Blood Bank?

A. The Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee is sponsoring the Blood Bank. They wrote letters to most of the organizations in the town and to all the church groups, asking them to send representatives to an organization meeting. They also invited the town doctors.

Two meetings were held and a committee of six men, representing each hamlet in the township, was organized under the Public Health Nursing Committee.

Q. Where will the blood be stored?

A. The blood will be processed, typed and stored at the Kingston City Laboratory.

Q. Who will supervise the drawing?

A. Miss Mary K. Wiseman, blood bank nurse at the Kingston City Laboratory, will supervise the drawing. She will be assisted by two or more technicians. One of the town doctors will also be present.

Q. Will the residents of Woodstock know how much blood the bank contains?

A—Radio stations WKNY and WGHQ will announce the number of pints contributed after each drawing. The Public Health Nursing Committee will keep a statement from the bank at the end of each month. This will include the number of pints at the beginning of the month, the number of withdrawals and the balance at the end of the month. A report will be sent to the newspapers each time a drawing is made.

Q. If a person finds it impossible to attend a drawing but wishes to donate blood, what can he do about it?

A. Blood may be contributed at the Kingston City Laboratory. If a donor wishes to credit the blood to the Woodstock blood bank, he must be sure to tell the nurse in charge. The Kingston blood bank is open every Monday from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m.; Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.; Friday, from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. Appointments may be made by calling up to within one half hour of closing time.

Q. Without a blood bank, what is the cost of a blood transfusion?

A. A hospital patient is required to return two pints of blood for every pint given to him by a hospital. If he can get only one donor, he must pay $27.50 in lieu of the second pint. If he cannot get any donor, he must pay twice that amount for every pint he receives.

Q. When will blood be available from the Woodstock Blood Bank?

A. It will be available immediately after the first drawing to any Woodstock resident who needs a transfusion on April 11 and thereafter.

Q. Will the amount of blood a patient receives be limited?

A. As long as there is blood in the blood bank, up to four pints will be alloted to any one person for any one illness. In an emergency when more blood is needed, the Blood Bank committee will make every effort to obtain donors to give blood earmarked for that emergency.

Q. How does a patient withdraw blood from the bank?

A. There will be a Blood Distribution Committee consisting of three members selected from the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee. Their names will be announced before the first drawing. No blood will be withdrawn without authorization by this committee.

The first drawing will be held Tuesday, April 10, from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m. at the American Legion building. Anyone willing to donate blood will please send a postcard containing name and telephone number to Woodstock Township Blood Bank, P. O. Box 627, Woodstock.

The power and permanence of the Word of God will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday in a lesson-Sermon on the subject of "Reality."

Among the Scriptural passages to be read is this verse from Psalm 107: "He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read (p. 335): "Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal. Nothing unspiritual can be real, harmonious, or eternal."

The Golden Text is from Isaiah (40): "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand for ever."

On Germany: By Schimmerling

West Germany's Secretary of War, F. S. Strauss, said on July 25, 1961: "The Second World War is not yet over."

This statement can be interpreted in different ways. It points, however toward a more aggressive attitude on the common denominator with a statement by another member of the Adenauer government, Hans Christian Seebohm, Secretary of Transportation, who said: "One of our aims is a united Europe without Czechs and without Communists. The Czechoslovak Republic is to be regarded as a colonial region which needs a German spirit."

Do we read between the lines and detect he also mean "a fatherland without Jews"? To read between the lines is not a difficult task in this particular instance, if one looks at a photo which this writer has in front of him on his desk while writing this article. On this photo one can see West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer receiving congratulations on the occasion of his 86th birthday (God bless him); he seems to be an honest man; I remember, also Hindenburg was honest).

Who are the congratulants? On the right stands Lt. Gen. Friedrich Foertsch, sentenced for war crimes in Russia but released in 1955, Hitler gave him the Knight's Cross. Now he is a commander of the Bundeswehr and, though a soldier, a dynamic politicoman. The second person is Adenauer with an album containing phonograph records of military marches, a new contribution of doubtful value to the literature of recorded music.

On the left stands General Josef Kammhuber, commander of the Bonn Air Force. He earned his laurels in World War II as commander of the air attack on the German city of Freiburg which gave Hitler the pretext for bombing British cities. Kammhuber took part in these air attacks. If you wish to see this photo, you have to come to see me. It is too rare to give it out of my hands. Add to all of this a statement by Bavaria's Minister, Walter Stein: "We must not forget that Germany needs more lebensraum (space to live). We do not have enough space." This space is to be found with our neighbors who don't need it."

Question: Who are the neighbors?

The Augsburg branch of the Sudeten-Germans still claims it has the right to take back the Sudetenland, that is the territory of Bohemia and Moravia which Hitler occupied after the shameful Munich agreement. Fanatician among these Sudeten-Germans went so far that they even threatened to stage disturbances during a scheduled program to be played in Augsburg by the Janacek Quartet, a Prague organization of world wide fame. This quartet scored great successes during its trip to Great Britain.

This article is based upon notes and photos that reached this writer's desk during the last few months. If news which is not the result of personal observations can be trusted at all, they seem to be reliable because they are corroborated by statements and observations stemming from other sources. In other words, this writer was not present at the events mentioned above.

From thinking of Germany and the Germans, he prefers to think of the other Germany; that is the Germany of Beethoven, Brahms, Goethe, Duerer, Schopenhauer, Luther and many others. Would there be any hope for a nation that takes its place as one of the best in values of culture and civilization?

But Goethe, perhaps the greatest mind that Germany has produced, says — and William L. Shirer uses this quotation as the motto to his book "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich" — "I have often felt a bitter sorrow at the thought of the great people which is so estimable in the individual and so wretched in the generality."

What we here in the United States can learn from these facts will be discussed in another article . . . H. A. SCHIMMERLING

Cancer Crusade Workers Named For Woodstock

A local task force of men and women will be part of a nationwide army of more than 2,000,000 volunteers participating in the annual April Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society, Town of Woodstock co-chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. James Monroe Longendyke Sr. of Glasco Turnpike said today.

Starting April 1, volunteers of the Ulster County Unit of the American Cancer Society will call on friends and neighbors with the double-barrelled objective of saving lives now as well as in the future, the chairmen announced.

The Woodstock township goal of $800 is part of $35,000 designated as the county objective.

Every resident in the community can cooperate in this venture by heeding the advice in the life-saving educational literature which volunteers will distribute when they call for contributions, the chairmen said.

Half of all cancer victims who will be inflicted this year can be cured if their cancers are detected and treated in time. "Our immediate objective is to help save these lives, an estimated 260,000 men, women and children," the chairmen declared.

Drive captains and canvassers in the various hamlets in the township are: Woodstock — Mrs. Joseph Holdridge, Mrs. Robert Hastie, Mrs. Peter Koehn, Mrs. James Kinns, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Charles Kullam, Mrs. Dwight Harris, Mrs. Eugene Snyder, Mrs. J. BOCES Gets High Praise at OCS

The Board of Cooperative Educational Services is a valuable asset to the quality of education in the Onteora Central Schools System, District Principal George R. Sullivan said.

Benefits by BOCES, he added, include part-time teachers and professional personnel, a growing curriculum resource center, a vocational training program and an in-service workshop program for teachers.

Over the past years, colleges, technical schools and business have placed higher requirements on the high school graduate who wishes to enter one of their fields, he said. This in turn has helped to increase the variety of courses and services which the public school of today must provide. For many schools this creates a serious problem.

What can a school do which may need the services of a specialized teacher or therapist for only one or two days a week? Fifteen years ago most schools had two answers to this problem: (1) hire the person full time and find him other duties to fill out the week or (2) get along as well as possible without providing this service to the students.

Going Since 1955

In 1955 this problem was greatly relieved for seven school systems in Ulster County, when the present Board of Cooperative Educational Services of Ulster County was created. Onteora Central, Ellenville Central, Rondout Valley Central, New Paltz Central, Highland Central, Marlboro Central and Wallkill Central shared the expenses and services of the board. BOCES is not a separately organized center to which the seven schools subscribe for service. On the contrary, its administration is closely tied with that of the participating schools.

This type of service is not new to education in New York State. Cooperative boards were were made possible by the enactment of the Intermediate district law of 1948. The purpose of these Boards is to provide teachers on a shared basis in the smaller schools of a given area and also to provide the specialized needs of the larger central schools.

In the smaller one, two and three room rural schools, it would not be practical to hire the services of a full-time art, music, or physical education teacher. However, by the cooperative action of several schools tgether the services of these specialists can be provided on a shared basis. This is where the Board of Cooperative Educational Services makes a valuable contribution to the educational needs of area schools, Dr. Sullivan said.

Answer Queries On Operation Of Blood Bank

So many questions have been asked about the organization of the Woodstock Township Blood Bank and the manner in which it will be conducted that the Woodstock Public Health Nurse Committee thinks it advisable to answer those most frequently asked.

Some of these questions, says Amy Smallen, are:

Q. Who is sponsoring the Woodstock Blood Bank?

A. The Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee is sponsoring the Blood Bank. They wrote letters to most of the organizations in the town and to all the church groups, asking them to send representatives to an organization meeting. They also invited the town doctors.

Two meetings were held and a committee of six men, representing each hamlet in the township, was organized to work with the Public Health Nursing Committee.

Q. Where will the blood be stored?

A. The blood will be processed, typed and stored at the Kingston City Laboratory.

Q. Who will supervise the drawing?

A. Miss Mary K. Wiseman, blood bank nurse at the Kingston City Laboratory, will supervise each drawing. She will be assisted by two or more technicians. One of the town doctors will also be present.

Q. Will the residents of Woodstock know how much blood the bank contains?

A—Radio stations WKNY and WGHQ will announce the number of pints contributed after each drawing. The Public Health Nursing Committee will receive a statement from the bank at the end of each month. This will include the number of pints at the beginning of the month, the number of withdrawals and the balance at the end of the month. A report will be sent to the newspapers each time a statement is made.

Q. If a person finds it impossible to attend a drawing but wishes to donate blood, what can he do about it?

A. Blood may be contributed at the Kingston City Laboratory. If a donor wishes to credit the blood to the Woodstock blood bank, he must be sure to tell the nurse in charge. The Kingston blood bank is open every Monday from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m.; Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.; Friday, from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. Appointments may be made by calling up to within one half hour of closing time.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

Early Prenatal Care Important To Mother, Baby

"Many expectant mothers wait too long before seeking prenatal medical care, sometimes with serious consequences," warns Dr. E. Franklin Hall of the Ulster County Department of Health.

In 1958, infant deaths totaled 113,789—the highest ever recorded in the nation's history. Early prenatal care might have prevented many of these tragedies. For years the infant mortality rate declined at a rapid pace. In the 1930's and 40's it fell more than 4 per cent each year. But beginning about 1950 this rate of progress was cut in half. "Every woman who suspects she may be pregnant should visit a doctor promptly, not only to confirm the pregnancy, but to obtain proper medical care," Dr. Hall states.

During the first six months she will probably be asked to visit the doctor once a month. He will check her general condition, blood pressure, pulse and weight, as well as do other appropriate laboratory tests. While these may seem routine and unnecessary, they give the doctor a chance to make sure anything wrong is picked up early. The need for medical supervision throughout pregnancy and following birth cannot be overemphasized. "We all want healthy babies, and mother's health and peace of mind are no less important, for the family's well-being as well as her own," Dr. Hall says.

With early prenatal care, the big day should be a more comfortable and happy one for mother, father and baby.

Eichmann's Death Is Hausner Plea To Clemency Try

JERUSALEM (AP)—Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner concluded his case against Adolf Eichmann's appeal for clemency today with a plea to Israel's highest court to uphold the death sentence.

Hausner, winding up a 13-hour attack on Eichmann's arguments against the death penalty, declared:

"He who chooses to follow the ways of Adolf Eichmann—the ways of hatred and murder—must have as his end shame and his punishment death. There can be no justice here unless that is Eichmann's punishment.

"I ask that this court reject his appeal against his sentence."

Eichmann never flinched as he listened to Hausner ask for his execution for the second time. A special tribunal last December accepted Hausner's argument and condemned the former gestapo colonel to die.

Unless the Supreme Court grants a defense motion to put Eichmann, 56, on the stand again, the state of Israel had its last say in court in the massive case it brought against him as the central figure in the Nazi extermination of six million European Jews.

Immediately after Hausner concluded his plea, the five justices adjourned until Thursday. Eichmann's attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius, will then make a final statement seeking commutation of the death sentence. The court also is likely to rule Thursday on defense motions to introduce new witnesses and to hear the accused.

The court will probably take about a month to write its verdict on the appeal.

Total forest area in the United States is 787 million acres.

Nonpartisan Body Sets April 3 for Final Interviews

The Nonpartisan Nominating Committee of the Kingston Consolidated School District has set Tuesday, April 3, as the date for final interviews with prospective Board of Education candidates and determination of which two it will endorse for election to the board.

Two possible candidates were interviewed by the committee at a meeting March 19 and last night at the George Washington School, bringing the total interviews to date to three.

Election Is May 1

Two positions on the Board of Education are to be filled by election May 1. Those whose terms expire are George W. Schneider, board president, and Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly.

Abraham Streifer, chairman of the Nonpartisan Nominating Committee, at Tuesday night's meeting stressed the importance of the committee actively "searching out" qualified candidates for the important post.

He urged that persons or individuals be submitted to the committee's secretary, Mrs. Clifford B. Beck, or mailed to P.O. Box 181, Rondout Station, Kingston, well in advance of next Tuesday's meeting.

11th Is Filing Deadline

The April 3 meeting, to be held at 8 p. m. in the George Washington School, will have to be the final selection meeting for the session. The court also is likely to rule Thursday on defense motions to introduce new witnesses and to hear the accused.

The court will probably take about a month to write its verdict on the appeal.

Total forest area in the United States is 787 million acres.

Residents Advised On Address Change

Area residents were advised today by James A. O'Hara, local district director of the Internal Revenue Service, to notify their local postmaster of any change of address to assure prompt delivery of IRS refund checks.

"The best way not to get a refund check from IRS—if you are due one—is to move from your present residence shown on your 1961 return without leaving a forwarding address," O'Hara said.

O'Hara advised residents to notify the local postmaster of a change of address and he added "also send your new and old address to the district director with whom you file your return."

come participating organizations apply in writing, and extend from October to February the time during which organizations may apply.

2. Change the date of the committee's organizational meeting from October to January.

3. Repeal a provision that no person who already served two terms on the Board of Education would be eligible for committee endorsement except by unanimous vote.

4. Repeal a requirement that the committee chairman or his representative must attend every open meeting of the school board.

5. Provide that individuals may be accepted as members-at-large of the committee at the committee's discretion.

Another by-law amendment was proposed last night and will be presented to the membership for action at its next meeting. This would establish the committee quorum at 50 per cent of its paid membership, instead of the present rule that 20 members constitute a quorum.

Fluoride Group Shocked by Words Of 300 Petition

The Citizens Committee for Fluoridation today took exception to language of a recent petition signed by 300 in opposition to putting fluoride in Kingston water.

According to Robert Fitzmaurice, publicity chairman for the fluoridation committee, that body is "astounded by the crudeness and viciousness of such an attack."

Fitzmaurice, a teacher at Kingston High School, made his statement today in announcing a meeting of the committee for Thursday at 8 p. m. in the City Laboratory. It is open to the public, he said.

Language of Petition

The petition of the 300 said "that fluoridation of public water supplies is an origination of communistic action to bore from within and conquer by getting all of us to be cowlike in time, physically and mentally incapable of resistance. In this action we believe that Commies of higher echelons employ their fellow travelers, pinkos as well as uninformed and unaware dupes, dopes and crackpots to do their dirty work for them while they remain in the background."

Fitzmaurice termed the petition language "an insult to the integrity of the citizens of Kingston. It assasinates the fine reputable character of such groups in favor of fluoridation as:

"American Dental Association, American Medical Association, U. S. Public Health Service, the Nation Congress of P-TA, New York State Department of Health, the Ulster County Health, Medical and Dental Societies and the local service clubs and P-TA.

Shocked at 300

"Very frankly the committee is shocked that 300 of our neighbors have signed such a ridiculous statement," Fitzmaurice said. "However, what disturbs us even more is the possibility of a loud minority like this causing delay of fluoridation in Kingston. Lets face it—fluoridation as a public health measure, as has been proven in some of the largest cities in America, is as inevitable as pasteurization and immunization was."

City Court Cases

Joseph F. Scully Jr., of 202 Fair Street, charged with third degree assault, was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail and was placed on probation today by Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn. The arrest March 19 followed a report that a man and woman were fighting on North Front Street and was on complaint of the defendant's wife, Linda. Jorge Figueora, 28, of 177 Fair Street, charged with disorderly conduct, was sentenced to four days in jail, the sentence being based on time he had served. It was charged he had thrown a glass in a Broadway tavern.

Car Is Located

Police were notified early today that a car reported stolen from central Broadway some time ago was parked on Field Court. Its owner was listed as Benny Ligotino of 39 Florence Street.

Koenig Declares Schwenk to Blame On City Building

Alderman Francis R. Koenig (D) Ninth Ward, chairman of the Common Council's finance committee, today charged Mayor John J. Schwenk with "incompetency" in the handling of city government finances.

Specifically, he said, this was shown in the mayor's "lack of foresight" in preparing the budget "monies allowed for the building and supply committee."

Koenig referred to the recent release from the mayor's office and a photograph in Tuesday's Freeman, the one describing and the other showing deterioration in the municipal building on East O'Reilly Street.

Had the mayor heeded the advice given by Democratic members of the finance committee, concerning the "building and supply account, monies would have been set aside to help in such emergencies."

Says Two Mentioned It

Koenig said that both he and Alderman Frank C. Sass (D) Seventh Ward, council majority leader, "explicitly informed the mayor of the condition of the buildings earlier in the year during the preparation of the 1962 budget."

"Lack of interest and governmental control by Mayor Schwenk during the years from 1934 to 1937 and 1956 and 1957, when he served as alderman-at-large," he said, "is the main reason for the deterioration, not only of this building, but of other city buildings."

Cites Repair Cost

This, he held, was "the main reason why the taxpayers of the City of Kingston must now be burdened with these extra expenditures. Had Mayor Schwenk, when he served as alderman-at-large, insisted on these outlays, preventative maintenance could have been performed thus saving the taxpayers money which are now being needlessly spent for repairs."

Koenig also said, "the mayor, in a desperate effort to somehow cut the Radel budget at the expense of the maintenance of city buildings, cut necessary funds out of the Radel budget."

This, he held, was "purely a political move to attempt to show a false sense of economy, which is indicative of the manner in which the present mayor is trying to govern this three-million-dollar corporation."

Says Red Arms Make Cuba Giant Of Latin America

WASHINGTON (AP) —Communist-supplied arms have made Cuba a military giant of the Caribbean, the State Department reports.

The department said an estimated $100 million in Communist military aid "has turned the Cuban military establishment into one of the most formidable in Latin America. It has introduced a military capability hitherto not present in any of the Latin American countries of the Caribbean area."

Most of the arms have come from the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia, the department reported Tuesday.

It added "there is no evidence that the Soviet Union has supplied Cuba with missiles, or that missile bases are under construction." Nor are any Soviet bombers known to have been turned over to Fidel Castro's regime.

Cuba has been receiving Communist arms shipments and military advisers since Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan visited the island nation in February, 1960, the department said.

It said the report on Cuba's military buildup was issued in response to numerous requests.

$230-Million School Aid Increase Plan Moves in Legislature Today

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An election-year plan to increase school aid by more than $230 million a year began moving through the Legislature today as leaders cleared calendars in preparation for adjournment Thursday or Friday.

The education program, assured of passage, would raise total state aid to schools to more than $1 billion a year within the next three years.

The first increase, totaling more than $115 million, would take effect with the school year beginning this September.

The school-aid plan, scheduled to be the last bill passed in the 1962 legislative session, will almost certainly stand as the most important single development of the otherwise slow-paced session.

Gov. Rockefeller and other Republican leaders who had a major hand in the program are relying on it heavily as a major asset in their campaigns for re-election this fall.

The schedule of the education legislation called for its introduction today in the form of completed bills, approval by the Rules Committees of the two houses, enforcement in closed-door conferences of the Republican majorities of the Senate and Assembly and, finally, formal passage on the floor.

The final vote was expected Thursday or Friday.

In addition to the school-aid plan, lawmakers still had to act on several hundred other bills. Others went to the governor in a steady stream.

Rockefeller Tuesday signed into law measures creating a state authority to stimulate peacetime use of nuclear energy, continuing a modernization of the State Police, and authorizing the Port of New York Authority to embark on a $420-million plan to construct a World Trade Center in Manhattan and take over and operate the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad.

In other state-government developments:

Boxing—The Republican legislative leaders called for creation of a joint legislative committee to look into professional boxing and determine whether it should be outlawed or whether new safeguards are needed to protect participants. The recommendation resulted from the fight Saturday night in which Benny (Kid) Paret was critically injured.

Welfare — The Senate approved a bill that would prohibit the state social welfare commissioner from issuing departmental regulations. It would turn the authority over to the State Board of Social Welfare, now a division of the state Welfare Department.

$20,000 in Jewels Taken From Hotel

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Police were questioning today for the thief who grabbed $20,000 worth of jewelry from the motel room of an Erie jewelry salesman.

Ben Fogelson told police Thursday night that a heavy suitcase containing gold rings and cultured pearls were stolen from his room at the Civic Center Motel in the Oakland section of the city.

Spector said the thieves entered his room by forcing the door.

Spector is employed by a Buffalo, N.Y. jewelry firm.

Rail Traffic Resumes

CORRY, Pa. (AP — Railroad traffic resumed on tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad near Lovells about three miles southwest of here.

The tracks were blocked Monday by a derailment of 25 cars from a 125-car PRR freigh train. No injuries were reported.

Traffic was re-routed or delayed while workmen cleared the tracks.

Teachers to Quit In N.Y. April 10 Unless Pay Upped

NEW YORK (AP) — Public school teachers have voted to strike April 10 unless the Board of Education accepts their demand for a $1 million in annual salary increases or comes up with an "acceptable" counter-offer.

7,255 to 246 Vote

Members of the United Federation of Teachers voted 7,255 to 240 Tuesday night to strike. The AFL-CIO union became the collective bargaining agent for the city's 40,000 teachers this year.

The vote came as the climax to a spirited mass meeting in Siwash Arena.

The delegate assembly decision put up the membership for approval was to reject a city offer of $33.8 million for teacher salary increases and to call for the strike April 10 unless an "acceptable" offer is received by then.

"It's up to the mayor to get the taxes and the city to pay for it if they want a decent school system," said union president Charles Cogen.

$200-$950 Raise Sought

The annual wage scale for teachers now ranges from $4,800 to $8,660 in 13 steps. The union seeks a salary range of from $5,400 to $9,600 in 12 steps and also boosted increments for advanced study.

Likely to Affect Political Power

High Court Ruling Major Landmark in Its History

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fog Carl Sandburg said crept in on Chicago on little cat feet had the same slow pace, and some of the justices, the Supreme Court sometimes shows as it moves toward an explosive decision.

The big decisions when they come—and one came this week—are attacked by the court's critics as what they call new evidence that it is overstepping its authority by sticking its nose in where it has no business.

Spreading Authority

But the court long ago claimed as very much its business the three principal domains of American life: social, political and economic.

Thereafter, the only question left, and the only reason for surprise, was how far the court was willing to go in each domain.

The history of its spreading authority goes back to 1801 when Chief Justice John Marshall established the court's right to step in if states refused to give their voters the apportionment in state legislatures.

This decision was in flivor of some Tennessee citizens who complained that—contrary to the federal Constitution's 14th Amendment guaranteeing all citizens equal protection under the law—they were deprived of proper representation in their legislature.

For years the justices had ducked and dodged the issue of question—as they had on others—and took the position the court had no right to interfere in such a "political thicket," as Justice Felix Frankfurter said.

Decision Is Switch

Therefore, the decision this week was a switch. It was a major landmark in the history of the court for now it had gone further than ever before into the political business of a state.

It was explosive because dozens of states have mal-apportioned their legislatures and now can be forced to reapportion them in order for years to come. It will probably affect American political power.

Democrats have their greatest strength in the cities where citizens complain they are grossly underrepresentation than they are entitled to.

Yet, looking back, the court took the step of interfering in the political questions of a state. After that it was only a matter of how much deeper the court would interfere. A number of cases could be cited.

One is enough. After pussyfooting and backtracking, the court ruled in 1927 and 1932 that a Negro in Texas had been deprived of the equal protection of the 14th Amendment when he was kept from voting because of his color.

The most sensational action of the court in the social dynamics of city life is the most vivid in recent memory—was its contrary actions on segregation. Here it really pussyfooted.

In 1896 the court ruled a state could segregate Negroes—that it was constitutional to do so—provided the facilities allotted the separate place they were given treatment equal to that given white people.

Said Around Problem

For the next 58 years succeeding courts skidded all around the problem of deciding whether segregation by itself was or was not constitutional.

Instead, it crept up on that major decision by a series of decisions ruling out segregation in graduate forms and places — but only because the treatment given Negroes wasn't equal to that given whites.

In 1954 it took the plunge, said the court of 1896 was wrong, declared the principle of segregation wrong, and ordered the country's public schools desegregated.

The court has stepped into the American economic field a number of times and in different ways.

It was Marshall, starting in 1810, who asserted as chief justice the authority of the court to move in many directions with a series of decisions which established the right of the court to pass on the constitutionality of acts of Congress and state legislatures, and on the decisions of state courts.

As angry as the decisions of the Supreme Court under Marshall made, many people for different reasons — he was in court from 1801 to 1835—one thing was certain: he strengthened the power of the government in dealing with states.

This week's decision was an extension of that power.

Goldwater Feels Decision Proper By High Court

Reform Counsel To Become Head OfStockExchange

NEW YORK (AP) — Edwin D. Etherington, 37, a broker who served as special counsel to a reform committee that investigated the American Stock Exchange, will become president of the Wall Street institution Sept. 4.

He was elected unanimously by the board of governors Tuesday to succeed Edward T. McCormick, who resigned under fire last Dec. 11 after the Securities and Exchange Commission brought formal charges of trading irregularities on the exchange.

As president, Etherington will have the job of carrying out various measures recommended by the reform committee to remove what the exchange commission described as manifold and prolonged abuses of trading rules.

Etherington is a partner in Pershing & Co., a member of both the New York and American exchanges. Before joining Pershing in January, 1961, he had been a vice president of the New York Stock Exchange since 1958.

Edwin Posner, 71, chairman of the American Exchange, will continue as president pro tem until Etherington takes over. Etherington will get $80,000 a year with a five-year contract.

McCormick, who had served as president for 10 years at $75,000 a year, submitted his resignation before the commission issued its final report on the American Exchange investigation. The probe began in early 1961 after a father and son team—Gerard A. and Gerard F. Re—said been expelled for trading irregularities.

Although McCormick was never charged with any wrongdoing, he and other officials were widely criticized for not enforcing the stock trading rules more vigorously.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., took issue today with those who see the Supreme Court's action on legislative apportionment as a blow to political conservatives.

Goldwater, a spokesman for GOP conservatives, called the court's ruling which opened the field of urban-rural representation to federal judicial review "a proper decision."

"I know there are those who say that the conservatives' political strength will be reduced if the cities gain more representation in the legislatures," he said in an interview.

"But I don't agree with that. I don't think it will make any change. There are proportionately just as many conservatives in the metropolitan as in the rural areas."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who regards himself as considerably more liberal than Goldwater, said in a statement speculation that the Democrats would gain by legislative changes giving a greater voice to city voters is premature.

Reporting the court's action, he said surveys have shown that the cities—where the Democrats have proved themselves strong—have had improved representation while the suburbs—where Republicans have been more numerous —have suffered.

"It is evident from such studies that the suburbs of America, rather than the cities, would be the most likely beneficiaries of an apportionment overhauling," he said.

States' rights critics found no practical way of warding off what they characterized as federal intervention at a local field.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., predicted U.S. judges will find themselves involved in complex difficulties in carrying out the high court's directions.

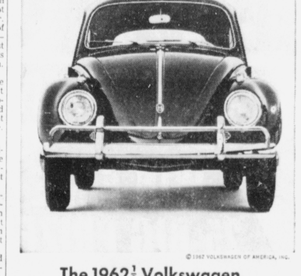

"It was a terrible decision," he said. "I do not regard it as the law of the land. But I suppose it is the last resort."

The 1962½ Volkswagen.
When the Volkswagen people find a way to improve the VW, they do it. Then and there.
If you come in to buy a new VW today, you'll get one with an entirely new steering mechanism. It gives you an even better sense of touch with the road and makes the VW still easier to handle. Volkswagen didn't rush to put it on their '62 models. It wasn't quite ready. And they didn't wait for the '63 VW to come; it's ready now.
VW has made thousands of changes in the past 15 years. And there'll be more in years to come. But not one change has ever made a VW obsolete; only better.
Now and then, people ask why. Volkswagen is the only one else.
The answer is simple: once a year isn't always enough.

Eichmann's Death Is Hausner Plea To Clemency Try

JERUSALEM (AP)—Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner concluded his case against Adolf Eichmann's appeal for clemency today with a plea to Israel's highest court to uphold the death sentence.

Hausner, winding up a 13-hour attack on Eichmann's arguments against the death penalty, declared:

"He who chooses to follow the ways of Adolf Eichmann—the ways of hatred and murder—must have as his end shame and his punishment death. There can be no justice here unless this is Eichmann's punishment.

"I ask that this court reject his appeal against his sentence."

Eichmann never flinched as he listened to Hausner ask for his execution for the second time. A special tribunal last December accepted Hausner's arguments and condemned the former gestapo colonel to die.

Unless the Supreme Court grants a defense motion to put Eichmann, 56, on the stand again, the state of Israel has had its last say in court in the massive case it brought against him as the central figure in the Nazi extermination of six million European Jews.

Immediately after Hausner concluded his plea, the five justices adjourned until Thursday. Eichmann's counsel, Dr. Robert Servatius, will then make a final statement seeking commutation of the death sentence. The court also is likely to rule Thursday on defense motions to introduce new witnesses and to hear the accused again.

The court will probably take about a month to write its verdict on the appeal.

Nonpartisan Body Sets April 3 for Final Interviews

The Nonpartisan Nominating Committee of the Kingston Consolidated School District has set Tuesday, April 3, as the date for final interviews with prospective Board of Education candidates and determination of which two it will endorse for election to the board.

Two possible candidates were interviewed by the committee at a meeting Tuesday (March 27) night at the George Washington School, bringing the total interviews to date to three.

Election Is May 1

Two positions on the Board of Education are to be filled by election May 1. Those whose terms expire are George W. Schneider ,board president, and Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly.

Abraham Streifer, chairman of the Nonpartisan Nominating Committee, at Tuesday night's meeting stressed the importance of the committee actively "searching out" qualified candidates for the important post. He urged names of potential candidates be submitted to the committee's secretary, Mrs. Gifford R. Beal, or mailed to P.O. Box 181, Rondout Station, Kingston, well in advance of next Tuesday's meeting.

11th Is Filing Deadline

The April 3 meeting, to be held at 8 p. m. at the George Washington School, will have to be the final selection meeting due to the April 11 deadline for filing petitions, Mr. Streifer noted.

Amendments to the committee's by-laws, previously proposed to remove certain restrictive provisions, were adopted last night. The amendments:

1. Remove the requirement that organizations wishing to become participating organizations apply in writing, and extend from October to February the time during which organizations may apply.

2. Change the date of the committee's organizational meeting from October to January.

3. Repeal a provision that no person who already served two terms on the Board of Education would be eligible for committee endorsement except by unanimous vote.

4. Repeal a requirement that the committee chairman or his representative must attend every open meeting of the school board.

5. Provide that individuals may be accepted as members-at-large of the committee at the committee's discretion.

Another by-law amendment was proposed last night and will be presented to the membership for action at its next meeting. This would establish the committee quorum at 50 per cent of its paid membership, instead of the present rule that 20 members constitute a quorum.

Residents Advised On Address Change

Area residents were advised today by James A. O'Hara, local district director of the Internal Revenue Service, to notify their local postmaster of any change of address to assure prompt delivery of IRS refund checks.

"The best way not to get a refund check from IRS—if you are due one—is to move from your present residence shown on your 1961 return without leaving a forwarding address," O'Hara said.

O'Hara advised residents to notify the local postmaster of a change of address and he added "also send your new and old address to the district director with whom you file your return."

To Meet Thursday

Fluoride Group Shocked by Words Of 300 Petition

The Citizens Committee for Fluoridation today took exception to language of a recent petition signed by 300 in opposition to putting fluoride in Kingston water.

According to Robert Fitzmaurice, publicity chairman for the fluoridation committee, that body is "astounded by the crudeness and viciousness of such an attack."

Fitzmaurice, a teacher at Kingston High School, made his statement today in announcing a meeting of the committee for Thursday at 8 p. m. in the City Laboratory. It is open to the public, he said.

Language of Petition

The petition of the 300 said "that fluoridation of public water supplies is an origination of communistic action to bore from within and conquer by getting all of us to be cowlike in time, physically and mentally incapable of resistance. In this action we believe that Commies of higher echelons employ their fellow travelers, pinkos as well as uninformed and unaware dupes, dopes and crackpots to do their dirty work for them while they remain in the background."

Fitzmaurice termed the petition language "an insult to the integrity of the citizens of Kingston. It assisinates the fine reputable character of such groups in favor of fluoridation as:

"American Dental Association, American Medical Association, U. S. Public Health Service, the Nation Congress of P-TA, New York State Department of Health, the Ulster County Health, Medical and Dental Socieities and the local service clubs and P-TA.

Shocked at 300

"Very frankly the committee is shocked that 300 of our neighbors have signed such a ridiculous statement," Fitzmaurice said. "However, what disturbs us even more is the possibility of a loud minority like this causing delay of fluoridation in Kngston. Lets face it — fluoridation as a public health measure, as has been proven in some of the largest cities in America, is as inevitable as pasteurization and immunization was."

City Court Cases

Joseph F. Scully Jr., of 202 Fair Street, charged with third degree assault, was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail and was placed on probation today by Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn. The arrest March 19 followed a report that a man and woman were fighting on North Front Street and was on complaint of the defendant's wife, Linda. Jorge Figueora, 28, of 177 Fair Street, charged with disorderly conduct, was sentenced to four days in jail, the sentence being based on time he had served. It was charged he had thrown a glass in a Broadway tavern.

Car Is Located

Police were notified early today that a car reported stolen from central Broadway some time ago was parked on Field Court. Its owner was listed as Benny Ligotino of 39 Florence Street.

Koenig Declares Schwenk to Blame On City Building

Alderman Francis R. Koenig (D) Ninth Ward, chairman of the Common Council's finance committee, today charged Mayor John J. Schwenk with "incompetency" in the handling of city government finances.

Specifically, he said, this was shown in the mayor's "lack of foresight" in preparing the budget "monies allowed for the building and supply committee."

Koenig referred to the recent release from the mayor's office and a photograph in Tuesday's Freeman, the one describing and the other showing deterioration in the municipal building on East O'Reilly Street.

Had the mayor heeded the advice given by Democratic members of the finance committee, concerning the "building and supply account, monies would have been set aside to help in such emergencies."

Says Two Mentioned It

Koenig said that both he and Alderman Frank C. Sass (D) Seventh Ward, council majority leader, "explicity informed the mayor of the condition of the buildings earlier in the year during the preparation of the 1962 budget."

"Lack of interest and governmental control by Mayor Schwenk during the years from 1934 to 1937 and 1956 and 1957, when he served as alderman-at-large," he said, "is the main cause of the deterioration, not only of this building, but of other city buildings."

Cites Repair Cost

This, he held, was "the main reason why the taxpayers of the City of Kingston must now be burdened with these extra expenditures. Had Mayor Schwenk, when he served as alderman-at-large, investigated these conditions, preventative maintenance could have been performed thus saving the taxpayers monies which are now being needlessly spent for repairs."

Apparently, he said, "the mayor, in a desperate effort to somehow cut the Radel budget at the expense of the maintenance of city buildings, cut necessary funds out of the Radel budget."

This, he held, was "purely a political move to attempt to show a false sense of economy, which is indicative of the manner in which the present mayor is trying to govern this three-million-dollar corporation."

Says Red Arms Make Cuba Giant Of Latin America

WASHINGTON (AP) —Communist-supplied arms have made Cuba a military giant of the Caribbean, the State Department reports.

The department said an estimated $100 million in Communist military aid "has turned the Cuban military establishment into one of the most formidable in Latin America. It has introduced a military capability hitherto not present in any of the Latin American countries of the Caribbean area."

Most of the arms have come from the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia, the department reported Tuesday.

It added "there is no evidence that the Soviet Union has supplied Cuba with missiles, or that missile bases are under construction." Nor are any Soviet bombers known to have been turned over to Fidel Castro's regime.

Cuba has been receiving Communist arms shipments and military advisers since Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan visited the island nation in February, 1960, the department said.

It said the report on Cuba's military buildup was issued in response to numerous requests.

Dutchess Youth Admits Charges

A 19-year-old Tivoli youth was arrested Tuesday by Rhinebeck State Police on a charge of obtaining alcoholic beverages for a minor, who was the victim of a fatal Dutchess County highway mishap on March 11.

Troopers said Edward Bratton, 19, Tivoli, was arrested by Trooper David Baker as the result of a fatal traffic accident which occurred on Route 9, Town of Red Hook.

Bratton pleaded guilty before Acting Police Justice John T. Wisebauer, Town of Red Hook. He was fined $15, given a 30-day suspended sentence and placed on probation for six months.

Troopers accused Bratton of obtaining alcoholic beverages for a 15-year-old Town of Clermont boy, who was a passenger in a car driven by David C. Scism, 19, Tivoli, when the vehicle went out of control and overturned.

Putnam Driver Admits Charge

Charged with making a left turn at the Highland Traffic circle, Edward Leonard King, 33, of Brewster, Tuesday night pleaded guilty before Town of Lloyd Justice of the Peace Phillip Schunk and was fined $15.

King, who appeared with Sherwood E. Davis, attorney, pleaded innocent to a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. The case was adjourned until April 10, 8 p. m., and King was released on $100 bail, which was reduced from $250.

A charge of driving a car without a license was dismissed when King produced his operator's license.

$230-Million School Aid Increase Plan Moves in Legislature Today

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An election-year plan to increase school aid by more than $230 million a year began moving through the Legislature today as leaders cleared calendars in preparation for adjournment Thursday or Friday.

The education program, assured of passage, would raise total state aid to schools to more than $1 billion a year within the next three years.

The first increase, totaling more than $115 million, would take effect with the school year beginning this September.

The school-aid plan, scheduled to be the last bill passed in the 1962 legislative session, will almost certainly stand as the most important single development of the otherwise slow-paced session.

Gov. Rockefeller and other Republican leaders who had a major voice in shaping the program are relying on it heavily as a major asset in their campaigns for re-election this year.

The schedule of the education legislation called for its introduction today in the form of completed bills, approval by the Rules Committees of the two houses, endorsement in closed-door conferences of the Republican majorities of the Senate and Assembly and, finally, formal passage on the floor.

The final vote was expected Thursday or Friday.

In addition to the school-aid plan, lawmakers still had to act no several hundred other bills. Others went to the governor in a steady stream.

Rockefeller Tuesday signed into law measures creating a state authority to stimulate peacetime use of nuclear energy, continuing a modernization of the State Police, and authorizing the Port of New York Authority to embark on a $420-million plan to construct a World Trade Center in Manhattan and take over and operate the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad.

In other state-government developments:

Boxing—The Republican legislative leaders called for creation of a joint legislative commission to look into professional boxing and determine whether it should be outlawed or whether new safeguards are needed to protect participants. The recommendation resulted from the fight Saturday night in which Benny (Kid) Paret was critically injured.

Welfare — The Senate approved a bill that would prohibit the state social welfare commissioner from issuing departmental regulations. It would turn the authority over to the State Board of Social Welfare, the collective head of the state Welfare Department.

$20,000 in Jewels Taken From Hotel

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Police were searching today for the thief who grabbed $20,000 worth of jewelry from the motel room of an Erie jewelry salesman.

Ben Spector told police Tuesday night that a heavy suitcase containing gold rings and cultured pearls were stolen from his room at the Civic Center Motel in the Oakland section of the city.

Spector said the thieves entered his room by forcing the door.

Spector is employed by a Buffalo, N.Y. jewelry firm.

the tracks were blocked Monday by a derailment of 25 cars from a 125-car PRR freigh train. No injuries were reported.

Teachers to Quit In N.Y. April 10 Unless Pay Upped

NEW YORK (AP) — Public school teachers have voted to strike April 10 unless the Board of Education accepts their demands for $53 million in annual salary increases or comes up with an "acceptable" counter-offer.

7,255 to 240 Vote

Members of the United Federation of Teachers voted 7,255 to 240 Tuesday night to strike. The AFL-CIO union became the collective bargaining agent for the city's 40,000 teachers this year.

The vote came as the climax to a spirited mass meeting in St. Nicholas Arena.

The delegate assembly decision put up the membership for approval was to reject a city offer of $33.8 million for teacher salary increases and to call for the strike April 10 unless an "acceptable" offer is received by then.

"It's up to the mayor to get the taxes and the city to pay for it if they want a decent school system," said union president Charles Cogen.

$600-$950 Raise Sought

The annual wage scale for teachers now ranges from $4,800 to $8,650 in 13 steps. The union seeks a salary range of from $5,400 to $9,600 in 12 steps and also boosted increments for advanced study.

Likely to Affect Political Power

High Court Ruling Major Landmark in Its History

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fog Carl Sandburg said crept in on Chicago on little cat feet had the same slow pace, and some of the haze, the Supreme Court sometimes shows as it moves toward an explosive decision.

The big decisions when they come—and one came this week—are attacked by the court's critics as what they call new evidence it is overstepping its authority by sticking its nose in where it has no business.

Spreading Authority

But the court long ago claimed as very much its business the three principal domains of American life: social, political and economic.

Thereafter, the only question left, and the only reason for surprise, was how far the court was willing to go in each domain.

The history of its spreading authority goes back to 1801 when John Marshall took over the court as chief justice.

This week a majority of the nine justices ruled that federal courts had the right to step in if states refused to give their voters fair representation in state legislatures.

This decision was in favor of some Tennessee citizens who complained that—contrary to the federal Constitution's 14th Amendment guaranteeing all citizens equal protection under the law—they were deprived of proper representation in their legislature.

For years the justices had ducked and weaved on this kind of question—as they had on others—and took the position the court had no right to interfere in such a "political thicket," as Justice Felix Frankfurter said.

Decision Is Switch

Therefore, the decision this week was a switch. It was a major landmark in the history of the court for now it had gone further than ever before into the political business of a state.

It was explosive because dozens of states have mal-apportioned their legislatures and now can be brought to court, promising fights for years to come. It will probably affect American political power.

Democrats have their greatest strength in the cities where citizens complain that country people, judged by their numbers in relation to city population, have far more representation than they are entitled to.

Yet, looking back, the court took the step of interfering in the political questions of a state. After that it was only a matter of how much deeper the court would interfere. A number of cases could be cited.

One is enough. After pussyfooting and backtracking, the court ruled in 1927 and 1932 that a Negro in Texas had been deprived of the equal protection of the 14th Amendment when he was kept from voting because of his color.

The most sensational action of the court in the social domain—if only because it is the most vivid in recent memory—was its contrary actions on segregation. Here it really pussyfooted.

In 1896 the court ruled a state could segregate Negroes—that it was constitutional to do so—provided that in their segregated place they were given treatment equal to that given white people.

Skid Around Problem

For th next 58 years succeeding courts skidded all around the problem of deciding whether segregation by itself was or wasn't constitutional.

Instead, it crept up on that major decision by a number of decisions ruling out segregation in various forms and places — but only because the treatment given Negroes wasn't equal to that given whites.

In 1954 it took the plunge, said the court of 1896 was wrong, declared the principle of segregation wrong, and ordered the country's public schools desegregated.

The court has stepped into the American economic field a number of times and in different ways.

It was Marshall, starting in 1803, who asserted as chief justice the authority of the court to move in many directions with a series of decisions which established the right of the court to pass on the constitutionality of acts of Congress and state legislatures, and on the decisions of state courts.

As angry as the decisions of the Supreme Court under Marshall made many people for different reasons — he was on the court from 1801 to 1835—one thing was certain: he strengthened the power of the government in dealing with states.

This week's decision was an extension of that power.

Goldwater Feels Decision Proper By High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., took issue today with those who see the Supreme Court's action on legislative apportionment as a blow to political conservatives.

Goldwater, a spokesman for GOP conservatives, called the court's ruling which opened the field of urban-rural representation to federal judicial review "a proper decision."

"I know there are those who say that the conservatives' political strength will be reduced if the cities gain more representation in the legislatures," he said in an interview.

"But I don't agree with that. I don't think it will make any change. There are proportionately just as many conservatives in the metropolitan as in the rural areas."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who regards himself as considerably more liberal than Goldwater, said in a statement speculation that the Democrats would gain by legislative changes giving a greater voice to city voters is premature.

Supporting the court's action, he said surveys have shown that the cities—where the Democrats have proved themselves strong—have had improved representation while the suburbs—where Republicans have been more numerous—have suffered.

"It is evident from such studies that the suburbs of America, rather than the cities, would be the most likely beneficiaries of an apportionment overhauling," he said.

States' rights critics found no practical way of warding off what they characterized as federal intervention in a local field.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., predicted U.S. judges will find themselves involved in complex difficulties in carrying out the high court's directions.

"It was a terrible decision," he said. "I do not regard it as the law of the land. But I suppose it is the last resort."

Reform Counsel To Become Head Of Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (AP) — Edwin D. Etherington, 37, a broker who served as special counsel to a reform committee that investigated the American Stock Exchange, will become president of the Wall Street institution Sept. 4.

He was elected unanimously by the board of governors Tuesday to succeed Edward T. McCormick, who resigned under fire last Dec. 11 after the Securities and Exchange Commission brought forth charges of trading irregularities on the exchange.

As president, Etherington will have the job of carrying out various measures recommended by the reform committee to remove what the exchange commission described as manifold and prolonged abuses of trading rules.

Etherington is a partner in Pershing & Co., a member of both the New York and American exchanges. Before joining Pershing in January 1961, he had been a vice president of the New York Stock Exchange since 1958.

Edwin Posner, 71, chairman of the American Exchange, will continue as president pro tem until Etherington takes over. Etherington will get $80,000 a year with a five-year contract.

McCormick, who had served as president for 10 years at $75,000 a year, submitted his resignation before the commission issued its final report on the American Exchange investigation. The probe began in early 1961 after a father and son team—Gerard A. and Gerard F. Re-aad been expelled for trading irregularities.

Although McCormick was never charged with any wrongdoing, he and other officials were widely criticized for not enforcing the stock trading rules more vigorously.

Senate Heads Into New Scrap - Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Freed from a two-week tangle over an anti-poll tax amendment, the Senate headed today toward another scrap—whether to buy $100 million in U.N. bonds.

The way was cleared for action on the bond issue Tuesday when the Senate by a 77-16 vote approved the constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections.

The U.N. bond proposal was made the pending business before the Senate quit Tuesday night. But Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said debate on it may not get started until Thursday.

President Kennedy has asked authority to buy half of a $200 million U.N. bond issue to help pull the organization out of financial troubles. Some senators have objected strongly to the plan.

Mansfield indicated he would seek action first on a House-passed appropriation bill for the Treasury and Post Office departments and a batch of minor measures.

Prolonged speeches by Southern senators against the anti-poll tax amendment had held up committee meetings and other business. But the Southerners abruptly broke off their speeches and when the vote came approving the amendment, it was even more one-sided than the 72-16 margin by which the Senate adopted a similar amendment two years ago. It was well in excess of the required two-thirds majority.

The proposed amendment, one of two civil rights measures urged by Kennedy, now goes to the House. If approved by a two-thirds majority there, it will have to be ratified by three-fourths of the 50 states before becoming effective.

Newburgh Police, Firemen Granted Salary Increase

Eight Newburgh policemen and 13 city firemen, who are not covered by the city's new pension plan, have been granted a five per cent salary increase by the City Council.

Salary increases of $250 each have been approved for Police Chief John Tierney and Fire Chief William Coleman. Each chief will receive an annual salary of $7,500.

City Manager Joseph McD. Mitchell recommended the five per cent increase because the eight policemen and 13 firemen come under an old pension plan. Mitchell said the cost of the five per cent increases for the police and firemen and the $250 increase for the police and fire chiefs would amount to $4,500.

The five per cent increase for the eight policemen and 13 firemen will become effective on March 29.

Improvements Are Announced in IBM Employe Benefits

Improvements in a number of IBM employe benefit plans were announced Tuesday by IBM Chairman Thomas J. Watson Jr., in a telephone hook-up to the company's employes at Kingston and the more than 300 other locations throughout the country.

The improvements include an additional paid holiday and increased major medical and hospitalization coverage. A proposed increase in the IBM retirement plan, which is subject to approval of stockholders at the company's annual meeting April 24, also was announced.

With the additional holiday, IBM employes will receive nine paid holidays starting this year.

Coverage for each eligible member of an employe's family under the company's major medical plan was increased from $10,000 to $15,000. Hospitalization coverage was extended to include specified emergency medical care.

Also included in the improvements is an increase in life insurance coverage for retired employes and an improved vacation plan which recognizes age as well as length of service for employes who join the company at age 40 and above.

The increase in retirement income, which is based on length of service and earnings, would become effective May 1, 1962, if approved by the stockholders.

Urged to Take Action Now

Students Told Preparation Is Vital to Their Careers

Addressing an inaugural Career Day conference Tuesday at Kingston High School, Joseph E. Brill, New York City attorney, told students "You are now in the countdown stage, about to blast off on your careers."

The keynote speaker at the sessions sponsored by the Kingston Chapter and lodge of B'nai B'rith with the co-operation of the high school guidance department, was introduced by Mayor John J. Schwenk, who also was a speaker.

The theme of the conference was "Youth Seeks Its Place in the Space Age."

Must Take Advantages

"Prepare yourselves for 'Go' and may nothing hold you back," Brill said. "Will you be leaders or ditch diggers?" He advised the students to take advantage of the opportunities to prepare themselves in their own fields.

Mayor Schwenk told the group that some may be wondering why this effort was made in their behalf. "I know you don't realize how important you are to Kingston," the mayor said, "but believe it or not you are our future."

The mayor noted that factor was why B'nai B'rith and the high school administration joined together to present the career workshops.

28 Specialists Speak

The mayor stated that specialists from 28 trades and professions appeared to brief the students on various trades and professions, and why he appeared to voice his approval of the important undertaking.

"As juniors," the mayor said, "most of you are just a year and three months away from one of the most important crossroads in your lives, and you will soon have to reach a decision as to what you are going to do after your high school graduation."

Time Is Now

The mayor advised the group that now is the time for them to begin thinking of the future, and the effect their decision will have on the future of Kingston.

"I am very grateful to B'nai B'rith, one of our leading community service groups, for making it possible for you to base your choice on information straight from specialists in the various trades, businesses and professions, in which you have expressed an interest," the mayor said.

The mayor stated that he hopes Career Day will become an annual activity in Kingston.

500 Juniors There

The career conference provided 500 juniors the opportunity to hear and question representatives of professions or specialties drawn from a wide area including New York City, Washington and Albany.

The students were briefed by leaders in the various fields including police operations, arts and sciences, beauty culture, accounting, advertising, fashions, interior decorating, retail and wholesale business, management development, journalism, auto mechanics, agriculture, engineering, pathology, medical research, biology, public service, nursing, education, home economics and civil service.

Lauded by Sen. Keating

Guests and speakers attended luncheon prior to the conference sessions. Guests were welcomed by Dr. Herbert Derman, co-chairman of the project, who read a message from Senator Kenneth B. Keating congratulating B'nai B'rith on its achievement in offering the program.

M. Clifford Miller, principal of the Kingston High School, presented the program at the opening of the assembly.

Made Arrangements

Mrs. Arnold Pinsly and Dr. Derman were co-chairmen in charge of the conference. Mrs. Edwin Kalish headed the personnel committee, assisted by Herman Eaton, Dr. David Gerbarg, Mrs. Carl Lipton, Arnold Pinsly and Mrs. Stanley Wyman.

Mrs. Robert Ronder, chairman of programming and arrangements, was assisted by Carl Lipton, Mrs. Lewis Neporent, Mrs. Charles Ronder, Miss Blanche Kirschenblum, James Tobin.

The publicity committee included Mrs. Seymour Semilof, chairman; Jacob Chichelsky, Kurt Eisler, Herbert Gertner, Mrs. Leon Miller and Arthur Moak.

Colonial Stone Is To Ask Increase In Capital Shares

Colonial Sand & Stone Co. which has interest in the Hudson Cement Corp. of Steep Rocks, will ask shareholders to vote a sharp increase in authorized capital shares, a recent Wall Street Journal report noted.

The annual meeting is slated for April 18. Anthony Pope, president, declined to say whether the move foreshadows a stock split, and the journal quoted him as saying, "We just want to have it available."

Dollar Par to Continue

Management, through letters "proposed an increase in authorized shares to six million from 2.5 million. Par value will continue at $1 a share. Colonial Sand & Stone has 2,363,397 shares outstanding." The journal said Pope observed that Colonial barely had enough shares currently authorized to cover another five per cent stock dividend. In addition to cash, it paid five per cent in stock last year and in 1960.

The company is about 66 per cent owned by the Pope family and a foundation they set up.

Colonial, said the report, has not issued proxy material since Anthony Pope and his brother, Fortune, executive vice president, were indicted in 1960 on charges that they violated U. S. securities laws through misleading statements in 1956-1960 proxy statements, among other places.

Explanation

The journal report explained: "The brothers pleaded guilty to five counts of the indictment and no contest to five others. Two of the 12 counts were dismissed. The Government claimed that the misleading statements concealed certain transactions between companies owned by the Popes and Colonial Sand & Stone, through which the Popes allegedly diverted $379,000 from Colonial over a four-year period.

Agree on $400,817

"The Popes agreed to pay back $400,817 to Colonial in cash as well as 500 shares of stock in a small company they owned. In the 1961 annual report, Colonial Sand & Stone said that 1960 figures were restated to reflect these payments. "The revised statements include the accounts of certain companies not previously treated as subsidiaries," a short note to the annual report said. "These items and other accounting adjustments had the effect of increasing consolidated retained earnings at Jan. 1, 1960, by $201,946, decreasing consolidated net income for the year 1960 by $23,065, and increasing consolidated retained earnings and net assets at Dec. 31, 1960, ther explanation of these by $17,881." There was no further explanation of these changes."

310 Stockholders Present at C-H Annual Meeting

Approximately 310 common stockholders of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation were in attendance Tuesday at the annual meeting of stockholders in the utility's Poughkeepsie general office. Of the outstanding shares of common stock eligible to vote 2,722,951, or almost 81 per cent were represented in the voting either by proxy or in person.

Mair, Poughkeepsie; Fabian L. Russell, Saugerties; C. B. Schmidt, Hopewell Junction; Henry D. Sherwood, Pine Plains; Lelan F. Sillin Jr., president, and John Wilkie, vice chairman of the Board.

The stockholders were shown a 30-minute color slide film highlighting the company's progress during 1961 in terms of the residential, commercial and industrial growth of the Central Hudson Valley.

Surgeon General Terry said, "Individual physicians and health officers will decide which of the two vaccines to use on the basis of their own appraisal of the special factors of their own practice or the circumstances within their own health jurisdictions."

Availability of the vaccines may be the determining factor, said Terry. The Salk vaccine is being turned out at a rate of 5 million to 6 million doses a month. Terry said it was too early to say when the oral vaccine will be produced in large quantities or how soon it will appear in substantial amounts in local outlets.

the work of her organization in the county. She pointed out that there are 830 4-H members organized into 65 clubs within the county and that there are 120 adult volunteer leaders.

Give Demonstrations

County 4-H Club members work on various projects, according to Miss Rice, and learn to excel through demonstration given in both local and district competitions. The winners sometimes advance through state contests at Syracuse to nation contests at Chicago.

Illustrating demonstration techniques were two well-trained 4-H members, Miss Genevieve Switz of Lomontville and John McCormack of St. Remy. Miss Switz gave a very skillful demonstration of apple pie making and Mr. McCormack presented a demonstration of "Facts About Fuses and Wires." Both young people held the attention and interest of their audience very well.

tinez was reported ready with a compromise that would keep Frondizi in office while giving the military a veto over his decrees.

Although the plan was not to be presented formally until later today, a military official confirmed that no service would accept any proposal to share the government responsibility with Frondizi.

The military official said the commander in chief of the army, Gen. Raul Poggi, had ordered "Plan 3"—the overthrow of Frondizi by force—executed at 7:30 a.m. The navy reportedly began plans to move. The army and air force reportedly requested a postponement until noon.

There was no immediate word from Frondizi, who went home from government house and presumably to bed after rejecting the military demand that he resign.

Defense Minister Martinez refused to tell newsmen the details of the president's compromise proposal, but its main point was believed to be that the secretaries of the army, navy and air force would be required by law to sign each presidential decree before it could take effect.

Sources said the plan called for Frondizi to ask Congress to give the service secretaries this power. But Frondizi cannot give assurances Congress will approve such a measure.

Another version of the compromise, less frequently mentioned, would have the presidential term cut from six to five years. Frondizi has already served four years.

May Change Government

Several morning newspapers said Argentina might take on a parliamentary form of government, reducing the presidency to a figurehead position and investing real powers in a prime minister.

The military submitted its combined demand for Frondizi's resignation early this morning after military commanders from all over the country flew to the capital to discuss the crisis touched off by sweeping Peronist election victories March 11.

The military ousted dictator Juan D. Peron in 1955 and is violently opposed to his return. It blames Frondizi for allowing the Peronists to run in the National Assembly and provincial elections in which they scored their victories.

Port Ewen Home Has Fire, Grass Keeps Vols Busy

Volunteer firemen continue to be kept on the jump battling brush and grass fires while the Port Ewen firemen Tuesday evening fought a fire on the second story of the residence property of Mrs. Mary Dempsey on Broadway, Port Ewen, across from the Grand Union Market.

About 6:30 p. m. Tuesday two pieces of apparatus were summoned to the Dempsey premises where a fire, apparently from an electric extension cord leading from a wall socket, had set fire to a mattress.

Chief Edward F. Mains reported damage confined to the mattress and bed and some slight damage to the floor of the bedroom. Water damage was held to a minimum. The burning mattress was carried from the apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Smith on the second floor. There was considerable smoke.

Assisting at the fire was Deputy Chiefs Cleon Jump and Wesley Clarke. Recall was sounded at 7:20 p. m.

Among the fire calls recorded by Mutual Aid Fire Control in Kingston was one at High Falls at 2:44 p. m. Tuesday, brush fire; Plattekill at 12:45 p. m. Tuesday, brush fire. Tillson-Rosendale fire companies respnoded to a call for a brush fire on Eltinge Road at 7:27 a. m. today with recall being sounded at 7:31 a. m.

Beware of Stock Plans That Guarantee Profits

Q—"A salesman recently told my husband about a common stock plan in which by investing $40 a month we'd be guaranteed $10,000 at the end of ten years. We probably could afford $40 a month without undue strain. What do you think of the suggestion? D. K.

A—Buying stock on the installment plan or contractual basis has become very popular and, in general, I believe these plans fill a very real need. However, there is one thing you must be quite wary of—that big word "guaranteed."

No investment plan which is built on the values of common stocks can be guaranteed to be worth a given amount of dollars at a certain date, and any salesman who promises you such gains is, in my opinion being deliberately misleading.

At $40 a month, you will have contributed some $4,800 to the plan at the end of ten years. Now, based on past experience (the strong post-war bull market period of the 1950's), your money would have more than doubled if it had been kept in good stocks. However, the past is absolutely no guarantee of what will happen in the future, and to represent it as such is just not right.

Of course, comparisons using several different periods in prior years is helpful in coming to a decision, especially if both the up and down cycles of the market are included. I think it's fair to assume that an investment organization which has managed funds alertly throughout many kinds of markets will continue to be successful. Nevertheless, I would be careful not to assume that the record will repeat itself to the same extent.

Frankly, I'd avoid doing business with anyone who, whether directly or by inference, guarantees you profits in stocks.

Q—"I've been advised to buy Dow Chemical. What is your opinion?" C. A.

A—I'm afraid that I don't agree with this advice. Dow Chemical has shown little if any growth for several years. In my opinion, a better buy would be a forward-moving issue like National Starch (NYSE).

State Police—Rockefeller signed legislation adding 658 troopers to the State Police and cutting the work week from 60 hours a week to 40. More felixibility in assignments also would be afforded under the bill.

Milk—Two bills designed to prevent price wars among milk retailers ran into opposition in the Senate and were tabled, perhaps for this session. The measures would prohibit price-cutting and increase the state agriculture commissioner's licensing authority.

Judges — The Senate approved and sent to the Assembly a bill to add three Supreme Court justices in the Eighth Judicial District, comprising Erie, Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua, Genesee, Niagara, Orleans and Wyoming counties. Another measure, given final legislative approval by the Senate, would increase from 10 to 12 the number of judges in the State Court of Claims.

A union official said the pickets would "do the passive resistance bit—that is, lie down in the streets if necessary."

The city Tuesday night seized 173 more of the company buses. The seizure was authorized early in the day by State Supreme Court Justice Peter A. Quinn, who allowed the city to take over six more routes.

The city previously had seized 1,400 buses and restored service on 65 routes in Manhattan and The Bronx.

The strike started March 1 when the company laid off 29 men as the first phase of 1,500 layoffs and cuts in service for economy.

The city, acting under authority granted by the State Legislature and with State Supreme Court permission, started seizing the company's franchises, buses, garages and other equipment last Wednesday night.

Fatum's Service To Continue in Six County Towns

Fatum's Ambulance Service will continue to operate in six towns until at least April 15, it was made known today.

Extension of service was sought by supervisors from the six townships involved and the request was granted by Francis Fatum of the local firm.

Meeting with Fatum at the Ulster County Court House Monday night were Supervisors Roger Mabie, Esopus; Charles Relyea, Hurley; George Leedke, Kingston; Lester S. Davis, Olive; Abram F. Molyneaux, Woodstock and Alexander J. Banyo, Ulster.

The extension was granted in order to give the supervisors an opportunity to discuss the matter with their respective town boards.

Fatum informed the six supervisors that he was reluctant to discontinue the service to their to...'s and produced facts and figures to show that unless the towns contribute to such services, as the City of Kingston has done for the past several years, he would have to decrease personnel and equipment which would limit his activities to the city.

It was pointed out that all of the towns, except Hurley, would have regular town board meetings prior to the April 15 date. Supervisor Relyea said he would call a special meeting of his board before that date.

Senate Heads Into New Scrap - Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Freed from a two-week tangle over an anti-poll tax amendment, the Senate headed today toward another scrap—whether to buy $100 million in U.N. bonds.

The way was cleared for action on the bond issue Tuesday when the Senate by a 77-16 vote approved the constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections.

The U.N. bond proposal was made the pending business before the Senate quit Tuesday night. But Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said debate on it may not get started until Thursday.

President Kennedy has asked authority to buy half of a $200 million U.N. bond issue to help pull the organization out of financial troubles. Some senators have objected strongly to the plan.

Mansfield indicated he would seek action first on a House-passed appropriation bill for the Treasury and Post Office departments and a batch of minor measures.

Prolonged speeches by Southern senators against the anti-poll tax amendment had held up committee meetings and other business. But the Southerners abruptly broke off their speeches and when the vote came approving the amendment, it was even more one-sided than the 72-16 margin by which the Senate adopted a similar amendment two years ago. It was well in excess of the required two-thirds majority.

The proposed amendment, one of two civil rights measures urged by Kennedy, now goes to the House. If approved by a two-thirds majority there, it will have to be ratified by three-fourths of the 50 states before becoming effective.

Patrolman of Week

NEW PALTZ — This week Peter Kraus was chosen for the honor of Patrolman of the Week because of his fine work in assisting elementary school children across one of New Paltz's most dangerous streets. He begins his day at 7:40 a. m. by posting one of the three traffic signs which have been purchased for school safety by the village to warn motorists to drive slowly because of the school crossing. He ends his day's assignment by patroling the New Paltz School driveway.

Newburgh Police, Firemen Granted Salary Increase

Eight Newburgh policemen and 13 city firemen, who are not covered by the city's new pension plan, have been granted a five per cent salary increase by the City Council.

Salary increases of $250 each have been approved for Police Chief John Tierney and Fire Chief William Coleman. Each chief will receive an annual salary of $7,500.

City Manager Joseph McD. Mitchell recommended the five per cent increase because the eight policemen and 13 firemen come under an old pension plan. Mitchell said the cost of the five per cent increases for the police and firemen and the $250 increase for the police and fire chiefs would amount to $4,500.

The five per cent increase for the eight policemen and 13 firemen will become effective on March 29.

ImprovementsAre AnnouncedinIBM Employe Benefits

Improvements in a number of IBM employe benefit plans were announced Tuesday by IBM Chairman Thomas J. Watson Jr., in a telephone hook-up to the company's employes at Kingston and the more than 300 other locations throughout the country.

The improvements include an additional paid holiday and increased major medical and hospitalization coverage. A proposed increase in the IBM retirement plan, which is subject to approval of stockholders at the company's annual meeting April 24, also was announced.

With the additional holiday, IBM employes will receive nine paid holidays starting this year.

Coverage for each eligible member of an employe's family under the company's major medical plan was increased from $10,000 to $15,000. Hospitalization coverage was extended to include specified emergency medical care.

Also included in the improvements is an increase in life insurance coverage for retired employes and an improved vacation plan which recognizes age as well as length of service for employes who join the company at age 40 and above.

The increase in retirement income, which is based on length of service and earnings, would become effective May 1, 1962, if approved by the stockholders.

Urged to Take Action Now

Students Told Preparation Is Vital to Their Careers

Addressing an inaugural Career Day conference Tuesday at Kingston High School, Joseph E. Brill, New York City attorney, told students "You are now in the countdown stage, about to blast off on your careers."

The keynote speaker at the sessions sponsored by the Kingston Chapter and lodge of B'nai B'rith with the co-operation of the high school guidance department, was introduced by Mayor John J. Schwenk, who also was a speaker.

The theme of the conference was "Youth Seeks Its Place in the Space Age."

Must Take Advantages

"Prepare yourselves for 'Go' and may nothing hold you back," Brill said. "Will you be leaders or ditch diggers?" He advised the students to take advantage of the opportunities to prepare themselves in their own fields.

Mayor Schwenk told the group that some may be wondering why this effort was made in their behalf. "I know you don't realize how important you are to Kingston," the mayor said, "but believe it or not you are our future."

The mayor noted that factor was why B'nai B'rith and the high school administration joined together to present the career workshops.

28 Specialists Speak

The mayor stated that specialists from 28 trades and professions appeared to brief the students on various trades and professions, and why he appeared to voice his approval of the important undertaking.

"As juniors," the mayor said, "most of you are just a year and three months away from one of the most important crossroads in your lives, and you will soon have to reach a decision as to what you are going to do after your high school graduation."

Time Is Now

The mayor advised the group that now is the time for them to begin thinking of the future, and the effect their decision will have on the future of Kingston.

"I am very grateful to B'nai B'rith, one of our leading community service groups, for making it possible for you to base your choice on information straight from specialists in the various trades, businesses and professions, in which you have expressed an interest," the mayor said.

The mayor stated that he hopes Career Day will become an annual activity in Kingston.

500 Juniors There

The career conference provided 500 juniors the opportunity to hear and question representatives of professions or specialties drawn from a wide area including New York City, Washington and Albany.

The students were briefed by leaders in the various fields including police operations, arts and sciences, beauty culture, accounting, advertising, fashions, interior decorating, retail and wholesale business, management development, journalism, auto mechanics, agriculture, engineering, pathology, medical research, biology, public service, nursing, education, home economics and civil service.

Lauded by Sen. Keating

Guests and speakers attended luncheon prior to the conference sessions. Guests were welcomed by Dr. Herbert Derman, co-chairman of the project, who read a message from Senator Kenneth B. Keating congratulating B'nai B'rith on its achievement in offering the program.

M. Clifford Miller, principal of the Kingston High School, presented the program at the opening of the assembly.

Made Arrangements

Mrs. Arnold Pinsly and Dr. Derman were co-chairmen in charge of the conference. Mrs. Edwin Kalish headed the personnel committee, assisted by Herman Eaton, Dr. David Gerbarg, Mrs. Carl Lipton, Arnold Pinsly and Mrs. Stanley Wyman.

Mrs. Robert Ronder, chairman of programming and arrangements, was assisted by Carl Lipton, Mrs. Lewis Neporent, Mrs. Charles Ronder, Miss Blanche Kirschenblum, James Tobin.

The publicity committee included Mrs. Seymour Semilof, chairman; Jacob Chichelsky, Kurt Eisler, Herbert Gertner, Mrs. Leon Miller and Arthur Moak.

Colonial Stone Is To Ask Increase In Capital Shares

Colonial Sand & Stone Co. which has interest in the Hudson Cement Corp. of Steep Rocks, will ask shareholders to vote a sharp increase in authorized capital shares, a recent Wall Street Journal report noted.

The annual meeting is slated for April 18. Anthony Pope, president, declined to say whether the move foreshadows a stock split, and the journal quoted him as saying, "We just want to have it available."

Dollar Par to Continue

Management, through letters "proposed an increase in authorized shares to six million from 2.5 million. Par value will continue at $1 a share. Colonial Sand & Stone has 2,363,397 shares outstanding." The journal said Pope observed that Colonial barely had enough shares currently authorized to cover another five per cent stock dividend. In addition to cash, it paid five per cent in stock last year and in 1960.

The company is about 66 per cent owned by the Pope family and a foundation they set up.

Colonial, said the report, has not issued proxy material since Anthony Pope and his brother, Fortune, executive vice president, were indicted in 1960 on charges that they violated U. S. securities laws through misleading statements in 1956-1960 proxy statements, among other places.

Explanation

The journal report explained: "The brothers pleaded guilty to five counts of the indictment and no contest to five others. Two of the 12 counts were dismissed. The Government claimed that the misleading statements concealed certain transactions between companies owned by the Popes and Colonial Sand & Stone, through which the Popes allegedly diverted $379,000 from Colonial over a four-year period.

Agree on $400,817

"The Popes agreed to pay back $400,817 to Colonial in cash as well as 500 shares of stock in a small company they owned. In the 1961 annual report, Colonial Sand & Stone said that 1960 figures were restated to reflect these payments. "The revised statements include the accounts of certain companies not previously treated as subsidiaries," a short note to the annual report said. "These items and other accounting adjustments had the effect of increasing consolidated retained earnings at Jan. 1, 1960, by $201,946, decreasing consolidated net income for the year 1960 by $23,065, and increasing consolidated retained earnings and net assets at Dec. 31, 1960, ther explanation of these by $17,881." There was no further explanation of these changes."

Surgeon General Terry said, "Individual physicians and health officers will decide which of the two vaccines to use on the basis of their own appraisal of the special factors of their own practice or the circumstances within their own health jurisdictions."

Availability of the vaccines may be the determining factor, said Terry. The Salk vaccine is being turned out at a rate of 5 million to 6 million doses a month. Terry said it was too early to say when the oral vaccine will be produced in large quantities or how soon it will appear in substantial amounts in local outlets.

County 4-H Club members work on various projects, according to Miss Rice, and learn to excel through demonstration given in both local and district competitions. The winners sometimes advance through state contests at Syracuse to nation contests at Chicago.

Illustrating demonstration techniques were two well-trained 4-H members, Miss Genevieve Switz of Lomontville and John McCormack of St. Remy. Miss Switz gave a very skillful demonstration of apple pie making and Mr. McCormack presented a demonstration of "Facts About Fuses and Wires." Both young people held the attention and interest of their audience very well.

Argentine Troops

tinez was reported ready with a compromise that would keep Frondizi in office while giving the military a veto over his decrees.

Although the plan was not to be presented formally until later today, a military official confirmed that no service would accept any proposal to share the government responsibility with Frondizi.

The military official said the commander in chief of the army, Gen. Raul Poggi, had ordered "Plan 3"—the overthrow of Frondizi by force—executed at 7:30 a.m. The navy reportedly began plans to move. The army and air force reportedly requested a postponement until noon.

There was no immediate word from Frondizi, who went home from government house and presumably to bed after rejecting the military demand that he resign.

Defense Minister Martinez refused to tell newsmen the details of the president's compromise proposal, but its main point was believed to be that the secretaries of the army, navy and air force would be required by law to sign each presidential decree before it could take effect.

Sources said the plan called for Frondizi to ask Congress to give the service secretaries this power. But Frondizi cannot give assurances Congress will approve such a measure.

Another version of the compromise, less frequently mentioned, would have the presidential term cut from six to five years. Frondizi has already served four years.

May Change Government

Several morning newspapers said Argentina might take on a parliamentary form of government, reducing the presidency to a figurehead position and investing real powers in a prime minister.

The military submitted its combined demand for Frondizi's resignation early this morning after military commanders from all over the country flew to the capital to discuss the crisis touched off by sweeping Peronist election victories March 11.

The military ousted dictator Juan D. Peron in 1955 and is violently opposed to his return. It blames Frondizi for allowing the Peronists to run in the National Assembly and provincial elections in which they scored their victories.

Port Ewen Home Has Fire, Grass Keeps Vols Busy

Volunteer firemen continue to be kept on the jump battling brush and grass fires while the Port Ewen firemen Tuesday evening fought a fire on the second story of the residence property of Mrs. Mary Dempsey on Broadway, Port Ewen, across from the Grand Union Market.

About 6:30 p. m. Tuesday two pieces of apparatus were summoned to the Dempsey premises where a fire, apparently from an electric extension cord leading from a wall socket, had set fire to a mattress.

Chief Edward F. Mains reported damage confined to the mattress and bed and some slight damage to the floor of the bedroom. Water damage was held to a minimum. The burning mattress was carried from the apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Smith on the second floor. There was considerable smoke.

Assisting at the fire was Deputy Chiefs Cleon Jump and Wesley Clarke. Recall was sounded at 7:20 p. m.

Among the fire calls recorded by Mutual Aid Fire Control in Kingston was one at High Falls at 2:44 p. m. Tuesday, brush fire; Plattekill at 12:45 p. m. Tuesday, brush fire. Tillson-Rosendale fire companies respnoded to a call for a brush fire on Eltinge Road at 7:27 a. m. today with recall being sounded at 7:31 a. m.

Beware of Stock Plans That Guarantee Profits

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—"A salesman recently told my husband about a common stock plan in which by investing $40 a month we'd be guaranteed $10,000 at the end of ten years. We probably could afford $40 a month without undue strain. What do you think of the suggestion? D. K.

A—Buying stock on the installment plan or contractual basis has become very popular and, in general, I believe these plans fill a very real need. However, there is one thing you must be quite wary of—that big word "guaranteed."

No investment plan which is built on the values of common stocks can be guaranteed to be worth a given amount of dollars at a certain date, and any salesman who promises you such gains is, in my opinion being deliberately misleading.

At $40 a month, you will have contributed some $4,800 to the plan at the end of ten years. Now, based on past experience (the strong post-war bull market period of the 1950's), your money would have more than doubled if it had been kept in good stocks. However, the past is absolutely no guarantee of what will happen in the future, and to represent it as such is just not right.

Of course, comparisons using several different periods in prior years is helpful in coming to a decision, especially if both the up and down cycles of the market are included. I think it's fair to assume that an investment organization which has managed funds alertly throughout many kinds of markets will continue to be successful. Nevertheless, I would be careful not to assume that the record will repeat itself to the same extent.

Frankly, I'd avoid doing business with anyone who, whether directly or by inference, guarantees you profits in stocks.

Q—"I've been advised to buy Dow Chemical. What is your opinion?" C. A.

A—I'm afraid that I don't agree with this advice. Dow Chemical has shown little if any growth for several years. In my opinion, a better buy would be a forward-moving issue like National Starch (NYSE).

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Milk—Two bills designed to prevent price wars among milk retailers ran into opposition in the Senate and were tabled, perhaps for this session. The measures would prohibit price-cutting and increase the state agriculture commissioner's licensing authority.

Judges — The Senate approved and sent to the Assembly a bill to add three Supreme Court justices in the Eighth Judicial District, comprising Erie, Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua, Genesee, Niagara, Orleans and Wyoming counties. Another measure, given final legislative approval by the Senate, would increase from 10 to 12 the number of judges in the State Court of Claims.

A union official said the pickets would "do the passive resistance bit—that is, lie down in the streets if necessary."

The city Tuesday night seized 173 more of the company buses. The seizure was authorized early in the day by State Supreme Court Justice Peter A. Quinn, who allowed the city to take over six more routes.

The city previously had seized 1,400 buses and restored service on 65 routes in Manhattan and The Bronx.

The strike started March 1 when the company laid off 29 men as the first phase of 1,500 layoffs and cuts in service for economy.

The city, acting under authority granted by the State Legislature and with State Supreme Court permission, started seizing the company's franchises, buses, garages and other equipment last Wednesday night.

Truck Stuck in Mud

Troopers said Jones was inspecting erection of transmission lines for the Foley Construction Co., Red Hook, when he started to operate the power winch to pull his truck from mud in which it was stuck.

Jones' left arm became caught in the winch. His shouts for help atteracted several workmen on the project who rushed to assist him. When they reached the truck they found Jones on the ground.

A physician was summoned and Jones was given first aid. He died moments later.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) At 9 o'clock every night, Mary Beth Hughes makes her entrance wearing a bathing suit in a sexy farce called "Pajama Tops" at Legrand Theater.

At 8:15 every morning, she enters a Vermont Ave. doctor's office in nurse's white, beginning her full day as a surgical assistant.

The strange double life of Mary Beth Hughes comprises no hard luck story, as with Veronica Lake —discovered last week working as a cocktail waitress in New York. With Miss Hughes, it was a question of knowing what she wanted and going after it.

"The picture business has changed," said the actress, a 20-year veteran in films. "On the last three television films I worked on, the producers were former prop men.

"The directors were not just amateurs; they were incompetent amateurs.

"I felt the need of a change not merely because I didn't like how the business had changed. It was also economically unsound for me. Two years ago, I worked eight days in films during one year. I've got a 15-year-old son and a house to support; my expenses run $550 a month. I could not keep dipping into my resources."

She happened to meet a plastic surgeon at a cocktail party. He recommended an operation to remove smallpox and acne scars and lift drooping eyelids. She had it—"I don't mind admitting I had a face lift; it's good for business."

She urged the surgeon to give her a job. He tested her sincerity by asking her to accompany him on a couple of operations—a skin graft on the legs of a burned girl; removal of a cancer from the head of a 70-year-old.

Miss Hughes watched both with no adverse effects, and the surgeon hired her last October. She underwent hospital training and soon was assisting the surgeon in operations.

"Doctors and nurses tell me I am a natural," she said with unhidden pride. "I learn quickly and my reactions are right. Believe me, this gives me more satisfaction than anything I ever did in show business."

Fatum's Service To Continue in Six County Towns

Fatum's Ambulance Service will continue to operate in six towns until at least April 15, it was made known today.

Extension of service was sought by supervisors from the six townships involved and the request was granted by Francis Fatum of the local firm.

Meeting with Fatum at the Ulster County Court House Monday night were Supervisors Roger Mabie, Esopus; Charles Relyea, Hurley; George Leedke, Kingston; Lester S. Davis, Olive; Abram F. Molyneaux, Woodstock and Alexander J. Banyo, Ulster.

The extension was granted in order to give the supervisors an opportunity to discuss the matter with their respective town boards.

Fatum informed the six supervisors that he was reluctant to discontinue the service to their to...s and produced facts and figures to show that unless the towns contribute to such services, as the City of Kingston has done for the past several years, he would have to decrease personnel and equipment which would limit his activities to the city.

It was pointed out that all of the towns, except Hurley, would have regular town board meetings prior to the April 15 date. Supervisor Relyea said he would call a special meeting of his board before that date.

Special music will again be featured during the service under the direction of Mrs. Arthur T. Pedersen, church organist and choir director.

Swallows

Eating a 10-minute lunch, the average person apparently swallows 48 times, and he swallows 7 to 8 times during a full night's sleep.

Sitting and reading, 15 volunteers also averaged 34 swallows per hour, and 31 while lying down awake, reports Dr. Clement S. Lear of the Harvard School of Dental Medicine.

The reduced amount of swallowing during sleep, with little or no salivation, may affect the activity of mouth bacteria, Dr. Lear says.

Alcoholics and Social Drinking

A dictum among experts on alcoholism is that the confirmed alcoholic can never return to social drinking. Most times, one drink or a few drinks lead to destructive binges.

But this may not always be so, says Dr D. R. Davies, a British psychiatrist from London. He tells of seven men, out of 93 persons given limited psychiatric treatment, who were able to resume social drinking, and have been able to drink moderately for 7 to 11 years since then.

He gave his report in the quarterly Journal of Alcohol Studies, publication of the Rutgers Center of Alcohol Studies. The center recently moved to Rutgers from Yale University.

Twist Injuries

A physician accustomed to treating injuries suffered by football and basketball players in contact sports is puzzled over the knee injuries among teen-agers doing the twist, the acrobatic new dance craze.

Dr. Bernie P. Davis of Buffalo, N.Y., says he thinks the twist has an hypnotic influence on the performers, "so they are unaware of the hazards to themselves. Under normal conditions, when excessive strain is put on knee ligaments, they react with pain, and the person stops whatever is causing the pain. But in the twist, teen-agers seem to be hypnotized by music and rhythm and don't realize the strain they are putting on their knees."

Twist Injuries

A physician accustomed to treating injuries suffered by football and basketball players in contact sports is puzzled over the knee injuries among teen-agers doing the twist, the acrobatic new dance craze.

Dr. Bernie P. Davis of Buffalo, N.Y, says he thinks the twist has an hypnotic influence on the performers, "so they are unaware of the hazards to themselves. Under normal conditions, when excessive strain is put on knee ligaments, they react with pain, and the person stops whatever is causing the pain. But in the twist, teen-agers seem to be hypnotized by music and rhythm and don't realize the strain they are putting on their knees."

Why We Say--

KITCHEN ITEM: This fairly common expression refers to love inspired purely by considerations of what comes out of the cupboard and onto the table. The cupboard, incidentally, is derived from a side board used for keeping cups. It gradually became a kitchen closet with shelves.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel wage talks are seen by most businessmen as the immediate clue to whether the American economy can achieve full prosperity in the months ahead.

Hopes are high today that a pact is in the making that won't set off another wage-price hike throughout industry.

Must Work Two Ways

Terms would have to include a wage hike that would satisfy the steel workers' desire for a bigger share of goodies from productivity advances in the industry and give them some sense of job security.

The hike would have to be moderate enough to keep steel prices from shooting upward, much as managment would like to sweeten profit returns. The Kennedy administration has come out strongly against price increases.

And the settlement would have to be in a range that would convince steel users (as well as the government). Otherwise they might rush in orders now in fear of creeping price raises later. Such a boom-bust cycle of orders would do the whole economy considerable harm.

The economy today is in a position to move ahead, in the opinion of the economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York. In their "Business in Brief" review, out today, they state with true banker moderation: "A noninflationary settlement would contribute significantly to the economy's well-being."

Users Hold Down Orders

Steel users have been holding down their orders since labor talks resumed at Pittsburgh. Auto makers and steel warehouses are reported to have pretty well taken care of their foreseeable needs in the first spurt of ordering early in the year when many consumers feared a strike or higher prices.

Some steel companies have built up a stock of certain products and can meet new orders in normal fashion. Beyond this they have more productive facilities to call upon if orders justify, so few of the smaller users have felt any great urge to load themselves down with expensive inventories.

However, the metalworking trade weekly, The Iron Age, says today that unless there is "a valid indication that a settlement is near," there will soon be a second wave of steel inventory buying.

An agreement would kill this quickly and the weekly predicts that "either signing of a new contract or intervention by the government would send the market into a sharp trough."

Steel management spokesmen are much more moderate in their predictions, calling the present market largely tied to real demand.

During the month-long campaign volunteers will call on friends and neighbors with the double-barrelled objective of saving lives now as well as in the future, the co-chairmen said.

The city goal this year is $9,500. Canvassers will distribute educational booklets noting the seven danger signals of cancer and a medicine chest sticker listing the danger signals.

First Liberal Arts Degrees Are Due at Oneonta in 1964

The first liberal arts degrees to be granted by the State University College at Oneonta will be awarded in June 1964, Milon J. Bundy, director of admissions for the college, announced.

Bundy said that students with approximately two years of college credit will be admitted to the Oneonta State University unit next fall. He explained that these students may come from two or four-year college programs at other institutions, completing reqirements for the bachelor of arts degree at Oneonta by the June 1964 graduation date.

The liberal arts program for an entering freshman class will begin in September 1964, the college official said.

A total of 12 major fields of specialization to be offered by the Oneonta college will be: art, literature, speech and drama, mathematics, biology, chemistry, physics, earth science, geography, history, economics and political science.

Tuition charges for New York State residents, enrolled in a full-time liberal arts program, will be $162.50 a semester or $325 a year. Non-residents will pay $202.50 tuition a semester or $405 a year. No tuition is charged now for those preparing to teach.

Bundy pointed out that the Scholarship Incentive Program will be available to students registering in the liberal arts study.

Requirements Outlined

Admission requirements for the bachelor of arts degree work include graduation from an approved secondary school with 16 units, drawn from the usual college preparatory subjects of English, mathematics, foreign language, science and social science. September 1962 transfer students must have completed two years of successful college work approximating two years of study in the humanities, social science, mathematics and science and physical education.

Basic requirements for the liberal arts degree total 128 semester hours of credit, received in the humanities, social science, mathematics and science, physical education, a major field specialization and elective courses.

The admissions director reported that each applicant, accepted for September 1962 enrollment, will be provided with an evaluation of his completed college work, plus a projection of course work to be completed at the SUNY unit. He added, "All applicants who have completed the application procedure, not including the State University admissions examination, by April 1, 1962 will receive a completed evaluation and a projection of future course work by May 1, 1962.

Is in Master Plan

The addition of liberal arts program to the curriculum of the State University College at Oneonta follows one of the recommendations of the much publicized Heald Committee Report and is included in the State University Master Plan. The latter study sets up a timetable for enlarging the scope of the State University of New York to meet the increasing needs in higher education.

The Oneonta college granted its first bachelor of science in education degrees in June 1942, when the college became the State Teachers College (STC). Prior to that date, two-year and then three-year programs were offered in teacher education.

It is estimated that over 2,100 students will be enrolled for full-time class work this fall. Enrollment for the current academic year stands at 1,960.

Hit the Right Pole

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — When bus driver Raymond Garrett of Birmingham struck a power pole here, electric power board officials were grateful that he was so selective. They explained that the pole he hit was one of 800 among the 30,000 in the city that could fall over without a power failure.

Modern Dance Group At Paltz College On Thursday Night

The Dancemakers, the only professional modern dance company in Massachusetts, will perform at the State University College at New Paltz on March 29 and 30 at 8:30 p. m. in the auditorium. Tickets are on sale in the College Bookstore.

Two new works will be included in the concert: "Ecstasia" and "Azure Strands."

The dances on the program cover a wide range of styles within the modern dance idiom. The other dances to be presented are "Adolescent Suite," "Medieval Dirge," Construction II," "Decursus," "Hollywood Carnival," "Span," and "Dancer's Dream." The performers in the company are Martha Baird, Director, Susan Dowling, Virginia Olney, Gus Solomons, Jr., and Shannon Theobald.

Kevin Kelly of The Boston Globe wrote last June of The Dancemakers: "They were no less than a sensation . . . In the . . . art of modern dance which is too often practiced by dancers who have . . . limited expression of dead seriousness, The Dancemakers are a heartening discovery. While their approach is unquestionably serious, it is not limited in concept or execution. They are young vigorous, highly talented, and superbly disciplined. They seem to move with an inner compulsion that defies their being individually as well as collectively . . . The Dancemakers are the finest young dance company Boston has seen in a long while. They honor the Arts Festival."

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Defiant Lie Is Sign of Child's Inner Struggle

Thirteen-year-old George and his younger brother had been indulging in secret smoking in the basement.

One day as George reached for the package of cigarettes they kept hidden behind some empty jelly glasses, he knocked several down. When his mother rushed to the cellar to demand what he was up to, he said "Miss Hymes told me to bring an old jelly glass to school to use for a painting glass in art class." But his younger brother told the truth. Conscience-stricken, he surrendered the cigarettes and showed her where they had been hidden.

George did not join him in confession. For two days, sullen and defiant, he insisted that he had not been seeking cigarettes but the pleasure of his teacher. Finally, after an angry scene with him, his father said, "All right. If you don't tell the truth to me right now, tomorrow I will call your school, speak to Miss Hymes—and prove that you have lied."

George told the truth.

As a result his parents felt great relief they could again regard themselves as fine, responsible parents.

But were they?

I don't think so. I think that they behaved like selfish and irresponsible parents.

But then I believe that the victory over a lie a child has told us belongs to him and to nobody else. I see that victory as earned by him as the result of struggle with himself. So to me the parents who forced the truth from George seem selfish and irresponsible. In my opinion, they had no more right to deprive him of the moral victory that belonged to him than they had to cut short the struggle that he was waging with himself.

What' more, it was foolish of them.

For so deprived of his moral struggle and its victory, George soon lied again. He has learned to lie more skillfully, not only about smoking but about where he goes and what he does after school. Only now he lies blandly, smoothly, without that sullen defiance which was the evidence of moral indecision.

We make the mistake of wrenching truth out of children because we are blind to the signs of moral indecision. When you and I can't decide what's right to do, we, like the child who has lied, become irritable, touchy or withdrawn into ourselves. Our restlessness means we are working out the struggle to decision. But somehow, though we are very quick to register the signs of bodily struggle in a child who develops fever and chest congestion, we are slower to register the symptoms of conflict between the wish to tell the truth and the fear of telling it.

Once they become visible to us, wo don't worry about the defiant lie. We only worry when the lie is told to us blandly — and the battle is over. It's then when falsehood has won.

And the settlement would have to be in a range that would convince steel users (as well as the government). Otherwise they might rush in orders now in fear of creeping price raises later. Such a boom-bust cycle of orders would do the whole economy considerable harm.

The economy today is in a position to move ahead, in the opinion of the economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York. In their "Business in Brief" review, out today, they state with true banker moderation: "A noninflationary settlement would contribute significantly to the economy's well-being."

Users Hold Down Orders

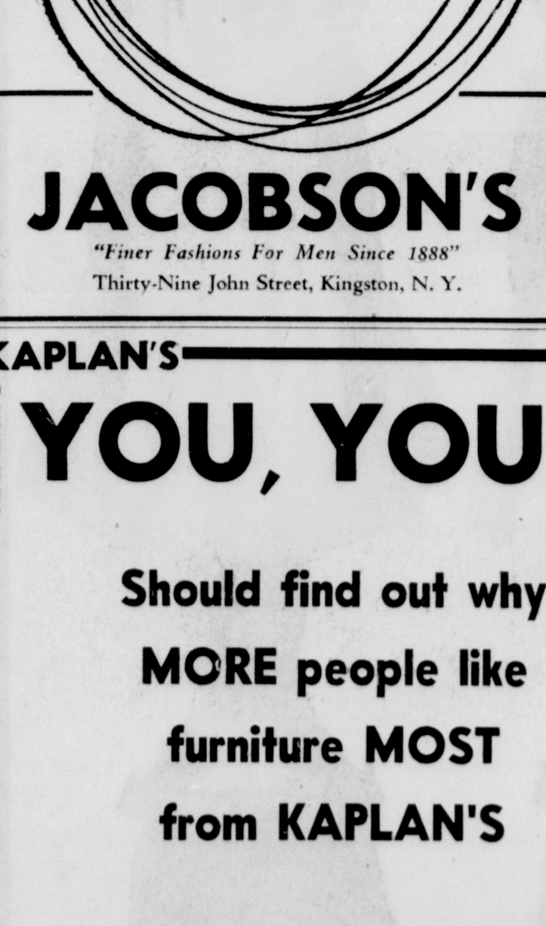

Steel users have been holding down their orders since labor talks resumed at Pittsburgh. Auto makers and steel warehouses are reported to have pretty well taken care of their foreseeable needs in the first spurt of ordering early in the year when many consumers feared a strike or higher prices.

Some steel companies have built up a stock of certain products and can meet new orders in normal fashion. Beyond this they have more productive facilities to call upon if orders justify, so few of the smaller users have felt any great urge to load themselves down with expensive inventories.

However, the metalworking trade weekly, The Iron Age, says today that unless there is "a valid indication that a settlement is near," there will soon be a second wave of steel inventory buying.

An agreement would kill this quickly and the weekly predicts that "either signing of a new contract or intervention by the government would send the market into a sharp trough."

Steel management spokesmen are much more moderate in their predictions, calling the present market largely tied to real demand.

First Liberal Arts Degrees Are Due at Oneonta in 1964

The first liberal arts degrees to be granted by the State University College at Oneonta will be awarded in June 1964, Milon J. Bundy, director of admissions for the college, announced.

Bundy said that students with approximately two years of college credit will be admitted to the Oneonta State University unit next fall. He explained that these students may come from two or four-year college programs at other institutions, completing reqirements for the bachelor of arts degree at Oneonta by the June 1964 graduation date.

The liberal arts program for an entering freshman class will begin in September 1964, the college official said.

A total of 12 major fields of specialization to be offered by the Oneonta college will be: art, literature, speech and drama, mathematics, biology, chemistry, physics, earth science, geography, history, economics and political science.

Tuition charges for New York State residents, enrolled in a full-time liberal arts program, will be $162.50 a semester or $325 a year. Non-residents will pay $202.50 tuition a semester or $405 a year. No tuition is charged now for those preparing to teach.

Bundy pointed out that the Scholarship Incentive Program will be available to students registering in the liberal arts study.

Requirements Outlined

Admission requirements for the bachelor of arts degree work include graduation from an approved secondary school with 16 units, drawn from the usual college preparatory subjects of English, mathematics, foreign language, science and social science. September 1962 transfer students must have completed two years of successful college work approximating two years of study in the humanities, social science, mathematics and science and physical education.

Basic requirements for the liberal arts degree total 128 semester hours of credit, received in the humanities, social science, mathematics and science, physical education, a major field specialization and elective courses.

The admissions director reported that each applicant, accepted for September 1962 enrollment, will be provided with an evaluation of his completed college work, plus a projection of course work to be completed at the SUNY unit. He added, "All applicants who have completed the application procedure, not including the State University admissions examination, by April 1, 1962 will receive a completed evaluation and a projection of future course work by May 1, 1962.

Is in Master Plan

The addition of liberal arts program to the curriculum of the State University College at Oneonta follows one of the recommendations of the much publicized Heald Committee Report and is included in the State University Master Plan. The latter study sets up a timetable for enlarging the scope of the State University of New York to meet the increasing needs in higher education.

The Oneonta college granted its first bachelor of science in education degrees in June 1942, when the college became the State Teachers College (STC). Prior to that date, two-year and then three-year programs were offered in teacher education.

It is estimated that over 2,100 students will be enrolled for full-time class work this fall. Enrollment for the current academic year stands at 1,960.

Hit the Right Pole

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — When bus driver Raymond Garrett of Birmingham struck a power pole here, electric power board officials were grateful that he was so selective. They explained that the pole he hit was one of 800 among the 80,000 in the city that could fall over without a power failure.

We The Women

Make Time to Develop Interests Close to Heart

One of the housewife's loudest laments is that she doesn't have time to develop her own interests. So she is forever talking about all of the fascinating things she is going to do when the children get older, or when she has more money, or when she isn't quite so involved in women's clubs and organizations.

The trouble with that kind of procrastination is that a woman can let the years fly by and never "find" time for the things she would really like to do.

Women who develop their own talents and interests and therefore find life exciting don't expect to "find" time for themselves. They know it is never going to be left over from the day's demands.

So instead of just talking about what they would like to do and putting it off from month to month and year to year they get busy and organize their time, alloting a certain amount of it to themselves.

Then they are stingy with their own time. They don't squander it on puttering or reluctantly spend it on group activities that have no real meaning for them just because it is so much easier to say "Yes" than "No" when asked to join this group of that.

They ask themselves the important question: "What do I most want to do with the time I have to spend exactly as I please?"

They use their free time for the thing that seems most important to them, not for something someone else wants them to do or tells them is important.

So if you are still talking about what you are going to do "when," you should realize that "when" will never come unless you "make" time for your main interests. It's a cinch you'll never "find" the time.

Value Your Loyalty

Dear Kathy: We have an honor system at school which works very well. My problem is the fact that I have a friend who asks me to cover up for him. He never does anything really bad but he's always getting into little scrapes. I feel guilty if I don't stand by him because I think it's important to be loyal, but I feel guilty because I know it adds up to cheating.

I've been in trouble with my parents and the school a couple of times because of this, even though I haven't done anything wrong myself. I mean to do the right thing by everyone but the harder I try, the more complicated things seem to get. What is the answer?—J.T.C.

Dear J.T.C.: One of the difficult things in growing up is realizing that choosing between right and wrong isn't always as simple as you thought when you were a child. This situation isn't as complicated as you think. You are placing so much emphasis on a false loyalty that you are forgetting about a great many worthwhile standards.

Place yourself in this boy's situation. Would you expect to be shielded from the consequences of misbehaving by a friend who was an innocent bystander? Imagine that this person might unjustly get into trouble. I think you'd feel selfish and guilty, too especially if he had to sacrifice his ideals in order to help. Wouldn't you be a coward if you didn't take the blame yourself? I'll bet you'd decide to accept the punishment rather than involve a friend.

You talk about loyalty, but how is this boy being loyal? His idea of "standing by" seems to be literally standing by while you solve his problems. Someone ought to remind him that fighting his own battles is a worthy aim. Being afraid to face the blame for trouble he caused adds up to being a sissy. The next time he gets into hot water, let him simmer alone.

Teen-agers: Please send your personal problems to Kathy Peterson in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Jenkins Memorial Award

At a recent meeting of the P-TA Council, Kingston Schools Consolidated, two local people were recipients of the Jenkins Memorial Award, life memberships in the New York Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The P-TA of School No. 7 joined with the Council in presenting their award. The recipients were Mrs. Carl Weber, teacher at School No. 7, and Dr. Henry Lambert Bibby of Kingston.

Mrs. Weber has taught at School No. 7 since 1917. In making the presentation to her, Mrs. Frieda Dingee, principal of the school said, "We are honoring her tonight, not for her long years of service but for her years of quality service. Mrs. Weber has aided in many fund raising activities of the P-TA and has given many hours of service for school musicals.

Dr. Bibby has been a pediatrician in Kingston since 1931. He has devoted his medical life to children. He attended College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, and spent more than two years at German Hospital, now Lenox Hill Hospital. After a year at New York Foundling Hospital, he served as assistant pediatrician at Vanderbilt Clinic Babies Hospital. During World War I he served with the U. S. Army Ambulance Service when he was commissioned a major and received the Croix de Guerre. His medical career after the war has been marked with distinction and outstanding service. In Kingston, Dr. Bibby has directed the well-baby clinic founded and sponsored by the Junior League.

He also conducted the Child Health Clinic here and nine others during World War II. In 1950, Dr. Bibby was elected president of the United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County and served in that capacity for nine years. He is now chairman of the Board, co-chairman of the Medical Advisory Committee of New York State and a representative director, United Cerebral Palsy Associations Inc. Dr. Bibby is a life member of the American Academy of Pediatrics and the New York Academy of Medicine. The New York Medical Society presented him with a certificate for 50 years of practice.

Among those who paid tribute to Dr. Bibby were Mrs. Robert MacKinnon, president of the Junior League; Mrs. Charlotte Peck, director, Cerebral Palsy in Kingston; Rabbi Herbert Bloom, a director of the C. P. Center; Miss Mary Keresman, executive secretary, Cerebral Palsy; Dr. Elbert MacFadden Jr., and Mrs. Martin Oberkirsch.

A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Thomas Maines. The P-TA of the Myron J. Michael School served refreshments.

The pledge to the flag was given by members of Cub Pack 13, sponsored by the P-TA of School No. 7.

Modern Dance Group At Paltz College On Thursday Night

The Dancemakers, the only professional modern dance company in Massachusetts, will perform at the State University College at New Paltz on March 29 and 30 at 8:30 p. m. in the auditorium. Tickets are on sale in the College Bookstore.

Two new works will be included in the concert: "Ecstasia" and "Azure Strands."

The dances on the program cover a wide range of styles within the modern dance idiom. The other dances to be presented are "Adolescent Suite," "Medieval Dirge," Construction II," "Decursus," "Hollywood Carnival," "Span," and "Dancer's Dream." The performers in the company are Martha Baird, Director, Susan Dowling, Virginia Olney, Gus Solomons, Jr., and Shannon Theobald.

Kevin Kelly of The Boston Globe wrote last June of The Dancemakers: "They were no less than a sensation . . . In the . . . art of modern dance which is too often practiced by dancers who have . . . limited expression of dead seriousness, The Dancemakers are a heartening discovery. While their approach is unquestionably serious, it is not limited in concept or execution. They are young vigorous, highly talented, and superbly disciplined. They seem to move with an inner compulsion that defies their being individually as well as collectively . . . The Dancemakers are the finest young dance company Boston has seen in a long while. They honor the Arts Festival."

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Defiant Lie Is Sign of Child's Inner Struggle

Thirteen-year-old George and his younger brother had been indulging in secret smoking in the basement.

One day as George reached for the package of cigarettes they kept hidden behind some empty jelly glasses, he knocked several down. When his mother rushed to the cellar to demand what he was up to, he said "Miss Hymes told me to bring an old jelly glass to school to use for a painting glass in art class." But his younger brother told the truth. Conscience-stricken, he surrendered the cigarettes and showed her where they had been hidden.

George did not join him in confession. For two days, sullen and defiant, he insisted that he had not been seeking cigarettes but the pleasure of his teacher. Finally, after an angry scene with him, his father said, "All right. If you don't tell the truth to me right now, tomorrow I will call your school, speak to Miss Hymes —and prove that you have lied."

George told the truth.

As a result his parents felt great relief they could again regard themselves as fine, responsible parents.

But were they?

I don't think so. I think that they behaved like selfish and irresponsible parents.

But then I believe that the victory over a lie a child has told us belongs to him and to nobody else. I see that victory as earned by him as the result of struggle with himself. So to me the parents who forced the truth from George seem selfish and irresponsible. In my opinion, they had no more right to deprive him of the moral victory that belonged to him than they had to cut short the struggle that he was waging with himself.

What' more, it was foolish of them.

For so deprived of his moral struggle and its victory, George soon lied again. He has learned to lie more skillfully, not only about smoking but about where he goes and what he does after school. Only now he lies blandly, smoothly, without that sullen defiance which was the evidence of moral indecision.

We make the mistake of wrenching truth out of children because we are blind to the signs of moral indecision. When you and I can't decide what's right to do, we, like the child who has lied, become irritable, touchy or withdrawn into ourselves. Our restlessness means we are working out the struggle to decision. But somehow, though we are very quick to register the signs of bodily struggle in a child who develops fever and chest congestion, we are slower to register the symptoms of conflict between the wish to tell the truth and the fear of telling it.

Once they become visible to us, wo don't worry about the defiant lie. We only worry when the lie is told to us blandly — and the battle is over. It's then when falsehood has won.

GUESS HER WEIGHT

This is the same girl on the same day in practically the same dress. On the left she wears a regular size 14. On the right you see her in a Chubbette size 10½. Vive la difference! Many many girls are unaware of how much Chubbette can do for their figures and morale. Just a few extra pounds makes them hard-to-fit in regular sizes. Chubbette Fashions, on the other hand, are designed by Gidding to make girls from 6 to 16 look slimmer and enjoy the deep-down, thoroughly feminine happiness that comes from looking pretty. How much does the girl in the picture weigh? In a Chubbette it no longer matters.

Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — Col. Spencer Cosby, 94, who directed planting of Washington's famed Japanese cherry trees in Potomac Park 50 years ago, died Tuesday after a brief illness. Cosby was military aide to former President William Howard Taft when the mayor of Tokyo offered the gift trees to the people of Washington. Cosby, who was born in Baltimore, retired from the Army in 1928.

Geneva Gets Two Arms Cut Ideas

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

GENEVA (AP)—Foreign Minister Antonio Segni of Italy today put forward a four-point program of partial disarmament beginning with an agreement prohibiting the use of outer space for military purposes.

The 17-nation disarmament conference also received a memorandum from Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki outlining his five-year-old proposal for a nuclear-free zone through the heartland of Europe. He called for a limitation of armaments as well as a ban on nuclear weapons in West and East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Segni told the conference the need now is for confidence-building agreements to serve as a prelude to a bigger program of general and complete disarmament.

The Italian's four-point program called for:

1. An agreement to prohibit the use of outer space for military purposes.

2. An early cutoff of nuclear weapon production, leading to the gradual destruction of stockpiles, and the creation of a uranium bank for peaceful uses.

3. Action to guard against accidental war or surprise attack.

4. Adoption of measures to break down "the wall of misunderstanding that separates" East and West and thus restore a psychological climate of trust.

Segni's program was in line with proposals to the conference by other Western leaders, including U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Canadian Foreign Minister Howard C. Green.

World air passenger traffic is expected to set new records during 1962.

Ulster Vols Talk Of Lake Katrine In Fire District

Extension of Ulster Hose, No. 5, Town of Ulster, Fire District to include the Lake Katrine Protective District which is now served by Ulster No. 5, was discussed at the regular monthly meeting of Ulster Hose Monday evening.

The purpose of consolidation of the protection district with the present Fire District is due to the growth of the area. It was the feeling of company members that the extended protection is going to be needed in the near future.

Further Study Due

Members of the company presented the question of not hearing the fire siren in case of a fire. The question of rearranging sirens was tabled due to the possibility of consilidating the Lake Katrine Protection District with District No. 5 The matter will be given further study.

Ulster Hose No. 5 is making plans for its 15th annual fair. Chairman Harry Lowe, and his committee, which includes Paul Werner, Nick Valenzano, Orval Klomp, Hillery Schultz, Joseph Senor and Lewis Every, have begun elaborate plans for the fair which will be held in the summer.

Chief Joseph Senor reported two fires during the past two weeks, one at the residence of Paul Mula which was a shed completely demolished and a trash and grass fire at the St. James Motel.

Among the events scheduled for the company is the Resuscitator Class from 10 to 11:30 a. m. Saturday, March 31, and Sunday, April 1, a pumper training course at the Phelan & Cahill dock on East Strand from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. Fire Chief Joseph Senor asks that all members of the company be on hand for the pumper training course.

There will be an officer meeting Monday night, April 2, at the firehouse.

Lists Three Parades

Ulster Hose Company No. 5 will participate in three parade activities during the summer months, one at the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Convention in Tarrytown on June 23; the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Convention parade at Port Ewen July 21 and the company will also travel to Ellenville in September to participate in the Ellenville village parade. A drum corps from Danbury, Conn., has been engaged to supply parade music.

Herbert Herdman was elected parade marshall of the company. His duties will be to arrange for all parades of the company.

Fall-out detection instruments supplied through Civil Defense, were presented to the company by Edward Fishang. A class will be held for instruction in use of this equipment so that members may be qualified to use them. This instruction will be given by Fishang.

Stang to Address Lloyd Republican Friday, April 6

Audrey Gregorio, District 3 vice president of the Lloyd Republican Club has announced that Attorney Fred Stang, former Kingston mayor, will be the guest speaker at the next regular monthly meeting of the club on Friday, April 6. at Masonic Lodge Hall, Main Street, Highland, at 8 p. m.

Attorney Stang will speak on the organization and structure of the Republican Central Committee including the many varied problems and jobs that face a party committeeman.

The former Kingson mayor has a very active background in the field of politics. He served on the Shawangunk Town Board of Supervisors, assistant county district attorney, Ulster County attorney, and has been a key figure in county Republican affairs.

The guest speaker was one of the early originators of the Town of Lloyd Republican Club having been an active worker with the late Assemblyman John F. Wadlin of Highland.

Vice President Gregorio has stated that a short business meeting will precede the speaking program. Mrs. Theodore Schunk is refreshment chairman for this meeting.

Because of attorney Stang's popularity as an interesting and well-informed speaker, a good attendance is anticipated. All enrolled Republicans are urged to attend in order that they may hear the important part the committeeman plays in the workings of a political party.

We The Women

Make Time to Develop Interests Close to Heart

One of the housewife's loudest laments is that she doesn't have time to develop her own interests. So she is forever talking about all of the fascinating things she is going to do when the children get older, or when she has more money, or when she isn't quite so involved in women's clubs and organizations.

The trouble with that kind of procrastination is that a woman can let the years fly by and never "find" time for the things she would really like to do.

Women who develop their own talents and interests and therefore find life exciting don't expect to "find" time for themselves. They know it is never going to be left over from the day's demands.

So instead of just talking about what they would like to do and putting it off from month to month and year to year they get busy and organize their time, alloting a certain amount of it to themselves.

Then they are stingy with their own time. They don't squander it on puttering or reluctantly spend it on group activities that have no real meaning for them just because it is so much easier to say "Yes" than "No" when asked to join this group of that.

They ask themselves the important question: "What do I most want to do with the time I have to spend exactly as I please?"

They use their free time for the thing that seems most important to them, not for something someone else wants them to do or tells them is important.

So if you are still talking about what you are going to do "when," you should realize that "when" will never come unless you "make" time for your main interests. It's a cinch you'll never "find" the time.

Jenkins Memorial Award

At a recent meeting of the P-TA Council, Kingston Schools Consolidated, two local people were recipients of the Jenkins Memorial Award, life memberships in the New York Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The P-TA of School No. 7 joined with the Council in presenting their award. The recipients were Mrs. Carl Weber, teacher at School No. 7, and Dr. Henry Lambert Bibby of Kingston.

Mrs. Weber has taught at School No. 7 since 1917. In making the presentation to her, Mrs. Frieda Dingee, principal of the school said, "We are honoring her tonight, not for her long years of service but for her years of quality service. Mrs. Weber has aided in many fund raising activities of the P-TA and has given many hours of service for school musicals.

Dr. Bibby has been a pediatrician in Kingston since 1931. He has devoted his medical life to children. He attended College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, and spent more than two years at German Hospital, now Lenox Hill Hospital. After a year at New York Foundling Hospital, he served as assistant pediatrician at Vanderbilt Clinic Babies Hospital. During World War I he served with the U. S. Army Ambulance Service when he was commissioned a major and received the Croix de Guerre. His medical career after the war has been marked with distinction and outstanding service. In Kingston, Dr. Bibby has directed the well-baby clinic founded and sponsored by the Junior League.

He also conducted the Child Health Clinic here and nine others during World War II. In 1950, Dr. Bibby was elected president of the United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County and served in that capacity for nine years. He is now chairman of the Board, co-chairman of the Medical Advisory Committee of New York State and a representative director, United Cerebral Palsy Associations Inc. Dr. Bibby is a life member of the American Academy of Pediatrics and the New York Academy of Medicine. The New York Medical Society presented him with a certificate for 50 years of practice.

Among those who paid tribute to Dr. Bibby were Mrs. Robert MacKinnon, president of the Junior League; Mrs. Charlotte Peck, director, Cerebral Palsy in Kingston; Rabbi Herbert Bloom, a director of the C. P. Center; Miss Mary Keresman, executive secretary, Cerebral Palsy; Dr. Elbert MacFadden Jr., and Mrs. Martin Oberkirsch.

A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Thomas Maines. The P-TA of the Myron J. Michael School served refreshments.

The pledge to the flag was given by members of Cub Pack 13, sponsored by the P-TA of School No. 7.

Value Your Loyalty

Dear Kathy: We have an honor system at school which works very well. My problem is the fact that I have a friend who asks me to cover up for him. He never does anything really bad but he's always getting into little scrapes. I feel guilty if I don't stand by him because I think it's important to be loyal, but I feel guilty because I know it adds up to cheating.

I've been in trouble with my parents and the school a couple of times because of this, even though I haven't done anything wrong myself. I mean to do the right thing by everyone but the harder I try, the more complicated things seem to get. What is the answer?—J.T.C.

Dear J.T.C.: One of the difficult things in growing up is realizing that choosing between right and wrong isn't always as simple as you thought when you were a child. This situation isn't as complicated as you think. You are placing so much emphasis on a false loyalty that you are forgetting about a great many worthwhile standards.

Place yourself in this boy's situation. Would you expect to be shielded from the consequences of misbehaving by a friend who was an innocent bystander? Imagine that this person might unjustly get into trouble. I think you'd feel selfish and guilty, too especially if he had to sacrifice his ideals in order to help. Wouldn't you be a coward if you didn't take the blame yourself? I'll bet you'd decide to accept the punishment rather than involve a friend.

You talk about loyalty, but how is this boy being loyal? His idea of "standing by" seems to be literally standing by while you solve his problems. Someone ought to remind him that fighting his own battles is a worthy aim. Being afraid to face the blame for trouble he caused adds up to being a sissy. The next time he gets into hot water, let him simmer alone.

Teen-agers: Please send your personal problems to Kathy Peterson in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Williams Answers Saugerties Jaycees' Water Supply Study

Recommendations approved by Saugerties Town Board and listed in a survey report of a consulting engineer firm would solve many of the problems cited in the water sources report of Saugerties Junior Chamber of Commerce, released this week, Supervisor Peter M. Williams said today.

A survey has been made by Brinnier & Larios, consulting engineers of Kingston in June 1961 and specific recommendations have been made to the Town Board by the engineers, he said.

The Town Board carefully weighed these recommendations and has authorized the engineers to proceed with the preparation of contract drawings for the first phase of these improvements.

Recommendations

The report of June 21, 1961 recommended:

Access head loses through the existing meter connection at the village line should be eliminated by removal of the altitude valve and back pressure value.

A parallel meter and check valve arrangement should be installed to further decrease friction losses.

An altitude valve should be placed on the Glasco standpipe or tank to prevent overflow. The Town Board has authorized the engineers to proceed with the above as soon as permission is granted by the Village Board.

Still under consideration by the Town Board is the recommendation for reinforcement of the main feeder lines with a 12-inch main along Route 9W from the tank to Manor Lane and a 10-inch main tied in loop through the existing sub-divisions of Barclay Heights and Dutch Settlement.

Would Check Water Sources

The engineers also suggested that an engineering investigation of the water sources available to the Saugerties-Glasco area should be authorized as soon as possible. This investigation should include a study of the existing supply and other possible sources. The study would also include the future demands of the combined Glasco-Saugerties system.

The entire project would solve the situation in so far as present sources allow, the engineers allow, Williams said.

Regarding the Jaycees water sources report, Supervisor Williams said, "Action by the governing body is necessary where all residents of the township are affected by a water shortage. From the report it is assumed that the problem, if there is a problem, lies in the supply of the Glasco Water District.

Have Own Departments

"Residents in Mt. Marion Park and the Village of Saugerties have their own water departments. Other town residents secure water by pumping deep or shallow wells located on their own properties. If water is actually in short supply in the Glasco District, embracing Barclay Heights, then resident taxpayers of that district may petition the Town Board and the board can authorize, after a hearing, that a survey of the area be made by an engineering firm. The cost would be borne by the taxpayers of Glasco Water District.

"The engineering firm may recommend that filtering of Hudson River water is necessary and will draw plans for a filtering plant, establishing approximate costs. The same would hold true if the engineers recommend the use of artesian wells for additional water supply.

It's Case of Bond Issue

"When the costs are known and the additional tax rate established, district residents, after a public hearing, may vote on the question. If they approve the proposal, a bond issue may be floated by Glasco Water District for the cost of the new system."

"The town cannot propose a town-wide water supply system which would greatly increase the tax rate burden and cause hardship to those living on fixed incomes, when the alleged water shortage problem exists only in one part of the township and affects only a small segment of the population."

The year-long study of water sources and needs in the Town and Village of Saugerties, conducted by Saugerties Junior Chamber of Commerce culminated this week with the release of a report embracing the findings of the committe. The report follows:

"The Town and Village of Saugerties have been filled with charge and countercharge over the last few years concerning the condition of the water supply available to each part of the township.

Jaycees Hold Survey

" Saugerties Jaycees appointed a committee a year ago, and after consulting with appropriate village and town official, have compiled the following information.

"1. The Village of Saugerties owns and operated the Saugerties water supply.

"2. A total of 1,800,000 gallons per day may be drawn from the reservoir at Blue Mountain which may not be exceeded because of a riparian rights suit brought against the village.

"3. The village uses 720,000 gallons per day and Glasco Water District, 140,000 for a total daily usage of 860,000 gallons.

"4. The peak usage is 1,400,000 gallons per day.

"5. The cost of water to the consumer is estimated as 47 cents per 1,000 gallons for the village and 50 cents per 1,000 gallons for Glasco Water District users.

$6. The recommended capacity for a reservoir is 1,800,000 gallons per day. Also other sources report the capacity as 30,000,000 to 150,000,000 gallons." (Edit. note: This would depend on the source. Blue Mountain Reservoir receives a steady flow from a stream which feeds the reservoir. The capacity can be changed by the number of planks placed on the dam.)

"7. The capacity of the Blue Mountain Reservoir which feeds the Saugerties system is 10,000,000 to 14,000,000 gallons.

"8. Wells or the Hudson River are additional sources available for the Town of Saugerties.

"9. There is a contract between the village and town which governs the purchase of water for Glasco Water District. The village has complete control of the water supply as long as they comply with the County Health Department.

"10. The town has been notified that future developments or industry may have to provide their own water supply.

"In addition to these facts, a report prepared for the Town Board by an engineering firm shows that the existing system in the Glasco Water District can just barely meet the daily domestic demands and has little flexibility for fire flows.

"Elimination of loss of pressure through the metering system at the town line and reinforcing of the existing system is necessary to eliminate low pressure and assure adequate flow during periods of peak usage and fire flows.

"It is certainly fair that the village insure its growth by retaining adequate water resources. The town of Saugerties has the problem and must solve it.

Committee Exists

"A delegation of Jaycees attended the Saugerties Town Board meeting on February 1, 1962 requesting the formation of a committee of interested citizens which would report on future water supplies in 12 months. Action could then be taken by the Town Board. The Jaycees were advised by the Town Board that such a committee already exists. A promise was made to notify the Jaycees if and when there would be anything to report.

"Many Hudson Valley communities are faced with serious water problems and definite action must be taken if the area is to continue to grow and prosper. New industries which move into the area will require sufficient water and so will new homeowners. It is hoped that the Saugerties Town Board will take the necessary steps in conjunction with the appropriate state and county governments to insure an adequate supply for the future growth of the township."

The report was signed by Donald R. Lawson, chairman of the Jaycees' Water Supply Committee.

A Cameron County coroner's jury issued the ruling Tuesday at an inquest. The jury said Jessie Riffle, 27, shot his wife, Bonnie, 17, and their 10-month-old son, Roy, in their home and then killed his neighbor, Sidney Carl Long, 25, at Long's home.

Area Churches Participate in Hour of Sharing

An appeal for over $15 million to support a global program of assistance for millions of hungry, homeless and destitute people will be launched in Protestant churches in the Saugerties area and across the nation on April 1.

The day has been designated as "One Great Hour of Sharing Sunday," the 1962 United Appeal of Protestant Churches in America. Similar efforts will be made simultaneously by the Catholic Bishops' Relief Fund and the United Jewish Appeal.

The record goal of the drive this year for Protestant churches is $15,250,811, an increase of nearly $500,000 over 1961.

Included in this total is $4,287,000 which a majority of the Lutherans in America have set as the goal for their own "Lutheran World Action" campaign. The Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Camp, said most congregations of the denomination will hold their special overseas-aid observances either in conjunction with the United Protestant appeal on April 1 or on May 13 which has been designated as "Lutheran World Action Sunday." He said that the goal for the Lutheran congregation in West Camp is $400.

On this Sunday, members of St. Paul's will meet in the parish hall at 11 o'clock. After the worship service, the congregation will see Church World Service's newest documentary film, Hunger.

Geneva Gets Two Arms Cut Ideas

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

GENEVA (AP)—Foreign Minister Antonio Segni of Italy today put forward a four-point program of partial disarmament beginning with an agreement prohibiting the use of outer space for military purposes.

The 17-nation disarmament conference also received a memorandum from Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki outlining his five-year-old proposal for a nuclear-free zone through the heartland of Europe. He called for a limitation of armaments as well as a ban on nuclear weapons in West and East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Segni told the conference the need now is for confidence-building agreements to serve as a prelude to a bigger program of general and complete disarmament.

The Italian's four-point program called for:

1. An agreement to prohibit the use of outer space for military purposes.

2. An early cutoff of nuclear weapon production, leading to the gradual destruction of stockpiles, and the creation of a uranium bank for peaceful uses.

3. Action to guard against accidental war or surprise attack.

4. Adoption of measures to break down "the wall of misunderstanding that separates" East and West and thus restore a psychological climate of trust.

Segni's program was in line with proposals to the conference by other Western leaders, including U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Canadian Foreign Minister Howard C. Green.

World air passenger traffic is expected to set new records during 1962.

Ulster Vols Talk Of Lake Katrine In Fire District

Extension of Ulster Hose, No. 5, Town of Ulster, Fire District to include the Lake Katrine Protective District which is now served by Ulster No. 5, was discussed at the regular monthly meeting of Ulster Hose Monday evening.

The purpose of consolidation of the protection district with the present Fire District is due to the growth of the area. It was the feeling of company members that the extended protection is going to be needed in the near future.

Further Study Due

Members of the company presented the question of not hearing the fire siren in case of a fire. The question of rearranging sirens was tabled due to the possibility of consilidating the Lake Katrine Protection District with District No. 5 The matter will be given further study.

Ulster Hose No. 5 is making plans for its 15th annual fair. Chairman Harry Lowe, and his committee, which includes Paul Werner, Nick Valenzano, Orval Klomp, Hillery Schultz, Joseph Senor and Lewis Every, have begun elaborate plans for the fair which will be held in the summer.

Chief Joseph Senor reported two fires during the past two weeks, one at the residence of Paul Mula which was a shed completely demolished and a trash and grass fire at the St. James Motel.

Among the events scheduled for the company is the Resuscitator Class from 10 to 11:30 a. m. Saturday, March 31, and Sunday, April 1, a pumper training course at the Phelan & Cahill dock on East Strand from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. Fire Chief Joseph Senor asks that all members of the company be on hand for the pumper training course.

There will be an officer meeting Monday night, April 2, at the firehouse.

Lists Three Parades

Ulster Hose Company No. 5 will participate in three parade activities during the summer months, one at the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Convention in Tarrytown on June 23; the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Convention parade at Port Ewen July 21 and the company will also travel to Ellenville in September to participate in the Ellenville village parade. A drum corps from Danbury, Conn., has been engaged to supply parade music.

Herbert Herdman was elected parade marshall of the company. His duties will be to arrange for all parades of the company.

Fall-out detection instruments supplied through Civil Defense, were presented to the company by Edward Fishang. A class will be held for instruction in use of this equipment so that members may be qualified to use them. This instruction will be given by Fishang.

Audrey Gregorio, District 3 vice president of the Lloyd Republican Club has announced that Attorney Fred Stang, former Kingston mayor, will be the guest speaker at the next regular monthly meeting of the club on Friday, April 6, at Masonic Lodge Hall, Main Street, Highland, at 8 p. m.

Attorney Stang will speak on the organization and structure of the Republican Central Committee including the many varied problems and jobs that face a party committeeman.

The former Kingson mayor has a very active background in the field of politics. He served on the Shawangunk Town Board of Supervisors, assistant county district attorney, Ulster County attorney, and has been a key figure in county Republican affairs.

The guest speaker was one of the early originators of the Town of Lloyd Republican Club having been an active worker with the late Assemblyman John F. Wadlin of Highland.

Vice President Gregorio has stated that a short business meeting will precede the speaking program. Mrs. Theodore Schunk is refreshment chairman for this meeting.

Because of attorney Stang's popularity as an interesting and well-informed speaker, a good attendance is anticipated. All enrolled Republicans are urged to attend in order that they may hear the important part the committeeman plays in the workings of a political party.

Williams Answers Saugerties Jaycees' Water Supply Study

Recommendations approved by Saugerties Town Board and listed in a survey report of a consulting engineer firm would solve many of the problems cited in the water sources report of Saugerties Junior Chamber of Commerce, released this week, Supervisor Peter M. Williams said today.

A survey has been made by Brinnier & Larios, consulting engineers of Kingston in June 1961 and specific recommendations have been made to the Town Board by the engineers, he said.

The Town Board carefully weighed these recommendations and has authorized the engineers to proceed with the preparation of contract drawings for the first phase of these improvements.

Recommendations

The report of June 21, 1961 recommended:

Access head loses through the existing meter connection at the village line should be eliminated by removal of the altitude valve and back pressure value.

A parallel meter and check valve arrangement should be installed to further decrease friction losses.

An altitude valve should be placed on the Glasco standpipe or tank to prevent overflow. The Town Board has authorized the engineers to proceed with the above as soon as permission is granted by the Village Board.

Still under consideration by the Town Board is the recommendation for reinforcement of the main feeder lines with a 12-inch main along Route 9W from the tank to Manor Lane and a 10-inch main tied in loop through the existing sub-divisions of Barclay Heights and Dutch Settlement.

Would Check Water Sources

The engineers also suggested that an engineering investigation of the water sources available to the Saugerties-Glasco area should be authorized as soon as possible. This investigation should include a study of the existing supply and other possible sources. The study would also include the future demands of the combined Glasco-Saugerties system.

The entire project would solve the situation in so far as present sources allow, the engineers allow, Williams said.

Regarding the Jaycees water sources report, Supervisor Williams said, "Action by the governing body is necessary where all residents of the township are affected by a water shortage. From the report it is assumed that the problem, if there is a problem, lies in the supply of the Glasco Water District.

Have Own Departments

"Residents in Mt. Marion Park and the Village of Saugerties have their own water departments. Other town residents secure water by pumping deep or shallow wells located on their own properties. If water is actually in short supply in the Glasco District, embracing Barclay Heights, then resident taxpayers of that district may petition the Town Board and the board can authorize, after a hearing, that a survey of the area be made by an engineering firm. The cost would be borne by the taxpayers of Glasco Water District.

"The engineering firm may recommend that filtering of Hudson River water is necessary and will draw plans for a filtering plant, establishing approximate costs. The same would hold true if the engineers recommend the use of artesian wells for additional water supply.

It's Case of Bond Issue

"When the costs are known and the additional tax rate established, district residents, after a public hearing, may vote on the question. If they approve the proposal, a bond issue may be floated by Glasco Water District for the cost of the new system."

"The town cannot propose a town-wide water supply system which would greatly increase the tax rate burden and cause hardship to those living on fixed incomes, when the alleged water shortage problem exists only in one part of the township and affects only a small segment of the population."

The year-long study of water sources and needs in the Town and Village of Saugerties, conducted by Saugerties Junior Chamber of Commerce culminated this week with the release of a report embracing the findings of the committe. The report follows:

"The Town and Village of Saugerties have been filled with charge and countercharge over the last few years concerning the condition of the water supply available to each part of the township.

Jaycees Hold Survey

" Saugerties Jaycees appointed a committee a year ago, and after consulting with appropriate village and town official, have compiled the following information.

"1. The Village of Saugerties owns and operated the Saugerties water supply.

"2. A total of 1,800,000 gallons per day may be drawn from the reservoir at Blue Mountain which may not be exceeded because of a riparian rights suit brought against the village.

"3. The village uses 720,000 gallons per day and Glasco Water District, 140,000 for a total daily usage of 860,000 gallons.

"4. The peak usage is 1,400,000 gallons per day.

"5. The cost of water to the consumer is estimated as 47 cents per 1,000 gallons for the village and 50 cents per 1,000 gallons for Glasco Water District users.

$6. The recommended capacity for a reservoir is 1,800,000 gallons per day. Also other sources report the capacity as 30,000,000 to 150,000,000 gallons." (Edit. note: This would depend on the source. Blue Mountain Reservoir receives a steady flow from a stream which feeds the reservoir. The capacity can be changed by the number of planks placed on the dam.)

"7. The capacity of the Blue Mountain Reservoir which feeds the Saugerties system is 10,000,000 to 14,000,000 gallons.

"8. Wells or the Hudson River are additional sources available for the Town of Saugerties.

"9. There is a contract between the village and town which governs the purchase of water for Glasco Water District. The village has complete control of the water supply as long as they comply with the County Health Department.

"10. The town has been notified that future developments or industry may have to provide their own water supply.

"In addition to these facts, a report prepared for the Town Board by an engineering firm shows that the existing system in the Glasco Water District can just barely meet the daily domestic demands and has little flexibility for fire flows.

"Elimination of loss of pressure through the metering system at the town line and reinforcing of the existing system is necessary to eliminate low pressure and assure adequate flow during periods of peak usage and fire flows.

"It is certainly fair that the village insure its growth by retaining adequate water resources. The town of Saugerties has the problem and must solve it.

Committee Exists

"A delegation of Jaycees attended the Saugerties Town Board meeting on February 1, 1962 requesting the formation of a committee of interested citizens which would report on future water supplies in 12 months. Action could then be taken by the Town Board. The Jaycees were advised by the Town Board that such a committee already exists. A promise was made to notify the Jaycees if and when there would be anything to report.

"Many Hudson Valley communities are faced with serious water problems and definite action must be taken if the area is to continue to grow and prosper. New industries which move into the area will require sufficient water and so will new homeowners. It is hoped that the Saugerties Town Board will take the necessary steps in conjunction with the appropriate state and county governments to insure an adequate supply for the future growth of the township."

The report was signed by Donald R. Lawson, chairman of the Jaycees' Water Supply Committee.

HONOR OUTGOING CHIEF — Robert J. Desmond of R. A. Snyder Fire Company, outgoing chief of the Saugerties Fire Department, receives the congratulations of incoming chief Henry Amend of the Washington Hook and Ladder Company at the annual chief's night and testimonial dinner Tuesday. Taking part in the festivities are (l-r) Walter Johnson of R. A. Snyder Company, new assistant chief; Desmond, Amend, Fire Commissioner Elton L. Johnson and Earl Martin of C. A. Lynch Fire Company, assistant chief. Nearly 200 village volunteer firemen, village and town boards, fire chiefs of six volunteer companies and guests attended the event held at the VFW Hall, Livingston Street. (Freeman photo)

Participating will be Richard Genthner as the moderator; Martin Launer as the pastor; Edward Strohsahl as the Editor; Jean Vig as the Chairlady; Mahlon Legg as the Factory Owner; Donald Rothrock as the Social Scientist and Donna Sloboda as the Sunday school teacher.

Additional entertainment will be in charge of the Redeemer Luther Leaguers of Kingston.

Plans for the Hudson District Rally at Mt. Tremper Lutheran Camp on May 5 and for the State Luther League Convention, June 22-24 at Silver Bay, Lake George, will be made.

Thursday Proclaimed K of C Day in Area

March 29 has been proclaimed Knights of Columbus Day in Saugerties by Mayor George Holmes and Town Supervisor Peter Williams.

Local Council 4536 will be among the over one million Knights in the United States, Canada and New Mexico to observe that date as the 80th anniversary of the Catholic organization.

Town, Village Cancer Crusade Canvassers Start on Monday

Nearly 200 captains and volunteer canvassers will participate in the Cancer Crusade in the Town and Village of Saugerties Tuesday, April 2, it was announced this week by Mrs. Robert L. Carnright and Mrs. James W. McCormick, township co-chairman.

The township goal is $2,875, including $1,041 designated to be raised by the village volunteers.

Village crusaders will be directed by Mrs. Carnright and Mrs. McCormick as co-captains.

Captains in the various communities of the town are:

Mrs. Arthur F. Simmons, Barclay Heights; Mrs. John Koehn, Oakledge Park; Mrs. Edward Sowles, Canoe Hill; Mrs. Herbert F. Hommel, Asbury-Katsbaan; Mrs. Freeman W. Stay, Quarryville; Mrs. Richard S. Reinhart, Blue Mountain; Mrs. Francis V. Myer, Mt. Marion; Mrs. Bert Wrolsen, High Woods; Mrs. Richard D. Rafferty, Fish Creek; Mrs. John E. Simon, Evesport-West Camp; Mrs. Frank Brockway, Malden-on-Hudson; Mrs. Donald G. Rice, Veteran-Centerville; Mrs. Anthony Riozzi, Glasco-Flatbush; Mrs. Claude H. Post, West Saugerties, and Mrs. Robert J. Compitello, Saxton.

The crusaders will distribute booklets and medicine chest stickers listing the seven danger signals of cancer, and a sword of hope pin.

Overwhelming support of the crusade this year would greatly increase the funds needed for research and could save some of the more than 87,000 Americans who according to statistics will die of cancer in 1962, the co-chairmen said.

Officers Named By Monday Club

The last business meeting of the Monday Club was held at the home of Miss Elsie York of Elizabeth Street March 26. Following the regular business of the club, yearly reports were given.

Miss York had charge of the program. Each member gave additional information on her program for the past year.

A county meeting of the Federated Women's Clubs has been planned by County Chairman Mrs. Henry Knaust, and will be held at the Saugerties Methodist Church April 10 at 2 p. m. Members of the club who have not made reservations may do so by calling Mrs. Armstrong.

Mrs. William Ziegler and Mrs. Warren Myer will attend the state convention of Federated Women's Clubs to be held at Glens Falls April 30 to May 3, and as delegates will report to the members of the Monday Club at a tea to be held at the home of Mrs. Fabian Russell May 7. Cherry Souffle Is Perfect for Easter ELEGANT Souffle Rothschild, in an American version, proves there is more than one way to serve Easter eggs.

GAYNOR MADDOX

Souffle Rothschild is one of the most famous desserts of the Grande Cuisine. Elaborate in preparation, regal in result, it is too much work for the American home cook. Se we have adapted the original Paris recipe into an American version for the gala Easter dinner:

Souffle Rothschild
(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

½ cup red maraschino cherries, finely chopped (about 20 cherries)
¼ cup kirsch or maraschino cherry juice
Butter
Sugar
3 tablespoons sifted all-purpose flour
¾ cup milk
1/3 cup sugar
4 egg yolks
2 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons vanilla
5 egg whites
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ cup red maraschino cherries, sliced for garnish (about 10 cherries)

Blend ½ cup chopped cherries and kirsch or maraschino cherry puice together. Let stand 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Prepare a collar of wax paper to go around a 7-inch souffle dish or a 1½ quart straight-sided casserole; butter inside and secure with string. Sprinkle sugar over entire inner surface. Blend flour, milk and 1/3 cup sugar together.

Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add egg yolks, 1 at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat in 2 tablespoons butter. Drain cherries, reserving liquid. Add liquid, with vanilla, to souffle mixture and beat well. Beat egg whites and salt until soft peaks form. Add 1 tablespoon sugar and beat until stiff.

Gently fold into souffle mixture.

Pour 1/3 mixture into prepared dish and sprinkle with chopped cherries. Cover with remaining mixture. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Garnish with ¼ cup sliced maraschino cherries, as desired.

Jealousy Blamed Murder, Suicide

EMPORIUM, Pa. (AP) — Jealousy has been blamed as a motive for a triple murder and suicide in nearby Gardeau last March 21.

A Cameron County coroner's jury issued the ruling Tuesday at an inquest. The jury said Jessie Riffle, 27, shot his wife, Bonnie, 17, and their 10-month-old son, Roy, in their home and then killed his neighbor, Sidney Carl Long, 25, at Long's home.

The jury said Riffle returned home and killed himself.

Henry Alderman, another neighbor, testified that he thought Riffle was drinking prior to the shooting. Alderman said Riffle told him he planned to shoot someone, but Alderman said he didn't take the threat seriously.

The company said it was budgeting $77 million for expansion and improvement in 1962. It plans to open seven complete department stores, five medium-sized stores and two smaller hard-line stores during the year.

An appeal for over $15 million to support a global program of assistance for millions of hungry, homeless and destitute people will be launched in Protestant churches in the Saugerties area and across the nation on April 1.

The day has been designated as "One Great Hour of Sharing Sunday," the 1962 United Appeal of Protestant Churches in America. Similar efforts will be made simultaneously by the Catholic Bishops' Relief Fund and the United Jewish Appeal.

The record goal of the drive this year for Protestant churches is $15,250,811, an increase of nearly $500,000 over 1961.

Included in this total is $4,287,000 which a majority of the Lutherans in America have set as the goal for their own "Lutheran World Action" campaign. The Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Camp, said most congregations of the denomination will hold their special overseas-aid observances either in conjunction with the United Protestant appeal on April 1 or on May 13 which has been designated as "Lutheran World Action Sunday." He said that the goal for the Lutheran congregation in West Camp is $400.

On this Sunday, members of St. Paul's will meet in the parish hall at 11 o'clock. After the worship service, the congregation will see Church World Service's newest documentary film, Hunger.

Slam Bid Is Needed to Win

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In the fourth and final hand of our match on TV against Gerber and Hodge, we carried a 610 point lead. They needed to set us 700 or to bid and make a slam to win the match.

Mrs. Johnson's opening four diamond bid was correct rubber bridge strategy. Under the conditions of the match she really should have passed, but the players are asked in advance to bid as if it were a rubber bridge game and not a match of four hands.

Gerber passed and Hodge reopened with a double whereupon Gerber cue bid five diamonds. He wanted to get to a major suit slam and did not care which one Hodge might select.

Hodge felt the same way. He could stand either major suit and for all he knew there might be seven so he cue bid right back with six diamonds.

The play at six spades was short but not sweet from our standpoint. Gerber won the trick, led a spade to his king and finessed successfully against my queen. Then he conceded a trick to the ace of clubs and claimed his contract.

His trump play was based on the fact that Mrs. Johnson's four diamond bid had shown a long suit, therefore she was likely to be short in the others.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In show business circles, where a slim figure is often as important to a performer's employment as talent, weight-watching is a way of life.

Thus Hermoine Gingold, who has a trim, slim and svelte figure, presented a most unusual spectacle as she sat comfortably and happily at luncheon, slathering butter on a rich piece of French bread, and digging into an entree compounded of chicken livers savory and highly caloric sauce and butter-dripping potato and vegetables.

"I never gain weight," said Miss Gingold calmly. "I have a system."

The Gingold system of avoiding avoirdupois is, like its inventor, highly unusual. But, while it works for her, it might not be quite so effective on others.

"Dame Edith Evans has always been one of the most beautiful women ever to walk on a stage," Miss Gingold explained. "And it always amazed me to see her because when she was off-stage she never seemed quite so—well, beautiful. But one day many years ago I walked into her dressing room when we were appearing in the same play in London. And she was sitting in front of her mirror, talking to herself. She was saying over and over, 'I am beautiful, I am beautiful.'

"And 10 minutes later when she walked out on the stage, she really was beautiful. Of course, at the end, when she came off the stage, she went back to being herself.

"But I thought that it might work for me—and in other ways. So now I think thin. I can eat masses of chocolate bars, and bread and butter, but all the time I say, 'This is not going to make me fat.' And it doesn't."

Miss Gingold will co-star with Cyril Ritchard Sunday night in a program—part serious but largely satiric and comical—called "The Beauty of Woman," on NBC Sunday night.

Leonard Bernstein's last "Young People's Concert" of the season, April 13 on CBS, will, as usual, introduce young talent who will play as soloists with the New York Philharmonic.

"NBC's "87th Precinct" is slated to disappear next fall, with a story about a newspaperman, "Saints and Sinners," starring Nick "Rebel" Adams, replacing it, but earlier on Monday evenings.

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10 (EST)—Alice Faye will be guest star; Circle Theatre, CBS, 10-11—"Merchants of Evil," about the use of diplomatic credentials by a smuggling ring.

Boycott Is Seen Of New Orleans Integration Word

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Roman Catholic schools in the New Orleans archdiocese will be desegregated next fall.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Henry Bezou, superintendent of the 75,000-student archdiocesan school system, read the announcement from Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel Tuesday night.

The statement did not use the words Negro or desegregation. It said merely that "effective at the time of registration for the 1962-63 school session, all Catholic children may apply for admission to the Catholic schools of the archdiocese according to accepted educational standards."

Registration dates for all Catholic schools were set for April 13-14.

State Sen. E. W. Gravolet said the announcement "may have a severe reaction from a segregated-minded legislature."

Gravolet, a Catholic himself and vice chairman of the joint legislative committee on segregation, predicted a "mass boycott will greet the integration" of Catholic schools in the city.

There were reports earlier that the archbishop, who termed segregation morally wrong and sinful in a pastoral letter in 1956, had decided on the desegregation move.

A handful of pickets paraded in front of the archbishop's residence during the afternoon. They carried signs indicating the Bible preached the doctrine of segregation.

The city's 93,000-pupil school system was desegregated under federal court order in November 1960. Name-calling, police restraint lines and street gatherings that reached near-riot proportions greeted the integration of William Frantz and McDonogh No. 19 schools.

Last fall, the start of classes was far more orderly, but only 12 Negroes are enrolled in six white schools.

Msgr. Bezou said there were 7,254 Negroes in the archdiocese's 15 elementary schools and another 1,724 in the three Negro high schools. Among the 1,100,000 persons in the area the archdiocese covers, there are 547,000 Catholics.

Discuss Patronage

New Dem Leader Of State Has Talk With JFK, Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — William H. McKeon, New York State Democratic chairman, shook hands with President Kennedy Tuesday in a get-acquainted call and discussed "things in general" with Keith O'Donnell, a presidential aide.

McKeon recently succeeded Michael H. Prendergast as state chairman. Part of the reason for Prendergast's ouster was a split with the Kennedy Administration.

McKeon declined to go into details of his meetings. He said patronage was discussed in a general way with O'Donnell.

McKeon later dined and talked politics with New York Democratic congressmen at their annual get-together with state party leaders. Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who led the move to remove Prendergast, also was a guest.

GE Gets Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Electric Co. at Johnson City, N. Y., has been awarded a $3,936,065 contract for spare parts for F'105 aircraft fire control systems. The Air Force announced the contract award Tuesday.

Trailways Cafeteria Wins, 56-54, on Brown's Basket

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (NEA) — Casey Stengel cups his hands, spits lightly, winks broadly and takes himself apart. . . . "Who ever heard of losing a starting pitcher with a stiff neck from sliding?" he asked, referring to the delayed debut of Roger Craig. "I almost got fired." . . . a guy could spend the entire spring writing nothing but the ramblings of the manager of the New York Mets. . . .

Outfielder Wes Covington of the Phillies, running like a colt again after several indifferent seasons, wore leaded shoes weighing six pounds all winter to strengthen his pins.

Gene Mauch

Reminders of the 23-game losing streak bring lines to the corners of youngish Gene Mauch's eyes. . . . "After you get up to 15 games," the Philadelphia manager winced, "it really grips you. Every team is gunning for you more than ever because they don't want to be the one that loses and stops the streak." . . . Did Gene during the winter devise any antidote for such slumps? . . . "Yeah," he snapped. "Win!"

Duke Snider has additional incentive this year. . . . The erstwhile Moody Man of the Los Angeles Dodgers has been made the team captain . . . the first since Pee Wee Reese. . . .

It'll be quite a story if Evans Kileen, the young pitcher in the Mets' camp, sticks. . . . A year ago he wasn't in organized baseball, having quit when Kansas City sent him to Portsmouth. . . . After six discouraging years in the Athletics' system, he went home to New York and wound up pitching semi-professionally. . . . Since the Athletics quit on him, too, he wangled a Mets' trial and Stengel is captivated by his drive. . . .

Walter Alston still hasn't given upon the idea that Tommy Davis will be a third baseman (which would solve that outfield jam on the Dodgers). . . . Tommy, looking for a spot, has even offered to put on the catcher's duds. . . .

Biggest division in the Dodger camp has to do with Larry Burright's roosting place in '62. . . . Alston wants to keep the young second sacker around to take over when Junior Gilliam needs a rest. . . . Buzzy Bavasi, the general manager, leans to the idea of farming him out another season to increase his hitting confidence. . . . The kid carries a chaw in his left cheek to rival Nellie Fox. . . .

Joe Garagiola, the broadcaster, scowls darkly and mutters dire threats when he whips out his card. . . . It reads: "International Mafia, Joe Garagiola, certified member." . . .

Although Cliff Cook hit 32 home runs and batted in 119 runs last year, and Manager Fred Hutchinson admits "he's not as quick as Gene Freese," the big doubt about him taking over third base for Cincinnati for the injured Freese is his ability to hit major league pitching. . . . He strikes out too much. . . . Main reason Hutch doesn't consider using Frank Robinson at third base is that "I don't think anybody likes to play out of position because he'll be embarrassed." . . .

On that basketball scandal buzz out of the Southwest, the story we hear is that one of the 21 officials flunked his lie detector test . . . another one was inconclusive because, they suspect, he filled up on tranquilizers before taking the polygraph.

Between you'n'me, after the daily (and repetitive) barrage of questions by touring writers, Gene Mauch mused, "I wonder if a manager could talk through carbon paper." . . .

Al Brown made a basket as the buzzer sounded ending the game as Trailways Cafeteria nipped Hayes Lincoln-Mercury, 56-54, in a tight one last night at the YMCA gym.

In other "Y" cage tilts, Yellow Jackets trounced Byrne Chevvies, 76-61, and Accord beat Van's Esso, 68,-43.

The Hayes-Trailways contest was tight all the way. Jumpin' Joe Uhl tied the score at 52-52 late in the fourth period and then George Carpouzis hit with a jumper to put Hayes two points in the lead.

After Marty Kaye knotted the count at 54-54, Richie Amato was fouled intentionally by Bill Fitzgerald. With a chance to put his club ahead, Amato missed both free throws and Trailways obtained possession of the basketball.

The winners held it for the last shot and Brown became a hero when he put it through the hoop.

Uhl Gets 32

Uhl was high for the winners with 32 points. Kaye added 12. Carpouzis, Tom Fiore and George Uhl were in double figures for the losers.

Little Mel Williams rimmed 30 points for the Yellow Jackets as they completely overwhelmed Byrne. Walt Harder's 26 markers weren't enough for the losers, who trailed all the way.

Accord jumped to an early lead against Van's and then coasted home. Four players were in double figures for the winning quintet.

'THIS IS SUPPOSED TO BE A NEW BABY?'

Here on April 4

Valentine and Ellis Top Wrestling Team

One of wrestling's top drawing cards—the tandem combine of Johnny Valentine and Bob Ellis—will be the center of attraction when the grappling caravan comes to Kingston next Wednesday, April 4.

Valentine and Ellis will take on Bob Orton and the Great Scot in a best-of-three falls tag-team feature bout. Valentine is one of the big names of the day and has spearheaded Madison Square Garden cards that have filled the ancient sports arena to overflow.

Valentine and Ellis replaced Argentine Rocca and Miguel Perez as Madison Square Garden favorites. They are sensational performers, as fans will see next Wednesday night.

Hess, Murphy Due

The remainder of the card features a host of well known and popular Kingston favorites, among them Irish (Skull) Murphy and Karl Von Hess.

The semi-final pits the team of Mark Lewin and Billy Darnell against those "Bad Guys"—Skull Murphy and his equally hated partner, Brute Bernard.

In the half hour bouts, Gene Marrin opens against Marque De Paree. Both are newcomers to the Kingston scene. The final prelim before the tandem matches will send Miguel Torres against the Prussian Menace, who could that be but Karl Von Hess.

The first bout is scheduled at 8:30 p. m.

1961 Driving Champ

Harold Dancer Jr. Scheduled To Race Again at Monticello

MONTICELLO — The champion will be back to defend his title.

At Monticello Raceway this can only mean that Harold Dancer Jr., better known as "Sonny," is headed back to the Mighty M. Sonny will take the long road to Monticello; starting from his Lakehurst, N. J. training base and stopping at the metropolitan ovals before hitting Sullivan County.

However, he'll be ready for opening night at Monticello on May 31. And for the next 99 nights of racing through September 22, Dancer will call the Mighty M his home base.

Sonny has experienced meteoric success in the tough driving business. He'll be the first to admit Monticello has helped immensely to spark his rise.

Obscure Once

Three years ago, the sandy-haired reinsman was a relatively obscure member of the famous Dancer driving clan. He was being referred to as "Stanley's Kid Brother" by many fans not in the know. Actually, Sonny is Stanley Dancer's nephew. Vernon Dancer is another uncle. Sonny's father is Harold Sr., the oldest of the family driving fraternity.

Sonny's history at Monticello can be summed up in a word "success." In 1960, his first full season of driving at MR, Dancer was runnerup to Carmine Abbatiello in the two major driving departments—dashes won and average.

However, it was all Sonny last summer. He spread-eagled the field in dashes won, scoring 47 winning drives. His winning average of .377 was also tops.

Sonny really hit his peak on the nights of August 22 and 23. He won four races the first night and scored a fifth victory the next to give him five successive winning drives. This unique feat received national publicity. He was on his way to be "known."

In the B division, a close race has developed. Hub Delicatessen has a 4-1 mark while Eddie's Country Fair, Accord have 3-1 records and Doran's is 2-1.

The A division standings:

Team	W	L
Ray's Tackle Shop	3	0
Trailway Cafeteria	2	1

The B division standings:

Suspend Driver For Bet Against His Own Horse

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—John Edmunds, 33, one of the leading drivers at Roosevelt Raceway, where he won the feature pace Monday night with Lucky Dream, has been suspended from all activity at New York harness tracks Robert A. Glasser, chairman of the State Harness Racing Commission, announced Tuesday night.

The suspension also extends to any horses trained, or owned wholly or in part by Edmunds.

The action, Glasser said, was taken following disclosure of information obtained from a confidential source, which alleged that Edmunds had stated that he had wagered on a horse other than his in a race.

Glasser said Edmunds freely admitted the statement, but denied that he had made any such wager. The record shows that Edmunds won the race in question.

Actor Pick, owned by the Fair Acres Farm of Freehold, N.J., romped to a 3-length victory over Mayor Joe Tuesday night in the $3,000 feature pace at Roosevelt Raceway.

Cardinals Have That Flag Look

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Could this be the year of the Cardinal?

St. Louis hasn't flown a National League pennant in 16 years, the Cards aren't anywhere near being favorites now, and it's a sure bet they won't be when the season opens in two weeks.

But they have been very impressive in Florida—and the NL has produced three surprise winners in the last three pennant scrambles.

The Cardinals have been steaming in exhibition games, with a winning string that now numbers nine after Tuesday's 8-7 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Overall, St. Louis is 12-4 and leader in the preseason standings.

Scoring three times in the fifth inning with the aid of three balks by Pittsburgh left-hander Bob Veale, the Cards tied it at 4-4. They added three more in the sixth, the clincher in the seventh and withstood a Pirate rally in the ninth. John Anderson, gunning for a berth on the St. Louis staff, turned in three scoreless innings and was the winner.

If the Cards have been a surprise this spring, Houston's new Colts have been a stunner. They won the 11th of their last 13 Tuesday, belting the San Francisco Giants 11-4 with a 16-hit barrage that included two homers apiece by Roman Mejias and Hal Smith.

On the other side of the coin, the Milwaukee Braves took their 12th setback in 16 exhibitions, losing to the Chicago White Sox 3-1.

The Cincinnati Reds came out of a three-game losing string, beating the Minnesota Twins 6-3; the New York Yankees squeezed by the New York Mets 3-2; the Chicago Cubs romped against the Cleveland Indians 12-3; the Baltimore Orioles tripped the Kansas City Athletics 5-2; the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the Philadelphia Phillies 6-4; the Detroit Tigers pounded the Washington Senators 10-4; and the Los Angeles Angels beat the Boston Red Sox 4-1.

American LL Adds 5th Team; Names Sinsabaugh President

The Kingston American Little League has elected William Sinsabaugh president for 1962 and voted to expand to five teams.

The league will continue to carry four minor league teams. In the previous ten years of its existence, the league carried four Little League teams and four minor squads.

Other officers elected:

John Van Dine, vice president; Donald Bradley, secretary; Thomas Lyle, treasurer; Robert Sickler, player agent.

Registration days will be held Saturday, May 5 from 9 a. m. to 12 noon and Monday, May 7, from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m. Boys of Little League age (9-12) in the Second, Third and 10th Ward, may register at the clubhouse on Kiersted Avenue, near the State Armory building. Proof of age is required.

The next monthly meeting will be held at the Kingston American Legion building on Wednesday, April 1, at 7 p. m.

Spahn, 41 Years Young, Has Hopes of Winning 20 Again

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves have a slogan this year It is "something new in '62."

Warren Spahn, who will be 41 next month, likes to remind people of the slogan.

"Do you think they were trying to give me a hint?" he laughed.

The raw-boned Oklahoman, whose only concession to age is a retreating hairline, didn't promise another 20-victory season but don't bet against it.

"We've got a new manager," he said meaningly, "and I want to prove to him I can still win. Also, we've got some good young pitchers in camp this spring and I've got to set an example for them."

How long will he go on?

"That's up to the hitters," Spahn replied. "I haven't gotten the message yet."

When he finally gets the message, what will he do then?

Wants to Manage

"I'd like to get a shot at managing in the big leagues," he said, his long lean face taking on a serious look. "Baseball is not only my bread and butter, it's my life. I've given managing a lot of thought. I think I can handle it.

"I've played under such managers as Casey Stengel, Billy Southworth, Charlie Grimm, Fred Haney, Charlie Dressen and Birdie Tebbetts. I think I've learned something from each.

'Actually, a fellow doesn't know if he can manage until he tries it. I'd like to get the opportunity.

"Incidentally, did you hear the Spahn slogan for 1962?

" 'Something old, but not yet ready to fold.' "

KingstonUmpires To Meet Sunday

Members of the Kingston Umpires Assn. will hold their first meeting of the year on Sunday, April 1, 6 p. m., at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium. President Andy Murphy will preside.

Included on the agenda will be election of officers, distribution of case books and emblems and plans for the coming season.

Other officers are John T. Gilliagn, vice president and Ed Palladino, secretary-treasurer.

Lavorante Seen As Major Threat To Old Archie

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There is a mounting suspicion that Archie Moore, after 26 years and 215 professional fights, surely must be nearing the end of the line.

Sharing this belief, and determined to point it out to the old "mongoose," is a giant Argentine heavyweight, Alejandro Lavorante at 25 young in years and practically an infant in ring experience.

Lavorante and Moore are slated to debate the matter, in 10 rounds or less, Friday night in the Sports Arena.

The match means much to both men. It has also stirred up considerable agitation here. The promoters, Cal Eaton and George Parnassus, look for 16,000 people to pay $100,000 to watch.

Alex, as his friends call him, stands a trim, wide-shouldered 6-feet-4, some five inches taller than Archie. He will weight about 210, perhaps 15 or more pounds heavier than the pride of San Diego.

Better still, he can punch, as 15 of his opponents discovered.

Cicada Favored In Florida Race

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Meadow Stable's Cicada, substituting for her injured stablemate Sir Gaylord, is the early favorite over 11 other prospective starters in Saturday's $100,000 Florida Derby. She is the only filly in the field.

Winner of 13 races in her 19 starts, Cicada gets in the mile and an eighth race under only 117 pounds to 122 for her top rivals and 118 on the other colts. Willie Shoemaker rides Cicada in the last big race of the winter for derby-age horses.

Other top prospects for Saturday's big event are Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan, Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage and Knoll Farm's Sharp Count—all under 122.

Hogan, Nicklaus Rated High In Masters Golf Tournament

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A good parlay in next week's Masters Golf Tournament, says Fred Corcoran, is 49-year-old Ben Hogan and 21-year-old Jack Nicklaus.

"Hogan is playing beautifully," the tournament director of the International Golf Association said today, after watching the final tuneup at Miami. "He really looks like the Hogan of old. And that boy, Nicklaus—his power scares you."

Corcoran, the man credited with building the PGA tour into a million-dollar enterprise, watched most of the game's present greats take their swings last weekend in the Doral Invitation

"From tee to green, Hogan is still the greatest golfer in the world," the thick-necked executive, a onetime Boston caddy, said. "For 18 holes, I'd match him against anybody. Unfortunately, his putting lacks the authority of his heyday.

"The six and eight-footers don't drop for Ben the way they used to. It's not the legs that go first in this game. It's nerves, and putting ability. But Hogan is a tremendous competitor and a marvelous golfer. He could win another Masters—and another Open.

"Young Nicklaus is very impressive I saw him hit the green with a 7-iron on his second shot on a 550-yard hole. He is strong as a mule, is loaded with confidence and has only one problem that I can see—weight. He may be inclined to get fat."

Hogan, in his first tournament start of the year, made an impressive showing at Miami, firing rounds of 74-72-71-69 for 286, and a tie for fourth place. Nicklaus was a stroke better at 285. The title was won by Bill Casper Jr., with 283.

Canadian Teams Lead Cup Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Montreal Canadiens and the Toronto Maple Leafs each held 1-0 leads in the Stanley Cup hockey semifinal series today — but neither was doing any crowing.

The Canadiens, out to regain the cup they lost to Chicago last year, whipped the Chicago Black Hawks 2-1 in Montreal. The Maple Leafs turned back the New York Rangers 4-2 in Toronto Tuesday night.

The second game of both series is scheduled for Montreal and Toronto Thursday night. Then the action moves to Chicago and New York for the next two games.

"I'm far from satisfied at our performance," said Montreal Coach Toe Blake. "We can play better. We were fooling around with the puck when we should have been passing and shooting."

The Canadiens did have a rough time, especially with Chicago goalie Glenn Hall. They were completely frustrated for the first two periods.

Coach Rudy Pilous pointed out that the Hawks also lost the first game last year, but came back to win the series.

Maple Leaf coach Punch Imlach echoed Blake.

"The Rangers played well and we're going to have to play better if we hope to stay in it," he observed. "We didn't play half as well as we could. They checked as well as any game they ever played against us."

Slam Bid Is Needed to Win

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In the fourth and final hand of our match on TV against Gerber and Hodge, we carried a 610 point lead. They needed to set us 700 or to bid and make a slam to win the match.

Mrs. Johnson's opening four diamond bid was correct rubber bridge strategy. Under the conditions of the match she really should have passed, but the players are asked in advance to bid as if it were a rubber bridge game and not a match of four hands.

Gerber passed and Hodge reopened with a double whereupon Gerber cue bid five diamonds. He wanted to get to a major suit slam and did not care which one Hodge might select.

Hodge felt the same way. He could stand either major suit and for all he knew there might be seven so he cue bid right back with six diamonds.

The play at six spades was short but not sweet from our standpoint. Gerber won the trick, led a spade to his king and finessed successfully against my queen. Then he conceded a trick to the ace of clubs and claimed his contract.

His trump play was based on the fact that Mrs. Johnson's four diamond bid had shown a long suit, therefore she was likely to be short in the others.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In show business circles, where a slim figure is often as important to a performer's employment as talent, weight-watching is a way of life.

Thus Hermoine Gingold, who has a trim, slim and svelte figure, presented a most unusual spectacle as she sat comfortably and happily at luncheon, slathering butter on a rich piece of French bread, and digging into an entree compounded of chicken livers savory and highly caloric sauce and butter-dripping potato and vegetables.

"I never gain weight," said Miss Gingold calmly. "I have a system."

The Gingold system of avoiding avoirdupois is, like its inventor, highly unusual. But, while it works for her, it might not be quite so effective on others.

"Dame Edith Evans has always been one of the most beautiful women ever to walk on a stage," Miss Gingold explained. "And it always amazed me to see her because when she was off-stage she never seemed quite so—well, beautiful. But one day many years ago I walked into her dressing room when we were appearing in the same play in London. And she was sitting in front of her mirror, talking to herself. She was saying over and over, 'I am beautiful, I am beautiful.'

"And 10 minutes later when she walked out on the stage, she really was beautiful. Of course, at the end, when she came off the stage, she went back to being herself.

"But I thought that it might work for me—and in other ways. So now I think thin. I can eat masses of chocolate bars, and bread and butter, but all the time I say, 'This is not going to make me fat.' And it doesn't."

Miss Gingold will co-star with Cyril Ritchard Sunday night in a program—part serious but largely satiric and comical—called "The Beauty of Woman," on NBC Sunday night.

Leonard Bernstein's last "Young People's Concert" of the season, April 13 on CBS, will, as usual, introduce young talent who will play as soloists with the New York Philharmonic.

"NBC's "87th Precinct" is slated to disappear next fall, with a story about a newspaperman, "Saints and Sinners," starring Nick "Rebel" Adams, replacing it, but earlier on Monday evenings.

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10 (EST)—Alice Faye will be guest star; Circle Theatre, CBS, 10-11—"Merchants of Evil," about the use of diplomatic credentials by a smuggling ring.

Catholic Schools

Boycott Is Seen Of New Orleans Integration Word

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Roman Catholic schools in the New Orleans archdiocese will be desegregated next fall.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Henry Bezou, superintendent of the 75,000-student archdiocesan school system, read the announcement from Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel Tuesday night.

The statement did not use the words Negro or desegregation. It said merely that "effective at the time of registration for the 1962-63 school session, all Catholic children may apply for admission to the Catholic schools of the archdiocese according to accepted educational standards."

Registration dates for all Catholic schools were set for April 13-14.

State Sen. E. W. Gravolet said the announcement "may have a severe reaction from a segregated-minded legislature."

Gravolet, a Catholic himself and vice chairman of the joint legislative committee on segregation, predicted a "mass boycott will greet the integration" of Catholic schools in the city.

There were reports earlier that the archbishop, who termed segregation morally wrong and sinful in a pastoral letter in 1956, had decided on the desegregation move.

A handful of pickets paraded in front of the archbishop's residence during the afternoon. They carried signs indicating the Bible preached the doctrine of segregation.

The city's 93,000-pupil school system was desegregated under federal court order in November 1960. Name-calling, police restraint lines and street gatherings that reached near-riot proportions greeted the integration of William Frantz and McDonogh No. 19 schools.

Last fall, the start of classes was far more orderly, but only 12 Negroes are enrolled in six white schools.

Msgr. Bezou said there were 7,254 Negroes in the archdiocese's 15 elementary schools and another 1,724 in the three Negro high schools. Among the 1,100,000 persons in the area the archdiocese covers, there are 547,000 Catholics.

Discuss Patronage

New Dem Leader Of State Has Talk With JFK, Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — William H. McKeon, New York State Democratic chairman, shook hands with President Kennedy Tuesday in a get-acquainted call and discussed "things in general" with Keith O'Donnell, a presidential aide.

McKeon recently succeeded Michael H. Prendergast as state chairman. Part of the reason for Prendergast's ouster was a split with the Kennedy Administration.

McKeon declined to go into details of his meetings. He said patronage was discussed in a general way with O'Donnell.

McKeon later dined and talked politics with New York Democratic congressmen at their annual get-together with state party leaders. Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who led the move to remove Prendergast, also was a guest.

Wilt's 42 Tops Celts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia Warriors, with Wilt Chamberlain having a big night against Bill Russell for a change, are back even with Boston in the best-of-7 Eastern Division final playoffs of the National Basketball Association.

But the Los Angeles Lakers have the Detroit Pistons on the ropes in the West.

The Warriors, with Chamberlain scoring 42 points and Russell getting only 9, rallied to whip the Celtics 113-106 Tuesday night in Philadelphia. They move to Boston for tonight's third game with the Eastern series tied at one game apiece.

The Lakers, on the other hand, are 3-0 over the Pistons after winning at Detroit 111-106. Los Angeles can wrap it up by winning the fourth game, scheduled for Thursday night at Detroit.

Davis New Coach At Colorado But Players Revolt

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—"I can do the job," William E. (Bud) Davis said today after University of Colorado regents decided to entrust their football fortunes to a newcomer with only five years of high school coaching experience.

The 33-year-old Colorado alumni secretary took less than an hour to end the first threat to his appointment as head coach.

He met Tuesday night with members of the football squad, angered and some threatening to rebel over his assignment, and emerged saying, "I think that any talk of a revolt is over. It was a pleasant meeting."

Then Davis said he is accepting the coaching job offered him nine hours earlier in the day.

Bitterness continued to prevail, however, in the wake of the firing of Everett (Sonny) Grandelius earlier this month for violating Big Eight and NCAA recruiting rules.

The man earlier believed to have the inside track, end coach Bob Chilotti, resigned from the football staff after the regents settled on Davis.

Blind Player Has Own Cards at Bridge Tourney

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Dr. Arthur M. Dye brought his own cards with him to the national spring tournament of the American Contract Bridge League. They are marked.

In the corner of each card are two markings—in Braille—to denote the suit and value of the card. Dr. Dye is blind.

His handicap has some drawbacks, he says, such as making it necessary for those who play at his table to call out the suit and value of each card they play. But it has advantages, too.

"I don't have distractions," he quipped, "even if a pretty girl walks by the table, I don't have trouble keeping my mind on the game."

Dr. Dye is an osteopathic physician at Charlotte, N.C., but notes that his practice "sometimes interferes with my bridge a little bit."

He attends the national tournament every year, he says, and plays in "six or eight or 10 or 12—I've never counted — tournaments annually."

To each tournament, Dr. Dye, a life master at the game, brings 72 specially marked decks. Fellow players find the cards slightly thicker than normal playing cards, but Dr. Dye said he has had no complaints about them.

Dr. Dye, 65, is the father of two boys and the grandfather of three.

He hasn't done well in the tournament here, he said, "but it isn't over until next Sunday and there's plenty of opportunity here yet."

Jack Britton Dies; Ex-Welter Boxing Champ

Britton and Ted (Kid) Lewis met for the 147-pound title four times during a memorable 20-fight series between 1915 and 1919. Each captured the championship twice. After taking the title from Lewis for the last time in 1919, Britton retained it until 1922 when he was dethroned by Mickey Walker.

Britton, born William J. Breslin at Clinton, N.Y., was elected to Boxing's Hall of Fame in 1958. He came to Miami from Yonkers, N.Y., 37 years ago.

SPLASHING WATER TO ATTRACT FISH

KNOWING THAT FISH ARE ALARMED BY CARELESS NOISE FROM A BOAT'S OCCUPANTS, IT SOUNDS INCREDIBLE THAT A DELIBERATE SPLASHING OF WATER MAY SOMETIMES ATTRACT FISH. IT SEEMS TO WORK BEST IN LURING SUNFISH AND PERCH, BUT BASS AND CRAPPIES MAY BE LURED, ALSO. PERHAPS THEY BELIEVE SPLASHES ARE MADE BY OTHER FISH IN CHASING MINNOWS. SO, IF FISHING IS POOR--YOU'VE NOTHING TO LOSE, FLAIL THE WATER A MINUTE, THEN FISH AWHILE, ETC.

FOOTBALL CHATTER—There was plenty to talk about last week between Fred Seither, right, Saugerties High football coach, and Harold (Pete) Hatch, former Kingston High and Ithaca College coach, at a clinic at Ithaca College. Some 300 high school coaches from New York and Vermont attended the clinic. Seither and Hatch were on the teaching staff as were Tom Nugent, head coach at the University of Maryland and other outstanding Ithaca alumni. Seither, a former backfield star at Ithaca, discussed the "Delaware Wing-T" as adapted to high school use.

Kennedy Juniors Attend Opening Of Ringling Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the supply of popcorn and sugar cotton candy is a bit depleted at the greatest show on earth today, there's a reason. A small army of junior Kennedys saw the circus Tuesday.

It being a balmy March day, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy took 14 small fry to the Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey show at the Washington Coliseum.

You never saw such conspicuous consumption of everything from hot dogs to soft drinks. The loot the youngsters carried home—in the form of pennants, clowns-on-sticks, baby turtles and plumed hats—could hardly fit into the limousines.

The 14 children were not all the attorney general's, of course. He has only seven, who were all there, from Kathy, 11, to Mary Kerry, 2. There were some nieces and nephews, Bobby Shriver, 7, Maria Shriver, 6, and Timothy Shriver, 3. Also—outside the family ranks—Kathy Fay, 14, and Sally Fay, 5, daughters of undersecretary of the Navy Paul B. Fay Jr. Also Francis Ormsby Gore, 8, and Alice Ormsby Gore, 9, children of the British Ambassador, Sir David Ormsby Gore.

The attorney general could not have managed the safari single-handed. Strong man though he may be, he would have broken down without the presence of his wife, Ethel, and his sister, Mrs. Sargent Shriver.

Mary Kerry so smeared her face with sugar cotton candy that mother Ethel found dry cleansing tissue wholly inadequate for the mop-up. She had to go out to the hot dog stand and ask the man to wet some tissue.

Most successful stower-away of popcorn was Bobby Kennedy, 8, who had a handicap to surmount. Two of his fingers were in splints; he confided that he had busted them falling out of a hayloft at home in McLean, Va.

The epicurean of the bunch turned out to be Maria Shriver. Looking distastefully at her hot dog she kept hollering, "Mommie, where's the ketchup?"

Army Is Forming Air Cavalry, to Ride in Copters

WASHINGTON (AP) — After eight years of preparation, the Army is forming its first troop of helicopters air cavalry.

Air cavalrymen — like their horse-mounted forebears — would scout ahead of moving columns, reconnoiter the flanks, seek out targets for artillery and rockets and spring raids behind enemy lines.

The first troop of 147 men and 27 observation and transport type helicopters is being organized at the Ft. Knox, Ky., armored center. It is expected to be combat ready by the end of summer.

A second troop will be created at the infantry center, Ft. Benning, Ga. The third and fourth will be attached to the two new regular Army divisions now being trained at Ft. Carson, Colo., and Ft. Hood, Tex.

Ultimately, the Army hopes to integrate an air cavalry troop with each of its 16 regular divisions.

The helicopter companies now operating with South Vietnamese troops against Communist guerrillas are a much different breed of unit. They are essential transport outfits and are not intended to fight, although the choppers in Viet Nam have been equipped with machine guns.

Air cavalry troops would be tactical combat units, their helicopters armed with machine guns and antitank guided missiles.

The Army considers its air cavalry concept suited to both nuclear war battlefields, on which surface units would be widely spaced, and guerrilla-type wars, where mobility, speed and surprise are at a premium.

Sentenced Texas Reservist Begins Serving 6 Months

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—A Texas reservist, convicted of disrespect after leading "we want out" demonstrations by troops, began a six-month sentence at hard labor in the stockade of this sprawling military post today.

Pfc. Bernis Owen of Seadrift, Tex., drew the maximum penalty from a five-officer court-martial Tuesday. He also was fined $50 per month to be taken from his $124 monthly pay for six months.

The conviction will be reviewed automatically. Owen's defense counsel later may request further review by higher commands.

Owen, 23, had been enrolled at the University of Texas for one month when he was recalled to active duty during the Berlin crisis last fall.

The reservist was charged with criticizing publicly an order halting protest meetings by reservists seeking release from duty. The order was issued by Maj. Gen. Harley B. West, commanding officer of Ft. Polk and the 49th Armored Division. West is a reservist himself.

Trailways Cafeteria Wins, 56-54, on Brown's Basket

Al Brown made a basket as the buzzer sounded ending the game as Trailways Cafeteria nipped Hayes Lincoln-Mercury, 56-54, in a tight one last night at the YMCA gym.

In other "Y" cage tilts, Yellow Jackets trounced Byrne Chevvies, 76-61, and Accord beat Van's Esso, 68,-43.

The Hayes-Trailways contest was tight all the way. Jumpin' Joe Uhl tied the score at 52-52 late in the fourth period and then George Carpouzis hit with a jumper to put Hayes two points in the lead.

After Marty Kaye knotted the count at 54-54, Richie Amato was fouled intentionally by Bill Fitzgerald. With a chance to put his club ahead, Amato missed both free throws and Trailways obtained possession of the basketball.

The winners held it for the last shot and Brown became a hero when he put it through the hoop.

Uhl Gets 32

Uhl was high for the winners with 32 points. Kaye added 12. Carpouzis, Tom Fiore and George Uhl were in double figures for the losers.

Little Mel Williams rimmed 30 points for the Yellow Jackets as they completely overwhelmed Byrne. Walt Harder's 26 markers weren't enough for the losers, who trailed all the way.

Accord jumped to an early lead against Van's and then coasted home. Four players were in double figures for the winning quintet.

Gene Mauch

Outfielder Wes Covington of the Phillies, running like a colt again after several indifferent seasons, wore leaded shoes weighing six pounds all winter to strengthen his pins.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (NEA) — Casey Stengel cups his hands, spits lightly, winks broadly and takes himself apart. . . . "Who ever heard of losing a starting pitcher with a stiff neck from sliding?" he asked, referring to the delayed debut of Roger Craig. "I almost got fired." . . . a guy could spend the entire spring writing nothing but the ramblings of the manager of the New York Mets. . . .

Reminders of the 23-game losing streak bring lines to the corners of youngish Gene Mauch's eyes. . . . "After you get up to 15 games," the Philadelphia manager winced, "it really grips you. Every team is gunning for you more than ever because they don't want to be the one that loses and stops the streak." . . . Did Gene during the winter devise any antidote for such slumps? . . . "Yeah," he snapped. "Win!"

Duke Snider has additional incentive this year. . . . The erstwhile Moody Man of the Los Angeles Dodgers has been made the team captain . . . the first since Pee Wee Reese. . . .

It'll be quite a story if Evans Kileen, the young pitcher in the Mets' camp, sticks. . . . A year ago he wasn't in organized baseball, having quit when Kansas City sent him to Portsmouth. . . . After six discouraging years in the Athletics' system, he went home to New York and wound up pitching semi-professionally. . . . Since the Athletics quit on him, too, he wangled a Mets' trial and Stengel is captivated by his drive. . . .

Walter Alston still hasn't given upon the idea that Tommy Davis will be a third baseman (which would solve that outfield jam on the Dodgers). . . . Tommy, looking for a spot, has even offered to put on the catcher's duds. . . .

Biggest division in the Dodger camp has to do with Larry Burright's roosting place in '62. . . . Alston wants to keep the young second sacker around to take over when Junior Gilliam needs a rest. . . . Buzzy Bavasi, the general manager, leans to the idea of farming him out another season to increase his hitting confidence. . . . The kid carries a chaw in his left cheek to rival Nellie Fox. . . .

Joe Garagiola, the broadcaster, scowls darkly and mutters dire threats when he whips out his card. . . . It reads: "International Mafia, Joe Garagiola, certified member." . . .

Although Cliff Cook hit 32 home runs and batted in 119 runs last year, and Manager Fred Hutchinson admits "he's not as quick as Gene Freese," the big doubt about him taking over third base for Cincinnati for the injured Freese is his ability to hit major league pitching. . . . He strikes out too much. . . . Main reason Hutch doesn't consider using Frank Robinson at third base is that "I don't think anybody likes to play out of position because he'll be embarrassed." . . .

On that basketball scandal buzz out of the Southwest, the story we hear is that one of the 21 officials flunked his lie detector test . . . another one was inconclusive because, they suspect, he filled up on tranquilizers before taking the polygraph.

Between you'n'me, after the daily (and repetitive) barrage of questions by touring writers, Gene Mauch mused, "I wonder if a manager could talk through carbon paper." . . .

NEW YORK (AP)—A good parlay in next week's Masters Golf Tournament, says Fred Corcoran, is 49-year-old Ben Hogan and 21-year-old Jack Nicklaus.

"Hogan is playing beautifully," the tournament director of the International Golf Association said today, after watching the final tuneup at Miami. "He really looks like the Hogan of old. And that boy, Nicklaus—his power scares you."

Corcoran, the man credited with building the PGA tour into a million-dollar enterprise, watched most of the game's present greats take their swings last weekend in the Doral Invitation.

"From tee to green, Hogan is still the greatest golfer in the world," the thick-necked executive, a onetime Boston caddy, said. "For 18 holes, I'd match him against anybody. Unfortunately, his putting lacks the authority of his heyday.

"The six and eight-footers don't drop for Ben the way they used to. It's not the legs that go first in this game. It's nerves, and putting ability. But Hogan is a tremendous competitor and a marvelous golfer. He could win another Masters—and another Open.

"Young Nicklaus is very impressive I saw him hit the green with a 7-iron on his second shot on a 550-yard hole. He is strong as a mule, is loaded with confidence and has only one problem that I can see—weight. He may be inclined to get fat."

Hogan, in his first tournament start of the year, made an impressive showing at Miami, firing rounds of 74-72-71-69 for 286, and a tie for fourth place. Nicklaus was a stroke better at 285. The title was won by Bill Casper Jr., with 283.

'THIS IS SUPPOSED TO BE A NEW BABY?'

Cardinals Have That Flag Look

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Could this be the year of the Cardinal?

St. Louis hasn't flown a National League pennant in 16 years, the Cards aren't anywhere near being favorites now, and it's a sure bet they won't be when the season opens in two weeks.

But they have been very impressive in Florida—and the NL has produced three surprise winners in the last three pennant scrambles.

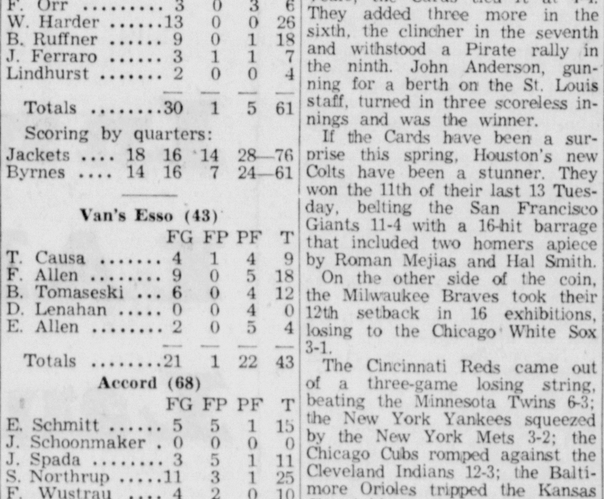

The Cardinals have been steaming in exhibition games, with a winning string that now numbers nine after Tuesday's 8-7 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Overall, St. Louis is 12-4 and leader in the preseason standings.

Scoring three times in the fifth inning with the aid of three balks by Pittsburgh left-hander Bob Veale, the Cards tied it at 4-4. They added three more in the sixth, the clincher in the seventh and withstood a Pirate rally in the ninth. John Anderson, gunning for a berth on the St. Louis staff, turned in three scoreless innings and was the winner.

If the Cards have been a surprise this spring, Houston's new Colts have been a stunner. They won the 11th of their last 13 Tuesday, belting the San Francisco Giants 11-4 with a 16-hit barrage that included two homers apiece by Roman Mejias and Hal Smith.

On the other side of the coin, the Milwaukee Braves took their 12th setback in 16 exhibitions, losing to the Chicago White Sox 3-1.

The Cincinnati Reds came out of a three-game losing string, beating the Minnesota Twins 6-3; the New York Yankees squeezed by the New York Mets 3-2; the Chicago Cubs romped against the Cleveland Indians 12-3; the Baltimore Orioles tripped the Kansas City Athletics 5-2; the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the Philadelphia Phillies 6-4; the Detroit Tigers pounded the Washington Senators 10-4; and the Los Angeles Angels beat the Boston Red Sox 4-1.

American LL Adds 5th Team; Names Sinsabaugh President

The Kingston American Little League has elected William Sinsabaugh president for 1962 and voted to expand to five teams.

The league will continue to carry four minor league teams. In the previous ten years of its existence, the league carried four Little League teams and four minor squads.

Other officers elected:

John Van Dine, vice president; Donald Bradley, secretary; Thomas Lyle, treasurer; Robert Sickler, player agent.

Registration days will be held Saturday, May 5 from 9 a. m. to 12 noon and Monday, May 7, from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m. Boys of Little League age (9-12) in the Second, Third and 10th Ward, may register at the clubhouse on Kiersted Avenue, near the State Armory building. Proof of age is required.

The next monthly meeting will be held at the Kingston American Legion building on Wednesday, April 1, at 7 p. m.

Spahn, 41 Years Young, Has Hopes of Winning 20 Again

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves have a slogan this year It is "something new in '62."

Warren Spahn, who will be 41 next month, likes to remind people of the slogan.

"Do you think they were trying to give me a hint?" he laughed.

The raw-boned Oklahoman, whose only concession to age is a retreating hairline, didn't promise another 20-victory season but don't bet against it.

"We've got a new manager," he said meaningly, "and I want to prove to him I can still win. Also, we've got some good young pitchers in camp this spring and I've got to set an example for them."

How long will he go on?

"That's up to the hitters," Spahn replied. "I haven't gotten the message yet."

When he finally gets the message, what will he do then?

Wants to Manage

"I'd like to get a shot at managing in the big leagues," he said, his long lean face taking on a serious look. "Baseball is not only my bread and butter, it's my life. I've given managing a lot of thought. I think I can handle it.

"I've played under such managers as Casey Stengel, Billy Southworth, Charlie Grimm, Fred Haney, Charlie Dressen and Birdie Tebbetts. I think I've learned something from each.

"Actually, a fellow doesn't know if he can manage until he tries it. I'd like to get the opportunity.

"Incidentally, did you hear the Spahn slogan for 1962?

"'Something old, but not yet ready to fold.'"

KingstonUmpires To Meet Sunday

Members of the Kingston Umpires Assn. will hold their first meeting of the year on Sunday, April 1, 6 p. m., at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium. President Andy Murphy will preside.

Included on the agenda will be election of officers, distribution of case books and emblems and plans for the coming season.

Other officers are John T. Gilliagn, vice president and Ed Palladino, secretary-treasurer.

Lavorante Seen As Major Threat To Old Archie

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There is a mounting suspicion that Archie Moore, after 26 years and 215 professional fights, surely must be nearing the end of the line.

Sharing this belief, and determined to point it out to the old "mongoose," is a giant Argentine heavyweight, Alejandro Lavorante at 25 young in years and practically an infant in ring experience.

Lavorante and Moore are slated to debate the matter, in 10 rounds or less, Friday night in the Sports Arena.

The match means much to both men. It has also stirred up considerable agitation here. The promoters, Cal Eaton and George Parnassus, look for 16,000 people to pay $100,000 to watch.

Alex, as his friends call him, stands a trim, wide-shouldered 6-feet-4, some five inches taller than Archie. He will weight about 210, perhaps 15 or more pounds heavier than the pride of San Diego.

Better still, he can punch, as 15 of his opponents discovered.

Canadian Teams Lead Cup Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Montreal Canadiens and the Toronto Maple Leafs each held 1-0 leads in the Stanley Cup hockey semifinal series today — but neither was doing any crowing.

The Canadiens, out to regain the cup they lost to Chicago last year, whipped the Chicago Black Hawks 2-1 in Montreal. The Maple Leafs turned back the New York Rangers 4-2 in Toronto Tuesday night.

The second game of both series is scheduled for Montreal and Toronto Thursday night. Then the action moves to Chicago and New York for the next two games.

"I'm far from satisfied at our performance," said Montreal Coach Toe Blake. "We can play better. We were fooling around with the puck when we should have been passing and shooting."

The Canadiens did have a rough time, especially with Chicago goalie Glenn Hall. They were completely frustrated for the first two periods.

Coach Rudy Pilous pointed out that the Hawks also lost the first game last year, but came back to win the series.

Maple Leaf coach Punch Imlach echoed Blake.

"The Rangers played well and we're going to have to play better if we hope to stay in it," he observed. "We didn't play half as well as we could. They checked as well as any game they ever played against us."

Valentine and Ellis Top Wrestling Team

One of wrestling's top drawing cards—the tandem combine of Johnny Valentine and Bob Ellis—will be the center of attraction when the grappling caravan comes to Kingston next Wednesday, April 4.

Valentine and Ellis will take on Bob Orton and the Great Scot in a best-of-three falls tag-team feature bout. Valentine is one of the big names of the day and has spearheaded Madison Square Garden cards that have filled the ancient sports arena to overflow.

Valentine and Ellis replaced Argentine Rocca and Miguel Perez as Madison Square Garden favorites. They are sensational performers, as fans will see next Wednesday night.

Hess, Murphy Due

The remainder of the card features a host of well known and popular Kingston favorites, among them Irish (Skull) Murphy and Karl Von Hess.

The semi-final pits the team of Mark Lewin and Billy Darnell against those "Bad Guys"—Skull Murphy and his equally hated partner, Brute Bernard.

In the half hour bouts, Gene Marrin opens against Marque De Paree. Both are newcomers to the Kingston scene. The final prelim before the tandem matches will send Miguel Torres against the Prussian Menace, who could that be but Karl Von Hess.

The first bout is scheduled at 8:30 p. m.

1961 Driving Champ

Harold Dancer Jr. Scheduled To Race Again at Monticello

MONTICELLO — The champion will be back to defend his title.

At Monticello Raceway this can only mean that Harold Dancer Jr., better known as "Sonny," is headed back to the Mighty M. Sonny will take the long road to Monticello; starting from his Lakehurst, N. J. training base and stopping at the metropolitan ovals before hitting Sullivan County.

However, he'll be ready for opening night at Monticello on May 31. And for the next 99 nights of racing through September 22, Dancer will call the Mighty M his home base.

Sonny has experienced meteoric success in the tough driving business. He'll be the first to admit Monticello has helped immensely to spark his rise.

Obscure Once

Three years ago, the sandy-haired reinsman was a relatively obscure member of the famous Dancer driving clan. He was being referred to as "Stanley's Kid Brother" by many fans not in the know. Actually, Sonny is Stanley Dancer's nephew. Vernon Dancer is another uncle. Sonny's father is Harold Sr., the oldest of the family driving fraternity.

Sonny's history at Monticello can be summed up in a word "success." In 1960, his first full season of driving at MR, Dancer was runnerup to Carmine Abbatiello in the two major driving departments—dashes won and average.

However, it was all Sonny last summer. He spread-eagled the field in dashes won, scoring 47 winning drives. His winning average of .377 was also tops.

Sonny really hit his peak on the nights of August 22 and 23. He won four races the first night and scored a fifth victory the next to give him five successive winning drives. This unique feat received national publicity. He was on his way to be "known."

Cicada Favored In Florida Race

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Meadow Stable's Cicada, substituting for her injured stablemate Sir Gaylord, is the early favorite over 11 other prospective starters in Saturday's $100,000 Florida Derby. She is the only filly in the field.

Winner of 13 races in her 19 starts, Cicada gets in the mile and an eighth race under only 117 pounds to 122 for her top rivals and 118 on the other colts. Willie Shoemaker rides Cicada in th last big race of the winter for derby-age horses.

Other top prospects for Saturday's big event are Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan, Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage and Knoll Farm's Sharp Count—all under 122.

Suspend Driver For Bet Against His Own Horse

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—John Edmunds, 33, one of the leading drivers at Roosevelt Raceway, where he won the feature pace Monday night with Lucky Dream, has been suspended from all activity at New York harness tracks Robert A. Glasser, chairman of the State Harness Racing Commission, announced Tuesday night.

The suspension also extends to any horses trained, or owned wholly or in part by Edmunds.

The action, Glasser said, was taken following disclosure of information obtained from a confidential source, which alleged that Edmunds had stated that he had wagered on a horse other than his in a race.

Glasser said Edmunds freely admitted the statement, but denied that he had made any such wager. The record shows that Edmunds won the race in question.

Actor Pick, owned by the Fair Acres Farm of Freehold, N.J., romped to a 3-length victory over Mayor Joe Tuesday night in the $3,000 feature pace at Roosevelt Raceway.

Wilt's 42 Tops Celts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia Warriors, with Wilt Chamberlain having a big night against Bill Russell for a change, are back even with Boston in the best-of-7 Eastern Division final playoffs of the National Basketball Association.

But the Los Angeles Lakers have the Detroit Pistons on the ropes in the West.

The Warriors, with Chamberlain scoring 42 points and Russell getting only 9, rallied to whip the Celtics 113-106 Tuesday night in Philadelphia. They move to Boston for tonight's third game with the Eastern series tied at one game apiece.

The Lakers, on the other hand, are 3-0 over the Pistons after winning at Detroit 111-106. Los Angeles can wrap it up by winning the fourth game, scheduled for Thursday night at Detroit.

Davis New Coach At Colorado But Players Revolt

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—"I can do the job," William E. (Bud) Davis said today after University of Colorado regents decided to entrust their football fortunes to a newcomer with only five years of high school coaching experience.

The 33-year-old Colorado alumni secretary took less than an hour to end the first threat to his appointment as head coach.

He met Tuesday night with members of the football squad, angered and some threatening to rebel over his assignment, and emerged saying, "I think that any talk of a revolt is over. It was a pleasant meeting."

Then Davis said he is accepting the coaching job offered him nine hours earlier in the day.

Bitterness continued to prevail, however, in the wake of the firing of Everett (Sonny) Grandelius earlier this month for violating Big Eight and NCAA recruiting rules.

The man earlier believed to have the inside track, end coach Bob Chilotti, resigned from the football staff after the regents settled on Davis.

Forty-five members of the Colorado football team signed a letter presented to the regents before their meeting in Denver Tusday morning.

Blind Player Has Own Cards at Bridge Tourney

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Dr. Arthur M. Dye brought his own cards with him to the national spring tournament of the American Contract Bridge League. They are marked.

In the corner of each card are two markings—in Braille—to denote the suit and value of the card. Dr. Dye is blind.

His handicap has some drawbacks, he says, such as making it necessary for those who play at his table to call out the suit and value of each card they play. But it has advantages, too.

"I don't have distractions," he quipped, "even if a pretty girl walks by the table, I don't have trouble keeping my mind on the game."

Dr. Dye is an osteopathic physician at Charlotte, N.C., but notes that his practice "sometimes interferes with my bridge a little bit."

He attends the national tournament every year, he says, and plays in "six or eight or 10 or 12—I've never counted — tournaments annually."

To each tournament, Dr. Dye, a life master at the game, brings 72 specially marked decks. Fellow players find the cards slightly thicker than normal playing cards, but Dr. Dye said he has had no complaints about them.

Dr. Dye, 65, is the father of two boys and the grandfather of three.

He hasn't done well in the tournament here, he said, "but it isn't over until next Sunday and there's plenty of opportunity here yet."

Jack Britton Dies; Ex-Welter Boxing Champ

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jack Britton, 74, twice world welterweight boxing champion, died Tuesday.

Britton and Ted (Kid) Lewis met for the 147-pound title four times during a memorable 20-fight series between 1915 and 1919. Each captured the championship twice. After taking the title from Lewis for the last time in 1919, Britton retained it until 1922 when he was dethroned by Mickey Walker.

Britton, born William J. Breslin at Clinton, N.Y., was elected to Boxing's Hall of Fame in 1958. He came to Miami from Yonkers, N.Y., 37 years ago.

SPLASHING WATER TO ATTRACT FISH

KNOWING THAT FISH ARE ALARMED BY CARELESS NOISE FROM A BOAT'S OCCUPANTS, IT SOUNDS INCREDIBLE THAT A DELIBERATE SPLASHING OF WATER MAY SOMETIMES ATTRACT FISH. IT SEEMS TO WORK BEST IN LURING SUNFISH AND PERCH, BUT BASS AND CRAPPIES MAY BE LURED, ALSO. PERHAPS THEY BELIEVE SPLASHES ARE MADE BY OTHER FISH IN CHASING MINNOWS. SO, IF FISHING IS POOR--YOU'VE NOTHING TO LOSE, FLAIL THE WATER A MINUTE, THEN FISH AWHILE, ETC.

FOOTBALL CHATTER—There was plenty to talk about last week between Fred Seither, right, Saugerties High football coach, and Harold (Pete) Hatch, former Kingston High and Ithaca College coach, at a clinic at Ithaca College. Some 300 high school coaches from New York and Vermont attended the clinic. Seither and Hatch were on the teaching staff as were Tom Nugent, head coach at the University of Maryland and other outstanding Ithaca alumni. Seither, a former backfield star at Ithaca, discussed the "Delaware Wing-T" as adapted to high school use.

Kennedy Juniors Attend Opening Of Ringling Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the supply of popcorn and sugar cotton candy is a bit depleted at the greatest show on earth today, there's a reason. A small army of junior Kennedys saw the circus Tuesday.

It being a balmy March day, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy took 14 small fry to the Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey show at the Washington Coliseum.

You never saw such conspicuous consumption of everything from hot dogs to soft drinks. The loot the youngsters carried home—in the form of pennants, clowns-on-sticks, baby turtles and plumed hats—could hardly fit into the limousines.

The 14 children were not all the attorney general's, of course. He has only seven, who were all there, from Kathy, 11, to Mary Kerry, 2. There were some nieces and nephews, Bobby Shriver, 7, Maria Shriver, 6, and Timothy Shriver, 3. Also—outside the family ranks—Kathy Fay, 14, and Sally Fay, 5, daughters of undersecretary of the Navy Paul B. Fay Jr. Also Francis Ormsby Gore, 8, and Alice Ormsby Gore, 9, children of the British Ambassador, Sir David Ormsby Gore.

The attorney general could not have managed the safari single-handed. Strong man though he may be, he would have broken down without the presence of his wife, Ethel, and his sister, Mrs. Sargent Shriver.

Mary Kerry so smeared her face with sugar cotton candy that mother Ethel found dry cleansing tissue wholly inadequate for the mop-up. She had to go out to the hot dog stand and ask the man to wet some tissue.

Most successful stower-away of popcorn was Bobby Kennedy, 8, who had a handicap to surmount. Two of his fingers were in splints; he confided that he had busted them falling out of a hayloft at home in McLean, Va.

The epicurean of the bunch turned out to be Maria Shriver. Looking distastefully at her hot dog she kept hollering, "Mommie, where's the ketchup?"

Army Is Forming Air Cavalry, to Ride in Copters

WASHINGTON (AP) — After eight years of preparation, the Army is forming its first troop of helicopters air cavalry.

Air cavalrymen — like their horse-mounted forebears — would scout ahead of moving columns, reconnoiter the flanks, seek out targets for artillery and rockets and spring raids behind enemy lines.

The first troop of 147 men and 27 observation and transport type helicopters is being organized at the Ft. Knox, Ky., armored center. It is expected to be combat ready by the end of summer.

A second troop will be created at the infantry center, Ft. Benning, Ga. The third and fourth will be attached to the two new regular Army divisions now being trained at Ft. Carson, Colo., and Ft. Hood, Tex.

Ultimately, the Army hopes to integrate an air cavalry troop with each of its 16 regular divisions.

The helicopter companies now operating with South Vietnamese troops against Communist guerrillas are a much different breed of unit. They are essential transport outfits and are not intended to fight, although the choppers in Viet Nam have been equipped with machine guns.

Air cavalry troops would be tactical combat units, their helicopters armed with machine guns and antitank guided missiles.

The Army considers its air cavalry concept suited to both nuclear war battlefields, on which surface units would be widely spaced, and guerrilla-type wars, where mobility, speed and surprise are at a premium.

Sentenced Texas Reservist Begins Serving 6 Months

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—A Texas reservist, convicted of disrespect after leading "we want out" demonstrations by troops, began a six-month sentence at hard labor in the stockade of this sprawling military post today.

Pfc. Bernis Owen of Seadrift, Tex., drew the maximum penalty from a five-officer court-martial Tuesday. He also was fined $50 per month to be taken from his $124 monthly pay for six months.

The conviction will be reviewed automatically. Owen's defense counsel later may request further review by higher commands.

Owen, 23, had been enrolled at the University of Texas for one month when he was recalled to active duty during the Berlin crisis last fall.

The reservist was charged with criticizing publicly an order halting protest meetings by reservists seeking release from duty. The order was issued by Maj. Gen. Harley B. West, commanding officer of Ft. Polk and the 49th Armored Division. West is a reservist himself.

Jackie Lunches With Queen, 11 More at Palace

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy went to Buckingham Palace for lunch with Queen Elizabeth II today.

500 Cheer Her

A crowd of about 500 cheered Mrs. Kennedy as she drove in the palace gates with her brother-in-law and sister, Prince and Princess Stanislas Radziwill, with whom she is visiting in London. U.S. Ambassador David Bruce and his wife drove in behind them.

Mrs. Kennedy wore a cherry pink wool suit, cyclamen-colored coat, mink hat and black shoes.

"Wave, Mrs. Kennedy," chorused a group of photographers.

"Why should I wave?" she asked. "I'm not leaving yet."

The American First Lady became a television personality for millions of Britons Tuesday night when the British Broadcasting Corp. showed the 45-minute CBS film "First Lady at Home," in which Mrs. Kennedy acted as guide on a tour of the White House.

The film was shown in the United States last month and received generally rave reviews. British television critics were divided in their reception.

"All the stuffiness was knocked out of diplomacy by Jackie Kennedy in her guided tour of the White House," glowed the London Daily Sketch; "Her breathy, slow enticing talk is as warm as the girl's voice on an after-shave commercial."

Another Not So Gallant

In Mrs. Kennedy's breathless, earnest manner, said the Daily Mail, "there was also the unmistakable note of knowledge and enthusiasm."

"She almost made me ashamed that the British burned the White House in 1814," the Daily Mirror's critic wrote.

The Daily Herald was not so gallant, saying Mrs. Kennedy's commentary on White House treasures came across "charmingly like a sixth-form lecture by the girl most likely to succeed."

Mrs. Kennedy spent Tuesday in quiet seclusion at the home of her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill. She invited a few friends in for dinner. They included ballerina Moira Shearer, photographer Cecil Beaton, and Oleg Cassini, her American dress designer here on a visit.

Ex-Patient Admits Killing

Queens Girl, 6, Lured From Skating to Death

NEW YORK (AP)—A pretty 6-year-old girl, lured away as she skated in front of her Hollis, Queens, home, was found dead early today.

A former mental patient who lived nearby admitted abducting and strangling the child, police said. Her skates and clothing were found strewn about his home, a few blocks from where the body was found.

"I don't know why I did it," police quoted 35 - year-old John Goeniger as saying.

Carol was last seen alive by her parents—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McAllister—as she skated late Tuesday in front of their home. When the child failed to answer their call after dark, police were summoned.

Goeniger, who police said was released in February from the Pilgrim State Hospital for the Mentally Ill, at first denied any knowledge of the child. But he cracked later under questioning by police who called in a psychiatrist to help.

ICC to Continue Rutland Hearing

RUTLAND, Vt. (AP)—An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner's hearing returns to Vermont today for further testimony on the Rutland Railway's petition to abandon its 331-mile freight system in Northern New York and Vermont.

As the hearing resumed here after two days at Malone, N.Y., Philip H. Hoff, a Democratic candidate for governor of Vermont, charged Republican Gov. F. Ray Keyser Jr. with withholding information about the railroad "in a cloak of secrecy and confusion."

Hoff asked the governor to make public a report on the railroad's financial status made for the state by former tax commissioner Austin R. Noble.

At Tuesday's session in Malone, Clark Cummings, an attorney for the railroad, asked ICC hearing examiner Clarence K. Young whether Young's recommendations could be waived to speed a decision on the carrier's petition. Young said an application for a waiver would have to be made directly to the commission.

Cummings told a newsman he probably would file the application in Washington.

Two other railroads indicated interest in parts of the strikebound Rutland system. The New York Central proposed to buy a 37-mile section between Norwood, N.Y., and Malone Junction. It now has trackage rights in that section.

Murray W. Salzberg, owner of the St. Johnsbury & Lamoille Railroad, offered to absorb part of the Rutland's service in Vermont.

Five supervisors from the towns of Chateaugay, Bangor, Clinton, Mooers and Ellenburg in Clinton and Franklin counties of New York State offered the railroad tax relief but did not say how much they would reduce assessments.

A number of witnesses from industry, agriculture and labor opposed the Rutland's plan to end service. Clarence Collins of Malone said he would have to cancel a $200,000 expansion program in his feed and farm supply business if the railroad were abandoned.

22 Cubans Die As Plane Crashes

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A Cuban airliner crashed into the seas Tuesday night as its pilot tried desperately to return to the airport, Havana Radio reported today. All 22 aboard were reported killed.

The broadcast, monitored here, said the pilot told the control tower just before going down that he was having trouble and intended to turn back to the Santiago de Cuba landing field from which he had just taken off.

However, the "mechanical defects" blamed by the radio for the crash proved critical and the Cubana Airlines flight 853 plunged into the water less than a mile from shore.

Cuban navy boats have been unable to recover any bodies so far, the radio said.

The plane was en route to Havana from Santiago de Cuba, the nation's second largest seaport. The crash scene is on Cuba's southeastern coast about 40 miles west of the U.S. Naval base at Guantanamo.

All the victims and crew members had Spanish names. Their hometowns were not given. The crew included a pilot, co-pilot, steward and an armed guard. Guards have been assigned to all Cuban commercial flights for

Flood Waters Surging

Many Leave Homes In Iowa, Nebraska

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flood workers battled the surging waters of many rivers and streams in parts of Iowa and Nebraska today as early spring overflows forced hundreds of persons from their homes.

Mild weather increased the melting of the heavy snow cover in the flood-stricken areas. The season's warmest weather also extended across most of the eastern half of the nation.

30 Blocks Covered

In Nebraska, the most severe flooding appeared to be in Pierce, on the Northfolk River in the upper northeast section of the state. The river had spilled over more than 30 blocks of the town of some 1,200 persons. Evacuation of residents continued throughout the night.

Minor flooding was reported in Norfolk, a town of about 12,000 some 12 miles downstream from Pierce, and water covered farm lands between the two communities. Other danger spots were in Waterloo and Kings Lake on the Elkhorn River, and near Bellevue a south suburb of Omaha, at the confluence of the Missouri and Platte rivers and Pappio Creek. About 300 of the 620 residents of Kings Lake left their homes but only a few were evacuated at Waterloo. Some 400 persons in the lowland area of Bellevue left their homes.

The Floyd, Big Sioux and Little Sioux rivers flooded areas in northwest Iowa. The Floyd River was expected to crest at six to seven feet above flood stage in Sioux City by late Thursday. Sandbags lined the banks of the Floyd River which twists through the eastern part of the city of 85,000 population.

Spencer Is Menaced

In the nation's weather, showers sprinkled the Dakotas while a mixture of wet snow and rain pelted sections of Montana. Light rain fell in many parts of New England as cloudy skies persisted from eastern New York northeastward.

Ninety per cent of all mustard is sold in unbreakable tubes in Switzerland.

Plane Spots Missing West Athens Man, 78

A 78-year-old West Athens man, Theodore Berner, who was reported missing Tuesday noon was found five hours later when he was spotted from the air. An airplane spotted the missing man as he was being escorted back to his residence by two boys.

A volunteer search force of some 50 neighbors and local forest rangers under the direction of ranger Victor Schrader, combed the area while the plane, requested to join the search by State Trooper Clifford Gross of the Leeds sub-station, searched from the air. Piloted by Dan Holmes of Athens, with Bernard Youmans as observer, the plane flew over the area and spotted the man.

Now you Know!
The answers to everyday insurance problems*
by
HERMAN J. EATON, C.L.U.

QUESTION: Our Insurance agent seems to place our fire insurance in a different company every time he renews it. Is this all right?
ANSWER: If he is a good agent he wouldn't place your insurance in any company that wasn't reliable. A good agent might have sound reasons for changing his fire companies, none of which would in any way affect your protection.
* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE or OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

Jackie Lunches With Queen, 11 More at Palace

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy went to Buckingham Palace for lunch with Queen Elizabeth II today.

500 Cheer Her

A crowd of about 500 cheered Mrs. Kennedy as she drove in the palace gates with her brother-in-law and sister, Prince and Princess Stanislas Radziwill, with whom she is visiting in London. U.S. Ambassador David Bruce and his wife drove in behind them.

Mrs. Kennedy wore a cherry pink wool suit, cyclamen-colored coat, mink hat and black shoes.

"Wave, Mrs. Kennedy," chorused a group of photographers.

"Why should I wave?" she asked. "I'm not leaving yet."

The American First Lady became a television personality for millions of Britons Tuesday night when the British Broadcasting Corp. showed the 45-minute CBS film "First Lady at Home," in which Mrs. Kennedy acted as guide on a tour of the White House.

The film was shown in the United States last month and received generally rave reviews. British television critics were divided in their reception.

"All the stuffiness was knocked out of diplomacy by Jackie Kennedy in her guided tour of the White House," glowed the London Daily Sketch: "Her breathy, slow enticing talk is as warm as the girl's voice on an after-shave commercial."

Another Not So Gallant

In Mrs. Kennedy's breathless, earnest manner, said the Daily Mail, "there was also the unmistakable note of knowledge and enthusiasm."

"She almost made me ashamed that the British burned the White House in 1814," the Daily Mirror's critic wrote.

The Daily Herald was not so gallant, saying Mrs. Kennedy's commentary on White House treasures came across "charmingly like a sixth-form lecture by the girl most likely to succeed."

22 Cubans Die As Plane Crashes

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A Cuban airliner crashed into the seas Tuesday night as its pilot tried desperately to return to the airport, Havana Radio reported today. All 22 aboard were reported killed.

The broadcast, monitored here, said the pilot told the control tower just before going down that he was having trouble and intended to turn back to the Santiago de Cuba landing field from which he had just taken off.

However, the "mechanical defects" blamed by the radio for the crash proved critical and the Cubana Airlines flight 853 plunged into the water less than a mile from shore.

Cuban navy boats have been unable to recover any bodies so far, the radio said.

The plane was en route to Havana from Santiago de Cuba, the nation's second largest seaport. The crash scene is on Cuba's southeastern coast about 40 miles west of the U.S. Naval base at Guantanamo.

All the victims and crew members had Spanish names. Their hometowns were not given. The crew included a pilot, co-pilot, steward and an armed guard. Guards have been assigned to all Cuban commercial flights for some time as a precaution against hijacking.

Ex-Patient Admits Killing

Queens Girl, 6, Lured From Skating to Death

NEW YORK (AP)—A pretty 6-year-old girl, lured away as she skated in front of her Hollis, Queens, home, was found dead early today.

A former mental patient who lived nearby admitted abducting and strangling the child, police said. Her skates and clothing were found strewn about his home, a few blocks from where the body was found.

The girls body was in a burlap bag behind a garbage can standing in front of a garage about four blocks from her home.

A cursory examination indicated that the blue-eyed child—Carol McAllister—had not been sexually molested, police said.

"I don't know why I did it," police quoted 35 - year-old John Goeniger as saying.

Carol was last seen alive by her parents—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McAllister—as she skated late Tuesday in front of their home. When the child failed to answer their call after dark, police were summoned.

Goeniger, who police said was released in February from the Pilgrim State Hospital for the Mentally Ill, at first denied any knowledge of the child. But he cracked later under questioning by police who called in a psychiatrist to help.

ICC to Continue Rutland Hearing

RUTLAND, Vt. (AP)—An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner's hearing returns to Vermont today for further testimony on the Rutland Railway's petition to abandon its 331-mile freight system in Northern New York and Vermont.

As the hearing resumed here after two days at Malone, N.Y., Philip H. Hoff, a Democratic candidate for governor of Vermont, charged Republican Gov. F. Ray Keyser Jr. with withholding information about the railroad "in a cloak of secrecy and confusion."

Hoff asked the governor to make public a report on the railroad's financial status made for the state by former tax commissioner Austin R. Noble.

At Tuesday's session in Malone, Clark Cummings, an attorney for the railroad, asked ICC hearing examiner Clarence K. Young whether Young's recommendations could be waived to speed a decision on the carrier's petition. Young said an application for a waiver would have to be made directly to the commission.

Cummings told a newsman he probably would file the application in Washington.

Two other railroads indicated interest in parts of the strikebound Rutland system. The New York Central proposed to buy a 37-mile section between Norwood, N.Y., and Malone Junction. It now has trackage rights in that section.

Murray W. Salzberg, owner of the St. Johnsbury & Lamoille Railroad, offered to absorb part of the Rutland's service in Vermont.

Five supervisors from the towns of Chateaugay, Bangor, Clinton, Mooers and Ellenburg in Clinton and Franklin counties of New York State offered the railroad tax relief but did not say how much they would reduce assessments.

A number of witnesses from industry, agriculture and labor opposed the Rutland's plan to end service. Clarence Collins of Malone said he would have to cancel a $200,000 expansion program in his feed and farm supply business if the railroad were abandoned.

Case Supervisor Exam Is Slated

Flood Waters Surging

Many Leave Homes In Iowa, Nebraska

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flood workers battled the surging waters of many rivers and streams in parts of Iowa and Nebraska today as early spring overflows forced hundreds of persons from their homes.

Mild weather increased the melting of the heavy snow cover in the flood-stricken areas. The season's warmest weather also extended across most of the eastern half of the nation.

30 Blocks Covered

In Nebraska, the most severe flooding appeared to be in Pierce, on the Northfolk River in the upper northeast section of the state. The river had spilled over more than 30 blocks of the town of some 1,200 persons. Evacuation of residents continued throughout the night.

Minor flooding was reported in Norfolk, a town of about 12,000 some 12 miles downstream from Pierce, and water covered farm lands between the two communities. Other danger spots were in Waterloo and Kings Lake on the Elkhorn River, and near Bellevue a south suburb of Omaha, at the confluence of the Missouri and Platte rivers and Pappio Creek. About 300 of the 620 residents of Kings Lake left their homes but only a few were evacuated at Waterloo. Some 400 persons in the lowland area of Bellevue left their homes.

The Floyd, Big Sioux and Little Sioux rivers flooded areas in northwest Iowa. The Floyd River was expected to crest at six to seven feet above flood stage in Sioux City by late Thursday. Sandbags lined the banks of the Floyd River which twists through the eastern part of the city of 85,000 population.

Spencer Is Menaced

The Little Sioux was on a rampage and menaced Spencer, a town of about 7,500 with a possible 20-foot crest, 10 feet above flood stage. Floodwaters covered farm lands in northern counties.

In the nation's weather, showers sprinkled the Dakotas while a mixture of wet snow and rain pelted sections of Montana. Light rain fell in many parts of New England as cloudy skies persisted from eastern New York northeastward.

Plane Spots Missing West Athens Man, 78

A 78-year-old West Athens man, Theodore Berner, who was reported missing Tuesday noon was found five hours later when he was spotted from the air. An airplane spotted the missing man as he was being escorted back to his residence by two boys.

A volunteer search force of some 50 neighbors and local forest rangers under the direction of ranger Victor Schrader, combed the area while the plane, requested to join the search by State Trooper Clifford Gross of the Leeds sub-station, searched from the air. Piloted by Dan Holmes of Athens, with Bernard Youmans as observer, the plane flew over the area and spotted the man.
